'THE WORM' IS A HERO

GIs Repulse Red Human Bombers

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist troops made heavy rocket and mortar attacks against four U.S. bases near Hue today and sent half-naked suicide squads with bombs in their hands against a paratrooper division headquarters. American gunfire mowed down the green-and brown-painted bodies.

In an operation in which a skinny paratrooper nicknamed "The Worm" turned into a hero, the paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division killed 54 Communists with almost point blank range fire. They lost 13 Americans dead and 54 wounded before driving them away.

The hero was identified as Spec. 5 Dennis Breutzman of Caledonia, Wis. He drove off the Communists with rifle fire. "Somebody had to do it," he said.

His nickname was tacked on him by his buddies because of his timidness.

At the same time, U.S. spokesman announced the opening of two large campaigns to prevent the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese from seizing rice crops now riping along the northern coast of South Vietnam—Nevada Eagle 11 miles southwest of Hue and Jeb Stuart III 10 miles southeast of Quang Tri near the Demilitarized Zone.

A spokesman said Nevada Eagle involving troops of the 101st Division and a brigade of the 82nd Airborne had killed 147 North Vietnamese since Friday at a cost of nine paratroopers killed and 13 wounded.

A spokesman said a UH1 Huey helicopter carrying troops near the Nevada Eagle area was shot down by Communist ground fire yesterday, killing seven soldiers and wounding two others. The incident was 12 miles west of Hue.

Units of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division reported only light and scattered contact in the operation which also began Friday.

South Vietnamese authorities said allied forces killed 4,765 Communist troops in the week ending Saturday, a drop from

Market, Banks Shut In France

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle granted amnesty today for student leaders who touched off the nation's strike crisis. But the number of workers on strike soared to eight million and economic chaos was so great the stock market closed.

Banks shut their doors in the faces of panicky depositors wanting their money and the Paris Bourse announced it would quote no stock issues because "the existing conditions do not permit fixing prices under regular techniques." The bank closings were largely responsible for the action.

Two million more workers walked off their jobs today, most of them at instigation of the Communist trade unions. Communist Party leaders openly demanded De Gaulle be replaced—and hoped to do that through a vote of censure tomorrow.

De Gaulle approved a law giving amnesty to all persons convicted in the Latin quarter rioting that started the upheaval. The move, taken to quell the passions of the rebellious students, came at an emergency cabinet meeting.

The amnesty bill goes to the Assembly tomorrow and is expected to win immediate approval.

It would grant amnesty to all students and others arrested in the bloody rioting including four who were sentenced to two months in jail and 20 others awaiting trial.

Amnesty was the chief demand of the students but it was not expected to solve the crisis.

The pro-Gaullist newspaper France-Soir said De Gaulle was thinking of holding a national referendum on his popularity to see if the nation still wanted him as leader. He was up against the worst crisis in the 10 years he has been in power—and the worst labor chaos since the end of World War II.

The nation was paralyzed by the strikes. Planes, trains,

KENTFIELD SURPRISED

Ross Trustees Seek Talks On Annexation

Ross School District trustees last night agreed to "investigate the possibility" of annexation to the Kentfield School District. (See another Ross School District Board story, page 9.)

Board members agreed that the possibility of "sufficient mutual advantages for both districts" warranted further exploration of the subject, Supt. Robert D. Gowan reported.

The trustees instructed Gowan to contact Kentfield Supt. Anthony G. Bacich to set up a joint meeting with the Kentfield board.

The merger suggestion was brought before the Ross board last night by Chairman L. G. Maclise who had raised the question in previous meetings.

Bacich said today that the Ross board action came as "quite a surprise to me and to the Kentfield board. I certainly would be interested in knowing more of the details," he said, "all I know is that the Ross board is interested in a joint meeting. There is a great deal else to be considered before this idea becomes a serious possibility."

Gowan agreed a detailed study of both districts would be required.

Maclise said today he raised the question "just to find out about the advantages and disadvantages of such a move." He said "I'm neither for it or against it at this point; I just think it might be worth the time of the two boards to talk about it."

The Kentfield district is about three times the size of the Ross district. Kentfield has three schools, 1,500 students, a staff, including part-time help, of about 100 and a budget of $1,266,577.26 with a tax rate of $3.33 per $100 assessed valuation.

Ross has one school, 540 pupils, a staff of about 30 and an annual budget of $406,000 with a tax rate of $2.70. Both districts have some bonded indebtedness.

If an annexation were to take place under the most usual method, it would have to be agreed upon by the boards of both districts. A majority of voters in the district to be annexed (or dissolved) would also have to approve the move. The annexing district, whether Ross or Kentfield, would not require a popular vote.

Herrera An Ideal Inmate, Jailer Tells Sanity Hearing

By DON BRANNING

Joaquin Antonio Herrera, a tiny, blond El Salvadorian accused of murdering a soldier, has been an ideal prisoner, a veteran jailor testified today at a sanity hearing for the 23-year-old.

Just yesterday, testified Lt. Newell Snyder, a former San Quentin guard now employed at the Marin County Jail, Herrera turned over to him the bloody pieces of a light bulb with which a fellow prisoner had cut his arm.

On another occasion, during the five months that Herrera has been his prisoner, Herrera gave him a whispered tip that guards had missed a large, hand-fashioned hook during a search of the cells, Snyder testified.

"When he first came to the jail, he was always wanting to use the phone," smiled Snyder. "We made an arrangement with him that he could use the phone on Monday, Wednesday and Friday."

The diminutive, pale skinned Herrera, who looks like a very tired 16-year-old is accused of shooting to death a 20-year-old soldier, Ronald Lee Washburn. He smiled when Snyder recalled the amicable arrangement about the phone.

"Murderers are not always so cooperative, are they Lieutenant Snyder?" asked Judge Alvin H. Goldstein.

"Mr. Herrera has been very gentlemanly," replied Snyder, nodding toward Herrera, who was wearing a red sweater and perched jockey-like in a chair in the hearing chamber this morning.

Several psychiatrists have testified that the El Salvadorian is insane, and has a structure of delusions.

Herrera — claiming he is not insane and fighting efforts of

Harriman Rules Out De Gaulle Mediation

PARIS (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman met President Charles de Gaulle for half an hour today. Afterward he told reporters he would reject any suggestions the French president might mediate in the U.S. talks with North Vietnam.

He told newsmen on his return to the U.S. embassy he did not believe it would be "proper" for any other country to try to intervene to influence the Paris talks.

They concern "matters between the United States and North Vietnam at the moment," he said.

Elsewhere in Paris, a Hanoi spokesman said today North Vietnam will give "humanitarian treatment" to captured U.S. pilots.

He refused to give a direct answer when asked whether they would be released if the United States halts bombing and "other acts of war" against the North.

Nguyen Thanh Le, Hanoi delegation spokesman at preliminary talks here with the United States, told newsmen, "The American pilots have committed many crimes against the Vietnamese people. But we know the principal criminals are those directing U.S. policy.

"Therefore, as far as the pilots are concerned, we will nevertheless give them humanitarian treatment. We have freed a certain number so they could rejoin their families."

He refused to say how many pilots are held by Hanoi.

Le reiterated the demand made by Hanoi since the beginning of the Paris talks that the United States must end unconditionally all bombing "and other acts of war" against the North. That has been Hanoi's price for getting down to full dress peace talks. The talks resume tomorrow.

Spock 'Hinder' Evidence Given

BOSTON (UPI)—The prosecution introduced evidence today purporting to show that Dr. Benjamin Spock intended to hinder the U.S. war effort in Vietnam and interfere with the draft.

Assistant U.S. Atty. John Wall cited an FBI interview with Spock last Dec. 7 in which Spock was quoted as saying, "It is my intention ... to hinder United States prosecution of the war. My actions ... are intended to interfere with the administration of the Selective Service Act."

Spock and four codefendants are on trial for allegedly conspiring to counsel young men to avoid the draft.

F111A Jets Grounded For Hydraulic Repair

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has ground 42 of its F111A fighter bombers for repair of a defective hydraulic valve officials said today.

The planes had been restricted from operating since May 8 when one of the swing-wing jets crashed near Nellis Air Force Base, Nev.

$3.9 Billion Extra Asked For Viet War

More Funds Due To Big Red Buildup

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson today asked Congress for an additional $3.9 billion to finance the war in Vietnam for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30.

The request erases a proposed $1 billion savings in Defense Department operations and adds on another $2.9 billion to support combat operations in Vietnam.

Deputy Defense Secretary Paul Nitze said the new money was needed as a result of increased combat operations in Vietnam since the Tet offensive last January.

FOR SOUTH KOREA

He also cited increased U.S. military support for South Korea since the January seizure of the Pueblo.

All but $300 million of the new request, however, was for use in Vietnam.

The president, in a letter to House Speaker John W. McCormack, said the new money request stemmed from events he described in his March 31 address to the nation.

COSTS IN '69

At that time, he said the military situation in the Far East would require an increase in expenditures of $2.5 billion in fiscal 68 and $2.6 billion in fiscal 69.

The new supplemental request is $2.5 billion more than the President requested in his fiscal 1968 budget in terms of actual expenditures. The $3.9 billion figure is the result of a complicated proposal for defense savings that has now been abandoned.

MONEY SHIFT

On Feb. 12, the president sent a supplemental defense appropriation request to Congress for $1.7 billion which was to be offset by $1.7 billion in savings. The February request basically involved a shift of money from one Defense Department fund to another.

But now, the president is erasing a billion dollars from the proposed savings plan and adding it into the new supplemental appropriation. This, added to the new $2.5 billion figure, equals $3.5 billion. Nitze said another $300 million had been added to this figure as a hedge against further unexpected developments in the war.

THE COUNTY BUDGET

Planning Expense Growth Defended

By WAT TAKESHITA
(First of nine articles)

The 1967 Grand Jury, pleading for more economy in government, posed some searching questions on the spending habits of various county departments.

Among departments spotlighted by the grand jury's final report were the County Planning Department, Department of Public Social Services (Welfate), and the Public Works Department.

In the past 10 years, the planning department budget quadrupled, the public social services budget rose three and one-half times, and the public works budget nearly doubled.

Why the increase in costs, and where does the money go? This series of articles on these and other departments will attempt to give some of the answers. First, the planning department.

The Marin County Planning Department has grown from a staff of 13 and a budget of $85,298 in 1957-58 to a staff of 29 and a budget of $376,273 in the 1967-68 fiscal year.

It asks $404,262 next year, with the county administrator recommending $387,697.

Why this growth in county planning costs when the area under county jurisdiction is shrinking because of the incorporation of cities like Novato and Tiburon?

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, who took over from Billy D. Dobbs in January 1966, asserts that the cost of the county planning does not necessarily rise or fall in direct ratio to changes in land area or population in unincorporated areas.

"The important thing is, how much planning and how much enforcement does Marin want," said Zucker. "Do we just wait and begin reacting after the bulldozer has started on the hills, or do we try to plan ahead? In other words, do we pay only for the cure, or try to get some prevention?"

When he first took over the department in 1966, Zucker said he found complaints, some six years old, piled up and unanswered. Complaints would be on zoning violations, illegal occupancies, and animals kept near residences. "We are catching up on these complaints and trying to get current," said Zucker.

Another area that requires catching up is in highway signs. A new sign ordinance is being drawn up, and an enforcement procedure worked out to clamp down on illegal and non-conforming signs.

Whereas a few years ago, small lot splits two and three units proceeded almost at random, a new land division ordinance has been drawn up to stop the unrestricted hacking up of the hills.

A new emphasis on advance planning — the idea of prevention as well as cure — also increased the cost of the planning department.

Novato incorporated in 1960 and Tiburon in 1965, bringing the population of cities up to 130,000 in 1967, as compared with about 60,000 10 years ago.

The population in the unincorporated area went down with

Truax Pleads Guilty To Moving Securities

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dapper Thomas Nelson Truax, a 26-year-old compulsive gambler who stole half a million dollars from his government employer, pleaded guilty in Federal Court today to transporting stolen securities from California to Nevada casinos.

The former assistant to the executive director of the Association of Bay Area Governments also pleaded guilty yesterday in Oakland Municipal Court to grand theft charges.

The transported securities were mainly federal funds he intercepted and set aside after they were sent the exploratory regional government for such work as urban development.

Truax had been indicted on charges of transporting from Berkeley to Las Vegas seven stolen cashiers' checks in the amount of $203,500.

He pleaded guilty before U.S. Dist. Judge Stanley A. Weigel to taking three of the checks, totalling $71,000.

In response to the judge's inquiry as to why he was pleading guilty, Truax indicated that he hoped his federal sentence would be concurrent with any sentence given him on the state charges.

Judge Weigel responded "I would not advise you to enter a plea without considering the

Suharto Assassin Plot Foiled

JAKARTA (AP) — The Indonesian government foiled a plot two months ago to kill President Suharto and 19 of his generals and cabinet ministers as they prayed at a mosque, officials at the presidential palace said yesterday.

Suharto

It was reported seven men had key roles in the abortive assassination attempt. All have been arrested and will be tried by a military court, military sources said.

Officials said the plot was inspired by the Communists but that some of these involved were still at large. Several alleged Communists serving in the army were arrested in Jakarta last week, but it was not known how many in all would be implicated in the plot.

The mass assassination was to have been sprung while Suharto and his top officials knelt at the mosque on the grounds of the president's Merdeka Palace during a Moslem festival March 9, the palace officials said.

To Resume Hunt

VANDENBERG AFB (UPI) — The search for the remains of a $50 million Nimbus weather satellite, delayed three days by heavy seas, was to resume today off the Southern California coast.

Waves 10 to 15 feet high during the weekend and yesterday forced an 85-foot search vessel to abandon its station 25 miles off Santa Barbara.

Disrupt Talk

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A jeering crowd of demonstrators hurled eggs, stones and bags of flour at Prime Minister Terence O'Neill during an appearance last night.

O'Neill was unhurt. He had been speaking before a Conservative party meeting in a strongly Protestant district of the Northern Ireland capital.

Denies Spying

MOSCOW (AP) — Jon S. Lodeesen, a U.S. Embassy specialist in Soviet cultural and political affairs, says an Izvestia article accusing him of being a Central Intelligence Agency spy is completely false.

An embassy spokesman said: "Mr. Lodeesen is not and never has been a CIA employee." He refused further comment on charges in the Soviet government newspaper yesterday that Lodeesen was assigned "to carry out psychological and undermining and intelligence activities."

King Medals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., intoroduced today a bill to strike one million commemorative bronze medals in memory of the slain Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

He told the Senate the medals would be sold at cost to Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. Fund, which could resell them to finance education at Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., King's alma mater.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted yesterday to authorize $20 million in expanded educational and nursing home benefits for veterans and their survivors.

Gold Price Up

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold rose today on the London market to a new peak of $42.60 an ounce and dealers reported the busiest day since the March gold rush.

Drug Arrest

LONDON (AP) — Brian Jones, guitarist of the Rolling Stones, was arrested on a drug charge today, just five months after he escaped going to jail by promising to give up drugs.

Scotland Yard detectives raided the 25-year-old musician's apartment in Chelsea and reported finding "a quantity of marijuana."

Abandon Ship

LONDON (AP) — Fire broke out aboard the 5,000-ton Norwegian cruise ship Blenheim today, forcing her 98 passengers and most of her crew of 80 to abandon ship in the middle of the North Sea. One passenger was reported injured.

A skelton crew stayed aboard to fight the fire, and tugs which arrived on the scene joined in the effort.

Two Danish fishing trawlers relieved the Blemheim's packed lifeboats of about 65 passengers and took them to the Danish port of Esbjerg.

Bombs In Haiti

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Unidentified planes dropped four bombs on Port au Prince yesterday without causing any damage and also attacked the City of Cap Haitien with bombs and a landing or armed men, officials said.

Haiti's ambassador in Washington blamed Haitian exiles and Cubans, and the Haitian consul in Miami, Fla., said, "More than 4,000 Haitian workers have been trained in Cuba for guerrilla warfare."

President Johnson gestures in speech to Arthritis Foundation

(AP Wirephotos)

NEW CAMPAIGN PHRASE?

LBJ Decries 'Bad-Mouthing' Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson may have added a new phrase to the 1968 political lexicon: "Bad-mouthing our country."

Johnson used the term twice in apparently extemporaneous asides while addressing a philanthropic banquet in New York last night.

He returned to Washington immediately after the speech.

Johnson didn't accuse anyone of "bad-mouthing" and didn't relate it directly to the presidential campaign. But the entire context of his speech made it evident he looks with something less than full approval on much of the campaign oratory.

Talking to affluent patrons of the Arthritis Foundation, Johnson said: "I simply refuse to accept the diagnosis of fatal sickness in our society—and I refuse to follow those who say that."

The quote "refuse to follow" in the statement apparently sprang spontaneously from his lips.

He went on: "I refuse to accept the diagnosis of indifference in our society—and I say shame on you who point that out."

Once again, the "shame on you" remark seemingly was off the cuff.

The burden of the President's speech was that the nation can solve its problems and is not sick, indifferent or racist.

But he repeatedly returned to the thought that some individuals, unnamed, are tearing down rather than building up the country.

America's problems, he said, "will not be solved if we give way to crippling dispair or to bad-mouthing our country all day long or all week long."

Johnson said the problems "will be solved by the impatience of the American people — but not by pessimism and the bad-mouthing of the American people."

Neither reference to "bad-mouthing" was in his prepared text.

Brooklyn College Pro-Minority Sitin Broken Up By Police Raid

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

New York police today entered the egg-splattered building housing the registrar's office of Brooklyn College and led out about 40 cheerfully defiant demonstrators who had barricaded themselves in the office yesterday in a demand for more black students, teachers and courses.

Helmeted police broke two doors of Baylon Hall, used crowbars to tip over file cabinets blocking doorways and broke through to the students—black and white, men and women. The encounter was otherwise peaceful.

The students had demanded the school next fall enroll 1,000 Negro and other minority group students—it now has 100 among its 10,000 regular, daytime undergraduate students.

As police led them out to be booked on criminal trespass charges, they gave the V-for-victory sign and chanted:

"We ain't scared of your jail cause we want one thousand, we want one thousand, we want one thousand now."

Earlier, university officials ordered the rebel students expelled.

The Brooklyn demonstration was one of several at campuses across the nation yesterday. Coe College in Iowa, with only 1,000 students, had picketing for the same reason—demands more courses about Negroes. Demonstratrations continued at Chicago's Roosevelt University, where protesters demanded hiring a fulltime professor who once went to North Vietnam against state department rules.

At Athens, Ohio, the National Guard was alerted to cope with rebellious Ohio University students who Sunday night stoned university buildings in anger over being retained in school until the scheduled end of the academic year. A threatened strike of nonacademic employees was averted, scuttling the students' hopes of being released two weeks early. A gathering of about 500 of the university's 16,500 students on campus last night was quickly dispersed and three students were arrested.

A five-hour sit in by 60 members of the Black Student Union at the University of Washington in Seattle ended quietly last night. The school's president, Dr. Charles Odegaard, reiterated a pledge to recruit more minority-group students and expand the black studies program.

Italian Coalition Retains Power, But The Outs Gain

ROME (AP — The Christian Democrat and Communist parties scored major gains in Italy's elections for a new Parliament. Final returns today gave the Communists their biggest vote in postwar history.

The Roman Catholic Christian Democrats and their enemies, the Communists, improved their positions in both the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate. The chief loser was the Socialist party which had hoped to recover from the defection of its leftist elements. Instead it came out a poor third in the multi-party race.

Despite the Socialist setback, Premier Aldo Moro's center-left coalition increased its majority in both the Senate and the Chamber.

The coalition comprises the Christian Democrats, the small Republican party and the Socialists. The first two gained more seats than the Socialists lost.

Nearly 32 million persons voted in the election for 315 senators and 630 deputies. They will take their seats in a new Parliament June 5.

The Fascists and the Monarchists also lost ground.

THIRD DISTRICT CANDIDATES

All Agree To Urgency Of Marin City Problems

By FRANK FARRARA

Third District supervisorial candidates last night stressed "self-determination" by residents of Marin City to alleviate the problems of that community.

Appearing before about 75 persons at the Sausalito Women's Club, the six candidates zeroed in on problems of concern to Sausalito residents.

Views were aired on the development of Marin City, financial difficulty in the Sausalito School District, Marincello and, on the part of one candidate, hippies.

Donald J. O'Leary of Tiburon said that Marin City "should be brought into the mainstream." The community is now isolated with no access road, he contended. "How can it exist isolated?"

The basic problems of the community are employment and mobility, he said. Supervisors can provide the climate where each resident could reach the level he is capable of reaching, O'Leary asserted.

The county has to help, but the people of Marin City should have "self determination," said Michael Wornum of Mill Valley. The Marin City Community Services District could operate its own police department, possibly through contract with the sheriff's office as the City of Tiburon does, he said.

On the employment problem, there must be coordination between job training and the jobs available, Wornum urged. There is no benefit in training a man for a job in a field where no jobs are available, or in having jobs available with no one trained to fill them, he noted.

Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr. of Marin City urged commercial development in the Kappas Yacht Harbor area, which he said would create "an asset and enable this land to bring jobs to people."

He contended that 50,000 persons a day by-pass Marin City and development of the Richardson Bay shorefront, north of Sausalito, would help Marin City and take some of the tourist burden away from downtown Sausalito.

Mrs. Margaret Azevedo, a member of the Marin County Planning Commission, called for a review of the 10-year old master plan for Marin City, with participation by residents of Marin City.

Carl Hepp of Mill Valley said he believed "the principle of self-reliance applies and if there is a need for us to cooperate, I'd cooperate."

Ben A. Farlatti of Tiburon said, "I think the people of Marin City should have the opportunity for self-government. The way it's now going, it's getting a ghetto complex, and that's not good." He said, "We should push vocational education."

The plight of the Sausalito School District, which must gain voter approval of a $2.40 tax rate from the voters June 4 or revert to a 90 cent tax rate, also cropped up.

Mrs. Azevedo contended that Marin County has responsibility to the district, "the only one truly racially integrated" district in Marin. "The county now needs to lend a helping hand," she said.

Banks admitted that the school district has been under criticism and "some changes need to be made," but the district should be supported.

Hepp said "one of the villains" was the law which causes the district to lose funds through areawide taxation. "Another villain is those who are responsible for the cost of $1,300 per pupil or more. It will be difficult to get relief on the basis of the extra cost per pupil," he contended.

Wornum said the county could help by providing in-lieu funds for lack of property tax from public housing in Marin City.

Marincello, the proposed community of 20,000 west of Sausalito, strongly opposed by many Sausalito residents, was mentioned at the outset by Mrs. Azevedo.

She mentioned recent news stories about the reported financial difficulties encountered by the Frouge Corp., which plans to develop Marincello.

Supervisors have the right to ask for evidence of financial ability to undertake the project, she said. If there were no guarantee that the original plan could be achieved, the county could review the plan "and possibly replace it with a more modest proposal."

Mrs. Azevedo, who voted for the Marincello master plan as a planning commissioner, drew applause when she said she wouldn't object to reviewing the plan under those circumstances.

She said the choice was not between Marincello and open land, but "a choice of development of some kind" and she chose Marincello "over the traditional, tract kind of subdivision."

Wornum urged that Marin County have a general plan which designates the land west of Tamalpais ridge as open area, agriculture and low density, leaving development to the "already naturally urbanizing Eastern areas facing the bay."

Under such a plan, Marincello "can be rezoned back to its former agricultural status . . ." he said.

Mrs. Azevedo contended that an agricultural zone permitted "development down to 7,500 square feet, more grading and paved roads than the present proposal."

"I meant proper agricultural zoning," Wornum noted.

Hepp described hippies "as a serious problem, spreading venereal disease, using dope, usurping parks and corrupting children."

He charged they "have been invited by local governments," and "I propose to make them unwelcome."

Hepp said he would achieve this goal by enforcing the laws on loitering, vagrancy, building occupancy, prostitution and "Dope."

Some points made by candidates during their statements were:

Mrs. Azevedo — Regarding transportation, she urged "multiple use of corridors" for cars, transit, bicycles and foot lanes and "a halt to the proliferation of freeways and second deck."

Banks — Expressed concern over the conservation of property, conservation of the landscape in Marin, and concern for those on fixed income who are losing their homes because of high taxation.

Farlatti — Charged there has "been poor planning, bad decisions and lack of good common sense" in county government," and said to alleviate the tax burden "don't spend money." Transportation, he said, "is farther behind than ever in Marin."

Hepp — "Tax relief for the home owner is the most urgent need." The practice of overbudgeting must be eliminated, and the high tax structure keeps business out of Marin.

O'Leary — "It's not impossible to bring in industry . . . that doesn't change the residential character." One of the ways to reduce taxes is to buy in Marin and stop the flow of dollars into San Francisco.

Wornum — Marin County should have a general plan which "protects the bay shore from further filling and ensured public access and parks, to remedy the disgraceful fact that the county owns but 800 feet of bay shoreline out of 40 miles." He also called for legislation "to end the present completely irresponsible and unresponsive Golden Gate Bridge District," and place the bridge in the hands of a board responsive to the supervisors of Marin and San Francisco counties.

Probationer In Jail On Weapon Count, Argument

A 21-year-old San Rafael man was booked into County Jail last night for investigation of a gun charge arising from an argument with neighbors over the dumping of garbage.

Daniel Lee Temple of 17 Francis Street was booked on suspicion of possession of a firearm by a felon. Police said Temple is on probation for forgery.

Temple was arrested at about 6 p.m. after residents of an abutting apartment house at 515 D. Street complained of being cursed at and harassed for allegedly tossing garbage into his backyard. The neighbors said Temple had a gun in his belt.

Police confiscated a .38 caliber pistol and a sawed-off .22 caliber rifle that had been made into a pistol from Temple's residence. Temple was held in $5000 bail for a Municipal Court appearance today.

Wildflower Slide Show Thursday

A public showing of wildflower slides has been scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Thursday at Old St. Hilary's Church, the Landmarks Society Museum, in Tiburon.

The colored slides of wildflowers on the Tiburon Peninsula were shown to members of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society two years ago, according to Mrs. John Ericson, executive director.

They were taken by Tiburon photographer Anna-Jean Cole.

Mrs. George Ellman, event chairman, will also be the commentator. Admission will be charged.

Motorcycle Victims Condition Is Good

A Bolinas man was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital despite a fractured right leg, suffered in a motorcycle accident Sunday.

John J. Gray, 22, of Birch Road, was on a private road on the Gerald Granadas ranch in Bolinas when the motorcycle overturned at 5:05 p.m., throwing him off, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Cash Box Looted

San Rafael police yesterday reported the weekend theft of $130 from a cash box in the office of the Marin County Ice Co. at 1554 Fourth Street.

Teeners Injured When Car Flips

Three teen-agers suffered multiple bruises yesterday when the car in which they were coming home from Drake's Beach ran off a curve, hit a bank and overturned.

Glorialee Wheeler, 19, of Temple City (Los Angeles County) and her passengers, Ellen M. Stover and Christine R. Johnston, both 19 and of Oakland, were treated at Marin General Hospital.

The accident happened at 1:10 p.m. on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, 10 miles east of Inverness, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Zucker Defends Rise In Planning Expense

each incorporation, but continued growth has brought the population in unincorporated areas to 71,300, slightly above the 1957 total.

But planning often spills over boundaries between cities and counties, Zucker explained.

For example, both the Fairfax and Novato General Plans involved county areas as well as city areas. The County staff did the actual work on both general plans. In both, financing was two-thirds federal funds and one-third local funds. The local share was borne 50-50 by the county and the city involved.

The only areas in which construction slowdown and reduction in land area affect the workload are in reviewing current construction and development.

"But this is only a small percentage of the workload," said Zucker.

Some samples of work which are not affected by construction slowdown:

Countywide planning in such areas as transportation (Shoreline Highway and Highway 17) and parks and open space; area general plans (such as Novato, Fairfax, and West Marin plans); ordinance work (Such as the new mobile home park ordinance and new design review ordinance); enforcement of new and existing ordinances, and continuing activities such as public information and assisting other agencies.

The department is called on continually for research information by regional agencies such as the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, Bay Conservation and Development Commission, Association of Bay Area Governments, and Division of Highways, he pointed out. The new agricultural preserve law requires study and reports each time an area is added.

"Other local agencies and civic groups call on our services, and rightly so," said Zucker. For example, the Council for Civic Affairs or the Citizens Transportation Committee may want information on transportation and zoning in various areas.

All of these requests, said Zucker, keep increasing regardless of whether areas incorporate and regardless of construction slowdown.

Then comes advance planning. "Should undeveloped land have a master plan or not? Many areas still don't have any master plan, and many areas have master plans but no zoning to implement the master plan."

A master plan without zoning to implement it is useless, said Zucker. During the past year, Zucker said his staff has updated zoning in Muir Beach, Tamalpais Valley, Black Point, County Airport area, and Strawberry Point area.

"The Kentfield General Plan, for example, was adopted in 1965," said Zucker. "When I got here in 1966, the Kentfield Plan had not been printed yet. We're finally catching upon such printing."

When he took over "the house numbering system was in a mess," said Zucker. "we are just completing a basic guideline on which to base house numbers when applications come in for a new house."

"Through this catching up process and new programs, we feel we are bringing depth and quality into design review and subdivision review."

Zucker says he cannot speak for budgets before he took over. His first budget request (for 1966-67) of $377,758 was approved by the supervisors. The next budget was $376,273. For the new 1968-69 budget, Zucker is requesting $404,262.

"This amounts to an increase of only 5.8 per cent over three years, which is well below any inflationary indicator you care to use. Twenty-nine positions were authorized in the first budget submitted since I became director and have stayed constant for the past three years."

Injured Span Painter Gets $25,080 Award

A $25,080 award against the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District for "serious and willful misconduct" has been made by a state referee.

The award was made to a former bridge painter, John A. Seeley, who was injured June 23, 1965. He was standing on a plank, painting below the roadway, when he fell 18 feet to a girder. He suffered a fractured skull and brain damage.

The referee for the Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board in San Francisco, Albert E. Gately of Fairfax, authorized the award to be paid over a period of years. Of the award amount, $17,580 is Seeley's disability award and $7,500 is punitive damages against the bridge district for not providing the painter a safe place to work.

The bridge district's attorneys argued that Seeley was at fault in not using a safety belt, but Gately said belts were not required by the district's management.

Attorney for the State Compensation Insurance Fund, defending the bridge district, are expected to appeal Gately's decision to the appeals board.

Doctor Describes Wounds In Trailer Home Killings

By STEPHEN COOK

Blonde-haired Shirley Ackley, 34, was probably dead or essentially dead before her killer stabbed her twice in the back, a San Rafael pathologist said today.

Dr. Robert B. Schneider took the witness stand at the start of the second week of the trial of Kenneth Allen Preston, 20, one of the two Santa Rosa men accused of killing Mrs. Ackley and her husband, Curtis, 27, in their Santa Venetia house trailer Jan. 12.

Mrs. Ackley, who owner and operated a San Rafael barbershop with her husband, may have been tortured or mutilated, the doctor's testimony to the jury indicated.

With courtroom lights dimmed, Dr. Schneider pointed to some cuts on the murdered woman's forehead, illustrated with a colored slide.

The cuts were an inch long and a quarter inch deep. They may have been inflicted with a knife, he said. They were not the cause of death.

The doctor also described the more serious signs of assault on Mrs. Ackley's body.

She was shot twice, he said. The first wound, which would not have been fatal, entered at the base of her neck and exited over her shoulder. The second entered the left side of her head and proceeded into the brain.

There were signs of strangulation, he said, pointing on a blown up black and white photograph to cord marks on her neck.

There were two knife wounds on the right side of her chest. Both penetrated to the chest, but the doctor said he found very little blood around the wounds.

"These wounds were probably inflicted after she was dead or essentially dead," Dr. Schneider said.

Curtis Ackley, found in a back bedroom of the trailer house on Smith Ranch Road, received four bullet wounds in the head, he said.

Preston, who denies he killed the Ackleys, sat calmly in his chair as the doctor described and pointed out with photographs the wounds he found while performing autopsies on the murdered couple.

Preston and Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, 24, both members of the Santa Rosa motorcycle gang called the Grim Reapers, are accused by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales of raping Mrs. Ackley and killing her and her husband.

Sommerhalder is to be tried separately, beginning in the week of June 10.

Meeting Delayed

A meeting scheduled last night by the Marin County Health Facilities Planning Commission was postponed to 8 p.m. June 17 in Marin General Hospital, reported chairman Alfred C. Bangert. A proposed convalescent hospital in Novato will be reviewed at the June meeting.

BOARD FAVORABLE

Interracial, Youth-Adult Panels Asked

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today gave tentative support to a proposed "summer of understanding" program advanced by Jeanne Marie Secchitano of 133 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said Mrs. Secchitano's idea is to dedicate the summer to one of human understanding, with seminars and meetings held at the Civic Center to discuss issues "that have been swept under the rug in the past." Said Storer, "I think the idea is beautiful." He suggested that the supervisors could sponsor the program, with support from the County Department of Human Rights and other agencies.

"I concur with the idea," said Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen. "But if we do it, we should do it completely, and not just as an empty gesture." Kettenhofen asked the county administrator and the Human Rights Department to study the concept and come back with specific recommendations on how the county could participate.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr stressed that the citizens, especially in Marin City, should be approached about the program from the outset. Behr said he does not want anyone to misinterpret the program as an attempt by the county to assure a cool summer.

Chairman Kettenhofen pointed out that the "summer of understanding" would be an attempt not only to bring interracial understanding, but also to bridge the gap between adults and the younger generation of all races.

Only three supervisors were present today. Supervisors William A. Gnoss and John F. McInnis were away on other business.

HERRERA

his attorney to plead him not guilty by reason of insanity — today succeeded in calling his wife as his witness shortly before the luncheon recess.

He got her on the stand over the objections of his attorney, Deputy Public Defender Harold J. Truett, who said he couldn't approve of the procedure, because Herrera intended to have his wife testify that he is sane.

Herrera asked that everyone except the judge, attorneys and the jury be excluded from the courtroom while he handled her questioning himself.

"There may be some questions I would ask of her that would relate to her privacy, your honor," said Herrera.

Judge Goldstein denied Herrera's motion to exclude the public, and told Herrera he could question his wife via notes he would give Truett.

Truett said he had asked Mrs. Herrera not to testify, but she had insisted on acceding to her husband's request.

Novato Actors Aid Band Trip

The Novato Community Players last night voted to give $200 to the Novato High School Band toward its trip this weekend to Disneyland, according to Ann Ramsay, secretary.

The vote was the only action taken by the players at the group's regular meeting in the San Marin Club, she said.

John Yardas, director of the band, said that this was the largest signle donation by any organization and put the band fund over its goal of $3,000.

The band will leave the high school at 11:30 a.m., Friday and from the Oakland Airport at 3 p.m. It will play two concerts in Disneyland and return Sunday afternoon, Yardas said.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

TODAY:

12:43 p.m., Santa Venetia — Fire caused by ruptured gas line destroyed car parked behind Civic Center; owner unknown. Marin County Fire Department called.

12:51 p.m., Marinwood — Roof fire at 113 Blackstone Drive, burned about 20 square feet of shingles, causing $500 damage. Embers from fireplace landed on roof.

5:17 p.m., Novato — Grass and brush fire started by children playing with matches on the George Azevedo property at Simmons and Leese lanes; no damage.

8:27 p.m., Woodacre — Oven fire in apartment of Ted Keller, 11 Fire Road, caused by faulty pilot light; $50 damage. Marin County Fire Department called.

the 5,552 of the previous week. The South Vietnamese lost 475 killed and 1,467 wounded—double the figure of the last week. U.S. losses are announced Thursday.

The most dramatic action came at Camp Eagle.

The attackers had swabbed their arms, legs, torsos and head in the camouflage paint, tied their sandals to their belts, clutched explosive charges and dashed at the base after raining about 300 rocket and mortar shells into the U.S. position. Many of the dead still clutched their unused explosives.

possibility that the federal sentences would be consecutive rather than concurrent."

Truax said "Yes, sir."

The judge set sentence for June 11.

The judge brought out that Truax could be sentenced to a maximum of six years in prison.

The possible penalty for transporting stolen securities is 10 years on each count and $10,000 fine. Thus the regular sentence could be a maximum of 30 years.

His attorney, Herman Mintz, told Judge Weigel that Truax did not know the exact amount of each check taken. Judge Weigel declared "This court will not accept a plea of guilty if there is any qualification."

The judge then requestioned Truax in detail on each check and brought out the only thing he was uncertain about was the numbers of the checks.

Then the plea was accepted.

buses and subways were halted. Tourists were stranded. Many persons were unable to get to work, adding to the chaotic conditions. Housewives were panicky. Those who ventured onto the streets saw huge signs asking De Gaulle be replaced.

In the streets and in huge posters on its Paris headquarters, the Communists proclaimed the slogan: "Toward a Popular Government and One of democratic Union."

It matched the phrases that brought a Communist-partnered Popular Front government to power in 1936, after the last previous outbreak of such a general strike.

Patrol Probing Five-Car Crash At Marin City

The California Highway Patrol is seeking to learn why a 1967 Plymouth sedan stopped on Highway 101 yesterday, causing a five-car pileup.

A driver and his two passengers were injured.

Alfred J. Quiroz, 24, of 31-A Willow Avenue, Fairfax; Suellen Fayette, 23, and Michael Kobus, 3, both of 325 Olema Drive, Fairfax, were treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael.

As the car, driven by a man described only as wearing a Texas style wide hat, stopped at the southbound off-ramp to Marin City at 2 p.m., cars driven by Gary L. Larkins, 17, of 10 Palm Court, Larkspur, and Nadine L. Pearson, 22, of Santa Rosa, stopped, according to patrolmen.

A third car, driven by Donald K. Walker, 16, of San Jose, slowed but was hit from the rear by another driven by Jack R. Southelland, 43, of San Francisco, causing a chain-reaction crash, according to officers. Southelland's car was then struck in the rear by the Quiroz car, the patrolmen reported.

Tiburon Boulevard Resurfacing Planned

Tiburon Boulevard between Greenwood Beach Road and Main Street is to be resurfaced, the state Department of Public Works said today.

Bids ofr the project will be opened June 19 in Sacramento, and $18,750 is available for the project, the department said.

$351 Burglary Loot

A burglar yesterday stole sweaters, a portable television set and a motion picture camera valued at a total of $351 from the residence of David B. Redmond, 257 Santa Rosa Avenue, Sausalito police reported today.

Novato Teen Drama Group Session Set

The future of the Novato Minors, a teen-age drama group sponsored by the Novato Federated Women's Club and the Novato Parks and recreation Department will be the subject of a special meeting of the two groups.

This decision to discuss the drama club's troubles was reached last night by the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission at its regular meeting in the Novato Community House, according to Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director. No time or place has been set for the meeting.

A request by Mrs. Edward R. Schulman, president of the San Jose Junior High School P-TA for a two-nights-per-week teen program at that school and a summer program, were tabled until budget review time, according to Adams.

Adams reported that the recreation attendance in April this year was more than double of last year, 21,550 to 10,000.

$8.4 Million Preliminary Budget For Novato Schools

A preliminary budget of $8,441,375 for fiscal 1969 was presented to the Novato Unified School District trustees at their regular meeting last night in the administration building.

This budget is $162,480 more than the $8,278,895 budget proposed on April 1.

Boosting the budget was debt retirement required by the state, according to Supt. James G. Bunker , up from $126,464 to $315,028, or an increase of $188,564.

The biggest cut was in capital outlay — from $176,000 to $110,578 or $55,422 less.

"This budget does not call for any increase in salaries except the regular step increases," Bunker told the board.

"This will be the toughest year for several years because we are opening three new schools at once, requiring additional custodians, gardeners and other expenses such as utilities," Bunker said.

The superintendent said that he would not make any estimate on the tax rate until he finds out how much federal aid the district will get for the students from Hamilton Air Force Base, and state aid.

Total tax rate this year is $4.885 per $100 assessed valuation.

The Novato Unified School District board also:

INSURANCE — Set specifications and called for bids for 4 p.m. June 12 on the district's insurance. The liability insurance was raised from $3 million to $5 million and the loss from theft from $25,000 to $100,000. The board also authorized receiving bids from agents within 30 miles of the district office instead of eight as previously required.

CLAIMS — Authorized Asst. Supt. Duane V. Moeller to make small claims court actions when parents do not make restitution for vandalism done by their children.

MUSEUM — Approved the annual greement to pay $650 to the Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science next school year.

MODIFICATION — Approved a budget modification for the current budget whereby the income was reduced by $36,502.74, the expenses increased by $75,594.80, the net deficit of $112,097.54 to be taken from the undistributed reserve.

BILLS — Authorized the payment of bills for $52,957.50 and state school building fund warrants for $384,585.69.

RESIGNATION — Accepted resignations from Judith Halstead from Rancho School, Raymond Miller from San Jose Junior High School and Gloria Reynolds and Martha Schweibert both from West Novato School.

More Interest Expected In College Vote

A resurgence of interest in student government is expected to bring out a larger than usual percentage of College of Marin students today and tomorrow for an election of student body officers.

Only 8 per cent of the nearly 2,600 students voted in an election last Semester, but Dave Brown, student body parliamentarian, said that he expects a 40 per cent turnout this time, because of greater political awareness on campus.

A group called the Students for Academic Freedom, which wants a stronger student voice with the faculty and administration, is pushing a slate of candidates, although its nominee for president, Susan Rushton, has dropped out of the race.

Running for president are Marge Moore, who has served as corresponding secretary and is a member of the College Center Commission, and David Long.

Other candidates are Pat Blake, Jake Feinsilberg, Kimberly Ann McDwell and Andy Zimmerman, vice president; Lynn Lowery and Terry Pulharich secretary; Donna K. Leong and Judy Wallace, College Center Commissioner; Ranald Bruce and Lee Gardner, treasurer; Edward J. Garrison, public relations commissioner; Roberta Wright, rallies and assemblies commissioner; David Bersin and Harry Gilbert spirit and athletics commissioner; Philip Byrne, Chris Cupples, Linda Gardiner and David L. Vail, head yell leader; Peggy Dennis and Linda Yoder, head song leader, and Smita Singh, Linda Thaning, Patti Owen, Cyndi Monti, Gail DeMartini and Bobbi Krohn, song leader.

Write-in campaigns are being waged for at least three offices. These are Signe Seastrom, head song leader; Howard Lazzarini, rallies and assemblies commissioner, and Ed Schreinberg, College Center commissioner.

Despite the war, South Vietnam has increased rice production since 1954.

Fall At Work Fatal To Priest

LOS GATOS (AP) — Father James Francis Rooney is dead of head injuries after plunging 30 feet while working yesterday at the Sacred Heart Novitiate winery he directed.

The 55-year-old Jesuit had been on an abandoned shack trying to move a wooden gravel chute when its scaffolding gave way. He died three hours later at Los Gatos Community Hospital.

Father Rooney was vice principal at Bellarmine School in San Jose for seven years before returning to the Novitiate two years ago to take charge of the winery. He was a San Francisco native.

Zucker Defends Rise In Planning Expense

each incorporation, but continued growth has brought the population in unincorporated areas to 71,300, slightly above the 1957 total.

But planning often spills over boundaries between cities and counties, Zucker explained.

For example, both the Fairfax and Novato General Plans involved county areas as well as city areas. The County staff did the actual work on both general plans. In both, financing was two-thirds federal funds and one-third local funds. The local share was borne 50-50 by the county and the city involved.

The only areas in which construction slowdown and reduction in land area affect the workload are in reviewing current construction and development.

"But this is only a small percentage of the workload," said Zucker.

Some samples of work which are not affected by construction slowdown:

Countywide planning in such areas as transportation (Shoreline Highway and Highway 17) and parks and open space; area general plans (such as Novato, Fairfax, and West Marin plans); ordinance work (Such as the new mobile home park ordinance and new design review ordinance); enforcement of new and existing ordinances, and continuing activities such as public information and assisting other agencies.

The department is called on continually for research information by regional agencies such as the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, Bay Conservation and Development Commission, Association of Bay Area Governments, and Division of Highways, he pointed out. The new agricultural preserve law requires study and reports each time an area is added.

"Other local agencies and civic groups call on our services, and rightly so," said Zucker. For example, the Council for Civic Affairs or the Citizens Transportation Committee may want information on transportation and zoning in various areas.

All of these requests, said Zucker, keep increasing regardless of whether areas incorporate and regardless of construction slowdown.

Then comes advance planning. "Should undeveloped land have a master plan or not? Many areas still don't have any master plan, and many areas have master plans but no zoning to implement the master plan."

A master plan without zoning to implement it is useless, said Zucker. During the past year, Zucker said his staff has updated zoning in Muir Beach, Tamalpais Valley, Black Point, County Airport area, and Strawberry Point area.

"The Kentfield General Plan, for example, was adopted in 1965," said Zucker. "When I got here in 1966, the Kentfield Plan had not been printed yet. We're finally catching upon such printing."

When he took over "the house numbering system was in a mess," said Zucker. "we are just completing a basic guideline on which to base house numbers when applications come in for a new house."

"Through this catching up process and new programs, we feel we are bringing depth and quality into design review and subdivision review."

Zucker says he cannot speak for budgets before he took over. His first budget request (for 1966-67) of $377,758 was approved by the supervisors. The next budget was $376,273. For the new 1968-69 budget, Zucker is requesting $404,262.

"This amounts to an increase of only 5.8 per cent over three years, which is well below any inflationary indicator you care to use. Twenty-nine positions were authorized in the first budget submitted since I became director and have stayed constant for the past three years."

Injured Span Painter Gets $25,080 Award

A $25,080 award against the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District for "serious and willful misconduct" has been made by a state referee.

The award was made to a former bridge painter, John A. Seeley, who was injured June 23, 1965. He was standing on a plank, painting below the roadway, when he fell 18 feet to a girder. He suffered a fractured skull and brain damage.

The referee for the Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board in San Francisco, Albert E. Gately of Fairfax, authorized the award to be paid over a period of years. Of the award amount, $17,580 is Seeley's disability award and $7,500 is punitive damages against the bridge district for not providing the painter a safe place to work.

The bridge district's attorneys argued that Seeley was at fault in not using a safety belt, but Gately said belts were not required by the district's management.

Attorney for the State Compensation Insurance Fund, defending the bridge district, are expected to appeal Gately's decision to the appeals board.

Doctor Describes Wounds In Trailer Home Killings

By STEPHEN COOK

Blonde-haired Shirley Ackley, 34, was probably dead or essentially dead before her killer stabbed her twice in the back, a San Rafael pathologist said today.

Dr. Robert B. Schneider took the witness stand at the start of the second week of the trial of Kenneth Allen Preston, 20, one of the two Santa Rosa men accused of killing Mrs. Ackley and her husband, Curtis, 27, in their Santa Venetia house trailer Jan. 12.

Mrs. Ackley, who owner and operated a San Rafael barbershop with her husband, may have been tortured or mutilated, the doctor's testimony to the jury indicated.

With courtroom lights dimmed, Dr. Schneider pointed to some cuts on the murdered woman's forehead, illustrated with a colored slide.

The cuts were an inch long and a quarter inch deep. They may have been inflicted with a knife, he said. They were not the cause of death.

The doctor also described the more serious signs of assault on Mrs. Ackley's body.

She was shot twice, he said. The first wound, which would not have been fatal, entered at the base of her neck and exited over her shoulder. The second entered the left side of her head and proceeded into the brain.

There were signs of strangulation, he said, pointing on a blown up black and white photograph to cord marks on her neck.

There were two knife wounds on the right side of her chest. Both penetrated to the chest, but the doctor said he found very little blood around the wounds.

"These wounds were probably inflicted after she was dead or essentially dead," Dr. Schneider said.

Curtis Ackley, found in a back bedroom of the trailer house on Smith Ranch Road, received four bullet wounds in the head, he said.

Preston, who denies he killed the Ackleys, sat calmly in his chair as the doctor described and pointed out with photographs the wounds he found while performing autopsies on the murdered couple.

Preston and Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, 24, both members of the Santa Rosa motorcycle gang called the Grim Reapers, are accused by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales of raping Mrs. Ackley and killing her and her husband.

Sommerhalder is to be tried separately, beginning in the week of June 10.

Meeting Delayed

A meeting scheduled last night by the Marin County Health Facilities Planning Commission was postponed to 8 p.m. June 17 in Marin General Hospital, reported chairman Alfred C. Bangert. A proposed convalescent hospital in Novato will be reviewed at the June meeting.

BOARD FAVORABLE

Interracial, Youth-Adult Panels Asked

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today gave tentative support to a proposed "summer of understanding" program advanced by Jeanne Marie Secchitano of 133 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said Mrs. Secchitano's idea is to dedicate the summer to one of human understanding, with seminars and meetings held at the Civic Center to discuss issues "that have been swept under the rug in the past." Said Storer, "I think the idea is beautiful." He suggested that the supervisors could sponsor the program, with support from the County Department of Human Rights and other agencies.

"I concur with the idea," said Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen. "But if we do it, we should do it completely, and not just as an empty gesture." Kettenhofen asked the county administrator and the Human Rights Department to study the concept and come back with specific recommendations on how the county could participate.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr stressed that the citizens, especially in Marin City, should be approached about the program from the outset. Behr said he does not want anyone to misinterpret the program as an attempt by the county to assure a cool summer.

Chairman Kettenhofen pointed out that the "summer of understanding" would be an attempt not only to bring interracial understanding, but also to bridge the gap between adults and the younger generation of all races.

Only three supervisors were present today. Supervisors William A. Gnoss and John F. McInnis were away on other business.

HERRERA

his attorney to plead him not guilty by reason of insanity — today succeeded in calling his wife as his witness shortly before the luncheon recess.

He got her on the stand over the objections of his attorney, Deputy Public Defender Harold J. Truett, who said he couldn't approve of the procedure, because Herrera intended to have his wife testify that he is sane.

Herrera asked that everyone except the judge, attorneys and the jury be excluded from the courtroom while he handled her questioning himself.

"There may be some questions I would ask of her that would relate to her privacy, your honor," said Herrera.

Judge Goldstein denied Herrera's motion to exclude the public, and told Herrera he could question his wife via notes he would give Truett.

Truett said he had asked Mrs. Herrera not to testify, but she had insisted on acceding to her husband's request.

Novato Actors Aid Band Trip

The Novato Community Players last night voted to give $200 to the Novato High School Band toward its trip this weekend to Disneyland, according to Ann Ramsay, secretary.

The vote was the only action taken by the players at the group's regular meeting in the San Marin Club, she said.

John Yardas, director of the band, said that this was the largest signle donation by any organization and put the band fund over its goal of $3,000.

The band will leave the high school at 11:30 a.m., Friday and from the Oakland Airport at 3 p.m. It will play two concerts in Disneyland and return Sunday afternoon, Yardas said.

the 5,552 of the previous week. The South Vietnamese lost 475 killed and 1,467 wounded—double the figure of the last week. U.S. losses are announced Thursday.

The most dramatic action came at Camp Eagle.

The attackers had swabbed their arms, legs, torsos and head in the camouflage paint, tied their sandals to their belts, clutched explosive charges and dashed at the base after raining about 300 rocket and mortar shells into the U.S. position. Many of the dead still clutched their unused explosives.

possibility that the federal sentences would be consecutive rather than concurrent."

Truax said "Yes, sir."

The judge set sentence for June 11.

The judge brought out that Truax could be sentenced to a maximum of six years in prison.

The possible penalty for transporting stolen securities is 10 years on each count and $10,000 fine. Thus the regular sentence could be a maximum of 30 years.

His attorney, Herman Mintz, told Judge Weigel that Truax did not know the exact amount of each check taken. Judge Weigel declared "This court will not accept a plea of guilty if there is any qualification."

The judge then requestioned Truax in detail on each check and brought out the only thing he was uncertain about was the numbers of the checks.

Then the plea was accepted.

buses and subways were halted. Tourists were stranded. Many persons were unable to get to work, adding to the chaotic conditions. Housewives were panicky. Those who ventured onto the streets saw huge signs asking De Gaulle be replaced.

In the streets and in huge posters on its Paris headquarters, the Communists proclaimed the slogan: "Toward a Popular Government and One of democratic Union."

It matched the phrases that brought a Communist-partnered Popular Front government to power in 1936, after the last previous outbreak of such a general strike.

Patrol Probing Five-Car Crash At Marin City

The California Highway Patrol is seeking to learn why a 1967 Plymouth sedan stopped on Highway 101 yesterday, causing a five-car pileup.

A driver and his two passengers were injured.

Alfred J. Quiroz, 24, of 31-A Willow Avenue, Fairfax; Suellen Fayette, 23, and Michael Kobus, 3, both of 325 Olema Drive, Fairfax, were treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael.

As the car, driven by a man described only as wearing a Texas style wide hat, stopped at the southbound off-ramp to Marin City at 2 p.m., cars driven by Gary L. Larkins, 17, of 10 Palm Court, Larkspur, and Nadine L. Pearson, 22, of Santa Rosa, stopped, according to patrolmen.

A third car, driven by Donald K. Walker, 16, of San Jose, slowed but was hit from the rear by another driven by Jack R. Southelland, 43, of San Francisco, causing a chain-reaction crash, according to officers. Southelland's car was then struck in the rear by the Quiroz car, the patrolmen reported.

Tiburon Boulevard Resurfacing Planned

Tiburon Boulevard between Greenwood Beach Road and Main Street is to be resurfaced, the state Department of Public Works said today.

Bids ofr the project will be opened June 19 in Sacramento, and $18,750 is available for the project, the department said.

Novato Teen Drama Group Session Set

The future of the Novato Minors, a teen-age drama group sponsored by the Novato Federated Women's Club and the Novato Parks and recreation Department will be the subject of a special meeting of the two groups.

This decision to discuss the drama club's troubles was reached last night by the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission at its regular meeting in the Novato Community House, according to Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director. No time or place has been set for the meeting.

A request by Mrs. Edward R. Schulman, president of the San Jose Junior High School P-TA for a two-nights-per-week teen program at that school and a summer program, were tabled until budget review time, according to Adams.

Adams reported that the recreation attendance in April this year was more than double of last year, 21,550 to 10,000.

Larkspur Board To Hear Plans

An after-school program of individual instruction in reading and mathematics will be described to the Larkspur School District Board at 8 p.m. Thursday in the administration office.

The district has received a federal grant of $13,832 for the remedial program.

The summer school classes will also be described to board members.

$8.4 Million Preliminary Budget For Novato Schools

A preliminary budget of $8,441,375 for fiscal 1969 was presented to the Novato Unified School District trustees at their regular meeting last night in the administration building.

This budget is $162,480 more than the $8,278,895 budget proposed on April 1.

Boosting the budget was debt retirement required by the state, according to Supt. James G. Bunker , up from $126,464 to $315,028, or an increase of $188,564.

The biggest cut was in capital outlay — from $176,000 to $110,578 or $55,422 less.

"This budget does not call for any increase in salaries except the regular step increases," Bunker told the board.

"This will be the toughest year for several years because we are opening three new schools at once, requiring additional custodians, gardeners and other expenses such as utilities," Bunker said.

The superintendent said that he would not make any estimate on the tax rate until he finds out how much federal aid the district will get for the students from Hamilton Air Force Base, and state aid.

Total tax rate this year is $4.885 per $100 assessed valuation.

The Novato Unified School District board also:

INSURANCE — Set specifications and called for bids for 4 p.m. June 12 on the district's insurance. The liability insurance was raised from $3 million to $5 million and the loss from theft from $25,000 to $100,000. The board also authorized receiving bids from agents within 30 miles of the district office instead of eight as previously required.

CLAIMS — Authorized Asst. Supt. Duane V. Moeller to make small claims court actions when parents do not make restitution for vandalism done by their children.

MUSEUM — Approved the annual greement to pay $650 to the Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science next school year.

MODIFICATION — Approved a budget modification for the current budget whereby the income was reduced by $36,502.74, the expenses increased by $75,594.80, the net deficit of $112,097.54 to be taken from the undistributed reserve.

BILLS — Authorized the payment of bills for $52,957.50 and state school building fund warrants for $384,585.69.

RESIGNATION — Accepted resignations from Judith Halstead from Rancho School, Raymond Miller from San Jose Junior High School and Gloria Reynolds and Martha Schweibert both from West Novato School.

More Interest Expected In College Vote

A resurgence of interest in student government is expected to bring out a larger than usual percentage of College of Marin students today and tomorrow for an election of student body officers.

Only 8 per cent of the nearly 2,600 students voted in an election last Semester, but Dave Brown, student body parliamentarian, said that he expects a 40 per cent turnout this time, because of greater political awareness on campus.

A group called the Students for Academic Freedom, which wants a stronger student voice with the faculty and administration, is pushing a slate of candidates, although its nominee for president, Susan Rushton, has dropped out of the race.

Running for president are Marge Moore, who has served as corresponding secretary and is a member of the College Center Commission, and David Long.

Other candidates are Pat Blake, Jake Feinsilberg, Kimberly Ann McDwell and Andy Zimmerman, vice president; Lynn Lowery and Terry Pulharich secretary; Donna K. Leong and Judy Wallace, College Center Commissioner; Ranald Bruce and Lee Gardner, treasurer; Edward J. Garrison, public relations commissioner; Roberta Wright, rallies and assemblies commissioner; David Bersin and Harry Gilbert spirit and athletics commissioner; Philip Byrne, Chris Cupples, Linda Gardiner and David L. Vail, head yell leader; Peggy Dennis and Linda Yoder, head song leader, and Smita Singh, Linda Thaning, Patti Owen, Cyndi Monti, Gail DeMartini and Bobbi Krohn, song leader.

Write-in campaigns are being waged for at least three offices. These are Signe Seastrom, head song leader; Howard Lazzarini, rallies and assemblies commissioner, and Ed Schreinberg, College Center commissioner.

Despite the war, South Vietnam has increased rice production since 1954.

Fall At Work Fatal To Priest

LOS GATOS (AP) — Father James Francis Rooney is dead of head injuries after plunging 30 feet while working yesterday at the Sacred Heart Novitiate winery he directed.

The 55-year-old Jesuit had been on an abandoned shack trying to move a wooden gravel chute when its scaffolding gave way. He died three hours later at Los Gatos Community Hospital.

Father Rooney was vice principal at Bellarmine School in San Jose for seven years before returning to the Novitiate two years ago to take charge of the winery. He was a San Francisco native.

Sherry Baked Lamb Chops

Four med. size shoulder or round bone lamb chops, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. Mei Yen seasoning, ¼ tsp. pepper, 2 tsp. chicken stock base, 1 cup hot water, 1 tbs. currant jelly, ½ tsp. orange peel, ¼ tsp. garlic powder, ½ tsp. Bouquet Garni for lamb and ¼ cup sherry. Brown chops well in a heavy frying pan. When brown, arrange chops in a casserole or baking dish. Sprinkle with salt, Mei Yen, and pepper. Pour off excess fat from frying pan and dissolve chicken stock base in hot water and add drippings back into pan. Stir in currant jelly, orange peel and garlic powder. Simmer until jelly is dissolved. Crush Bouquet Garni and, along with sherry, add to pan, mix well and pour over lamb chops. Cover and bake in a 350° oven for 1 hour or until tender. Serve with steamed rice spooning the sauce over rice and chops. — Serves 4.

Don't Ignore O'Leary In Third District Race

Marin County's Third Supervisorial District, where Peter Behr ran unopposed four years ago, has a half-dozen candidates in the field for the seat Behr will vacate at the end of this year, and none of the six is an unknown.

Contending for the office are Margaret Azevedo, Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr., Ben Farlatti, Carl Hepp, Donald J. O'Leary, and Michael Wornum.

With so many candidates, there is scarcely a possibility of anyone receiving a majority of the total vote in the June 4 primary. The "knowing ones" are predicting a November run-off between Mrs. Azevedo and Wornum.

THERE IS A "DARK HORSE" in the race, however, who should not be overlooked. That is O'Leary.

Donald J. O'Leary has had less exposure to public notice in Marin than some ot the others. Mrs. Azevedo, through her long service on the county planning commission; Wornum, through his on the Mill Valley City Council, and Rev. Banks, as a longtime leader in Marin City, are certainly better known.

However, O'Leary is not without credentials of public service. He is chairman of the commercial sub-committee of the Tiburon Citizens Committee, a former member of the Tiburon Planning Commission, and a former Marin County chairman of the Experiment in International Living, one of the two principal U. S.-foreign student exchange programs. Before coming to Marin from Phoenix, Ariz., he was a member of the Arizona-Sonora West Coast Trade Commission. He is a lawyer, but has also been a college basketball coach and a teacher.

Also, O'Leary talks a good deal of sense, and seems less inclined to ride a personal hobby horse than some of his fellow candidates.

JUDGING FROM campaign appearances, Mrs. Azevedo seems concerned almost entirely with conservation, planning (understandably) and with a solution to the transit problem which would include ferries in some manner. Conservation and planning also command Wornum's major attention.

Rev. Banks seems more concerned with Marin City than with the Third District or the county as a whole. Farlatti urges a "business approach" to county government. Hepp concentrates on cutting taxes and driving out the hippies.

O'Leary opened his campaign with an attack on San Francisco Mayor Alioto's commuter tax proposal in which he pointed out quite tellingly that the short-sighted plan would merely accelerate the flight of businesses from San Francisco — and sensibly suggested that Marin should seize the opportunity to lure some of those business offices here. He has attacked the transit problem with a proposal for a subsidized minibus system to connect with the present bus service and also take children to school and parents to shopping — which appears a practical way to get at several problems at once.

HE APPEARS NEITHER so bent on cost-cutting as Farlatti and Hepp nor so averse to cutting some county costs that have simply grown out of reason as are Wornum and Mrs. Azevedo.

He believes Marin can be made more attractive to business and clean industry — and his experience in Phoenix and as area manager of a real estate development corporation suggests he speaks from knowledge.

Altogether, O'Leary makes a lot of sense. Besides which, this New York-born adopted Californian has a ready wit and plenty of Irish charm.

The "knowing ones" shouldn't sell O'Leary short.

Attracting Songbirds

Now that the weather is warmerand we can get outside more, many Marinites would like to lure more birds to their gardens. There are several methods of doing this.

One method is to feed them daily with wild bird seed, suet, or whatever is available, including bread crumbs. Another is to provide some bird houses and nest shelves to encourage them to live nearby. Piles of wood and brush, and shrubs and bushy hedges — all such things provide cover and give the birds a sense of security. Birdbaths help, but must be kept clean.

Finally, and perhaps most important, birds seem to know where they are really liked and flock to those houses. Honest!

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Easing Youth Job Requirements Brings Protest From AFL-CIO

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Emergency regulations affecting employment of students during the summer have been issued by the Department of Industrial Relations following action of the Industrial Welfare Commission removing the overtime requirement of pay for minors and increasing the ages for student classification.

Under the old requirements, the commission rule required overtime pay for minors after five days on regular time. The new regulations remove this requirement.

Student workers may be paid a minimum wage of $1.35 per hour for minors under action of the welfare commission, instead of the adult minimum, which is $1.65 per hour.

The board has defined a student worker as a boy under 18 and a girl under 25 enrolled in a college or university.

"WITH THE ADVENT of summer vacation and the peak influx of minors into the labor market," a statement from the department said, "the commission felt that all barriers to their employment must be removed immediately and therefore adopted amendments as emergency regulations effective on May 27."

The California Labor Federation is voicing vigorous opposition to the commission's order, as might be expected. Thomas L. Pitts, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO organization, announced it will oppose the emergency regulations when they come up for public hearings in Los Angeles July 22 and in San Francisco July 23.

Pitts characterized the order as "a thoroughly regressive step that will minimize jobs available to the state's youth this summer while at the same time licensing the exploitation of their labor at poverty level wage rates."

ACTION of the commission marks the first time in many years that it has gone contrary to the policies of organized labor, and attempted to take action to curtail some of the many government regulations on the hiring of students.

Many students during the past few years have been denied the right to work because of the demands that they be paid at the same rates as adults.

Chaplain Recalls Attu Campaign

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As a combat chaplain who made the D-Day landing with the assault troops, I was gratified to read your account of "Bloody Attu's 25th Anniversary" and to realize that the brave men who fought and died in the least publicized fight of World War II have not been forgotten. The account was generally accurate, but a few footnotes should be added.

It was the medics and engineers who bore the brunt of the May 29 banzai charge. The Japanese eluded the infantry by means of a mountain pass not shown on the inaccurate and incomplete maps made by the Coast and Geodetic Survey, and fell on our rear echelon positions. For this heroic stand and for valor in evacuating the wounded under fire, the Seventh Medical Battalion won the presidential unit citation. Many litter bearers were killed while bringing the wounded to aid stations, and many more were pinned down by enemy fire for as much as 24 hours under appalling climatic and geographic conditions. These were largely conscientious objectors, who, although eschewing a shooting role in the war, were unafraid to risk their lives. (How unlike so many so-called conscientions objectors of our day!)

Jack Craemer's statement that it was not until General Landrum relieved General Brown that the tide changed is true as far as it goes. What is left unsaid, however, is that General Brown wanted to bring all three regiments of the Seventh Division with him, but was allowed only two. If he had had his 159th regiment as well as the 17th and 32nd, the story would have been different at the outset. General Landrum had to bring in troops from the Fourth Infantry to fill the gap, since General Brown had been denied his third regiment. That the Army did not fault General Brown is shown by the fact that he was later put in command of the Fifth Division, which gave a good account of itself in Europe. The faulty equipment with which the Seventh Division invaded Attu was the result of bungling by the Western Defense Command headed by General de Witt, which outfitted the expedition. It was the Western Defense Command which allowed General Brown only two regiments. Of interest is the fact that Generals Brown and De Witt had been on opposite sides of West Point politics in their cadet days.

In my study I have a picture of Little Falls Cemetery at Massacre Bay, having buried fully half of the men who rest there. The first burial was that of Col. Edwin P. Earle, commander of the 17th regiment. The high proportion of officer casualties is an unnoticed feature of the Attu campaign. Also resting in Little Falls is one of our Seventh Division chaplains, Guy Turner (Southern Baptist) of the 32nd regiment.

Largely unheralded by the newsmen was the leadership of Col. Frank Culin of the 32nd regiment. But his qualities were not unrecognized by the Army, which made him a major general and gave him command of a division in Europe. General Culin is now retired and lives in Carlmel.

The Kiska campaign is passed over in your story as a landing exercise which found no opposition. For some unknown reason the government has never revealed the facts about Kiska. The Americans and Canadians meeting in the dense fog each thought the other to be a Japanese force, and a bloody battle ensued. To make matters worse, there was attached to us a green mountain infantry unit fresh from Colorado which opened fire on its own command posts and killed some of its own men and some of the Seventh. I buried 14 casualties on D Day on Kiska — Aug. 15, 1943 — and I don't know how many in the ensuing days before it was officially declared that there were no Japanese on the island. . . .

McCarthy After Indiana

(Reprinted from St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

The results of the Indiana primary pose an important test for the admirable army of amateurs which has provided the exciting new element in Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's presidential campaign. There is no point in ignoring the fact that Senator McCarthy has received a mild setback. Juggling percentages may comfort the afflicted, but running third to Senator Kennedy just cannot be interpreted as a victory.

The question is whether the senator's young and idealistic forces will now scatter and disperse before this first whiff of grape, or whether they will stay in the fight until it really has been decided. Indiana did not decide it.

Ever since the Democratic contest settled into a three-way race with President Johnson out of the running, or running by proxy, it has been clear that Senator McCarthy's chances for the nomination rested on the possibility that neither Vice President Humphrey nor Senator Kennedy could overwhelm the convention on an early ballot. If Humphrey plus McCarthy can deny the nomination to Kennedy, and if Kennedy plus McCarthy can deny it to the Johnson-Humphrey Administration, then the convention might well turn to Senator McCarthy, who is evidently more acceptable to the Humphrey forces than Senator Kennedy, and more acceptable to the Kennedy forces than Mr. Humphrey.

The Indiana results have not altered this equation.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

EVERY MORNING a crotchety old banker, commuting from the Oranges in New Jersey to his Wall Street lair, carried an impressive attache case which so far as anybody could recall, he had not opened once en route in 30 years. One very slushy day, however, he snapped open the case and took out the only contents thereof — an old, well-worn pair of galoshes. A veteran fellow-commuter was dazed by the revelation. 'I could have sworn," he muttered, "that every day that case contained nothing but the old skinflint's lunch!"

An irate London husband called a hospital to complain that he had been informed by phone that he was the father of a new-born boy. When he arrived upon the scene, he discovered that what he had was a daughter. The head of staff finally appeased him, then had this sign put on the switchboard: "Absolutely no sex must be given out over the telephone."

All Five Candidates Agree U.S. Should Take Initiative In Europe

WASHINGTON — The latest political surprise:

Humphrey, Kennedy, McCarthy, Nixon, and Rockefeller are in agreement — and not just on motherhood.

When you get every Democratic and Republican presidentital candidate to agree on anything, you would think it was either meaningless or trivial.

It is neither.

They agree on a major foreign policy initiative — that the United States should take the lead to call a citizens' convention of all the North Atlantic allies to lay the foundation for a "true Atlantic community."

THE GOAL would be to expand the military alliance of NATO into some form of political and economic union to strengthen the forces of the free world.

The very attempt to do this might seem overly ambitious, impractical, and at the very least premature.

But it doesn't seen so to five of the most prestigious political leaders in the nation, one of whom will be the next President of the United States.

And to others as well, for the convening of an Atlantic conference to which each of the member nations would send a delegation of 18 eminent citizens is endorsed by General Eisenhower, former President Truman, Barry Goldwater, Governor Romney, former Governor William Scranton, Dr. Edward Teller, economist Arthur Burns, former NATO commander General Matthew Ridgway, and former budget director P. F. Brundage.

THE SUPPORT which the five presidential candidates are giving to this initiative is contained in statements from each of them released by Clarence Streit, editor of Freedom and Union magazine.

All five urge Congress to pass the resolution which Senator McCarthy introduced in the Senate and Rep. Paul Findley (R-Ill.) in the House. These resolutions would have Congress name the U.S. delegation to a convention with similar delegations from "such other NATO nations as desire to participate," making the convention possible even if France rejects it.

The groundwork has already been laid for such a meeting. A preliminary Atlantic convention, initiated by the U.S. Congress, met in Paris in 1962 and unanimously urged "that the NATO governments promptly establish a special governmental commission to draw up plans within two years for the creation of a true Atlantic community to meet the political, military, and economic challenges of this era."

None of the NATO governments acted.

NOW THE NEXT President of the United States is committed to act.

There are, I think, three main reasons why there is growing support for such an initiative in Congress and much wider approval, in the judgment of pollster Elmo Roper, in the country than many realize:

1 — While the danger of war in Europe is declining and thus the military role of NATO is less crucial, the primary need is to strengthen the political and economic bonds of the Atlantic alliance.

2 — The U.S., Britain, West Germany, Italy, and the others don't feel they should be immobilized indefinitely by General de Gaulle.

3 — There has been no creative American diplomacy in two decades in the Atlantic. U.S. policy today rests almost totally on the initiatives taken in the late '40s — the Marshall Plan, foreign economic aid, the North Atlantic Treaty, and its military arm, NATO. The conviction is growing that yesterday's answers aren't best adapted tto today's problems, that something new needs to be done.

Nixon, Rockefeller, McCarthy, Kennedy, and Humphrey agree. That's quite a consensus.

De Gaulle Caught Asleep By Student Uprising

By GEORGE SIBERA

PARIS (UPI)—The French student revolt has erupted on the country's political scene with the same explosive force as the Algiers settlers and army officers revolt just 10 years ago.

No one had expected the students to challenge directly government authority, just as no one believed that the Algiers colonists and the army top brass would rise against the legally-elected Paris government.

As it happened, the rebellion of students in France's Sorbonne and 16 other schools is confronting President Charles de Gaulle with the worst single crisis since the days of the 1954-62 Algerian war.

FOR THE FIRST time in his long political career, De Gaulle seems to have failed to detect in advance the gathering clouds of the student storm.

Since the conclusion of the bloody Algerian conflict six years ago, the 77-year-old French leader had to face two serious confrontations with his opponents. In 1962, his political opponents managed to topple his cabinet, but were defeated in subsequent parliamentary elections over a constitutional issue. In 1963 De Gaulle had to maneuver skilfully to overcome a serious crisis arising from widespread strikes in the coal mining district.

For the first time since his return to power 10 years ago, De Gaulle now is pitted against both the intellectuals and the working class.

THE SINEWS of the student revolt have long been evident. For years young-minded professors, assistant professors and students alike in all faculties have been urging far-reaching reforms to adapt courses and examinations in the university establishments to modern time requirements.

Although the Fourth Republic and the Gaullist regime that replaced it in 1958 had carried out partial reforms, the French universities are resting on foundations laid by Emperor Napoleon 160 years ago.

The Gaullist regime has changed education ministers, but rarely teaching methods, until its adamant stand bred extremist student groups bent on overthrowing not only teaching methods but the country's social structure as well.

WHEN IT erupted with full force by the erection of 10-foot barricades on the Left Bank the watchword at the Elysee Palace still was "the president must not be awakened short of an atomic war."

When panic-stricken aides finally did apprise De Gaulle of the seriousness of bloody clashes between police and students that left 1,500 injured, the stream of student discontent had swollen into a torrent of popular anger against old-fashioned police repression that brought some 800,000 Parisians into the street in a gigantic protest march.

Premier Georges Pompidou, remembering the days when he had his own head bloodied in street riots in the turbulent 1930's as a summa cum laude student at the tough Ecole Normale, hastened to appeal to the nation on television shortly after returning from a state visit to Afghanistan.

He offered the students reconciliation and cooperation. But the long pent-up opposition to the old university system, a nationwide movement sympathizing with the students' demands plus an eleventh-hour drive by leftist opposition parties to join the student band wagon all had confronted the government with an explosive situation.

As One Traffic Problem Solved, Another One Promptly Appears

In this complicated civilization of ours, it seems as though we just get one problem solved when another arises.

Take the traffic hazards on Highway 101 in Novato. For many years, the intersection of Lamont Avenue with Highway 101 has been a death trap.

Motorists breezing north from the Golden Gate Bridge are on a freeway. If they are not observant, they will miss the sign north of Highway 37 interchange that marks the end of the freeway. Suddenly they come upon cross traffic at Lamont Avenue.

With Schuman Chevrolet Co. building west of the highway, this hazard was increased. Schuman and the state Division of Highways got together on financing a traffic light, which will be installed this summer.

NOW WITH THAT problem solved, another is being created farther south on Highway 101. Dervin Ford Co. is moving to a new location south of Novato Creek. Here center turn lanes are being installed to simplify access and egress.

Unless warning signs are posted on the highway to the south, high-speed drivers might suddenly find themselves confronted with slow-moving cars pulling out in front of them. This may well become the next dangerous intersection in Novato.

THE PRESENT Novato City Council is proving to be more favorable to business than some of its predecessors and certainly its planning commission and plan review committee.

For many years, we have had complaints from real estate brokers that the city was making it too difficult for businesses to come into the city. We will admit that the city is woefully lacking in street improvement in much of the downtown area. Some prospective new businesses have balked at having to construct street in front of their establishments, according to real estate brokers.

Then when a strict sign ordinance was proposed, the Downtown Merchants Association was reactivated to make it more liberal. It succeeded in getting some modifications written into the ordinance.

When Denny's Restaurant sign was being battered around, twice through the plan review committee and twice through the planning commission, it took quite a beating. First the plan review committee reduced the height. Then the planning commission reduced both height and size.

The council overrode both to allow the sign requested.

It looks as though the new city council will look more favorably on concessions to businesses. This may help the Novato business dirstrict to grow.

Forest Trade For Redwoods Park Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman said today a proposed trade of public forest land for private timberlands in California to establish a Redwood National Park would imperil the national forest system.

"This raid is not necessary to establish a Redwood National Park," Freeman told a House interior subcommittee. "It might set a precedent that would imperil the integrity of the national forest system.

PROPOSED TRADE

Involved is a proposal to trade 14,500 acres of national forest land in the northern redwood purchase unit for land held by private lumber companies that would be included in the park.

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall said yesterday that the Johnson administration "reluctantly would not object" to the trade if congress finds it essential for realizing a Redwood National Park.

Udall read what he said was an administration statement supporting a general policy of not favoring such land trades. But, he said, in this case there are "circumstances that make the redwood situation unique."

Freeman said his department "strongly supports the effort to creat a meaningful and outstanding Redwood National Park."

OPPOSES BARTER

"But," he said, "we are unalterably opposed to the barter of national forest timberlands for private lands needed for the proposed park."

Freeman said the department has "consistently and vigorously" objected to the exchange of national forest lands for private lands regardless of purpose.

At the present rate of cutting, Freeman said, old growth timber on private lands in Del Norte and Humboldt counties will be exhausted within a relatively short period.

Freeman said that in recent years 16 different lumber operators have bought timber from the national forest area and that if it is traded only a few of the major timber companies would benefit.

He said proponents of the trade-off who say the redwood national park is a unique project and should be granted an exception try to discount the precedent such a swap would establish.

WISHARD A. BROWN
Term as president ends

Newspapers Group Honors I-J Publisher

Wishard A. Brown ,publisher of the Independent-Journal, ended his 1967-68 term as president of the International Newspaper Promotion Association, during the group's national convention in Rochester, N.Y., May 11-15.

Brown was the first president since the association became international and was recognized as the "father of other countries" by developing international membership. Flags of 14 participating nations were present at the convention.

During his year as president, association membership rose to more than 800, making the promotion group the fastest growing within the newspaper industry.

To augment the four regional conferences held annually in the United States, Brown has been working to establish another in the Australia-Pacific area.

Brown will serve on the association board for the coming year.

Church Wins Nod For Dome Plans In San Anselmo

Avariance to allow a dome and cross approximately 40 feet tall on a new church to be built by St. Nicholas Russian Orthodox Church was granted last night by the San Anselmo Planning Commission.

The commission also granted the congregation permission to build the church adjacent to the house where services are now held at 102 Ross Avenue. Representatives of the church told the commission they have a use permit issued earlier, and the commissioners said they did not need a new one if this one can be located.

An application from Vernon and Clara Wheeler to subdivide property at 273 Butterfield Road into two lots was granted with stipulations that the property be divide evenly and that a sidewalk be built along Butterfield Road.

The commission also granted permission to Harry Brogioli to store nine rental trailers at 100 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

A request by Bess and Alexander Gilroy to conduct a nursery school at 172 was postponed to the June meeting.

10 Students Win Art Show Honors

Ten students at Red Hill and Hidden Valley schools were named award winners in the school competition section of the third annual San Anselmo Art Festival held Friday and Saturday at the Red Hill Shopping Center.

Winners were David Segale, painting; Carey Pope, montage; Sam Gurley, wood statue, Nori Hendricks, block print; Jay Goodwin, pottery; Janet Lee, figurine; Denise Sperling, design; Lucia Botermans, statuary; and Mike Gosliner and Chip Svensen, a chess set.

Each student was presented with a gift certificate redeemable at the shopping center stores.

Supreme Court Declares Right To Jury Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defendants in all but "petty" criminal cases are entitled to the chance to be tried by juries, a precedent-shattering Supreme Court has ruled.

"Trial by jury in criminal cases is fundamental to the American scheme of justice," Justice Byron R. White said in the 7-2 decision yesterday.

The ruling, one of several expanding the rights of criminal defendants, made the jury trial guarantee of the sixth amendment to the U.S. Constitution binding on the states.

CONTEMPT CHANGE

At the same time, again by a 7-2 vote, the court erased the distinction between criminal contempt and other crimes and put "serious" contempt cases under the jury-trial rule.

The justices were not explicit in drawing a line between what it considered "serious" and what it considered "petty" cases. However, crimes carrying a two-year sentence were put in the "serious" category and those of six-months were viewed as "petty," meaning bench trials are still permissible.

The dissenters, Justices John M. Harlan and Potter Stewart, objected to use of the 14th amendment's due process clause to promote uniformity among the states.

"Quite without reason," they said, "the court has chosen to impose upon every state one means of trying criminal cases; it is a good means, but it is not the only fair means, and it is not demonstrably better than the alternatives states might devise."

SHIFT NOTED

In his twin opinions for the majority, White acknowledged the court had changed course. But, he said, the states are obliged by the 14th amendment to recognize the right to jury trial.

Moreover, White said pragmatically, "the right to a jury trial very likely serves its intended purpose of making judicial or prosecutorial unfairness less likely."

In two other decisions, meanwhile, the court junked longstanding decisions. It said a man cannot be tried fairly if the jury hears a codefendant's confession incrimination him. And it said prisoners do not have to complete their sentences before testing additional sentences that await them.

The expansion of rights and the break with the past appeared particularly dramatic because the Senate today was studing legislation to curb the court that is rooted, essentially, in just such actions.

Conserver's Talk Set At Library

Harold E. Gregg of Forest Knolls will discuss "The Future of Marin — Wall to Wall People vs. Open Space" at a meeting of the Larkspur Friends of the Library at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in the Larkspur Library.

Gregg is president of the Marin Conservation League.

The meeting is open to the public, according to officers of the group.

Currently on display at the library are photographs by students at Redwood High School.

Jail Inmate Treated For Slashes On Wrist

Hans Von Atzigen, 19, of Sausalito, facing charges of burglary and car theft, cut his arm with a broken light bulb in county jail yesterday afternoon, deputies reported today.

Von Atzigen received stitches in his arm at Marin General Hospital, then was returned in good condition to his jail cell, of-

Two Petty Thefts Reported In Tiburon

Two cases of petty theft were reported in Tiburon yesterday. Mrs. John S. Hoffmire, of 583 Virginia Drive, told sheriff's deputies that her son's bicycle was taken sometime Friday from their residence.

John W. Clanton of Apt. 5-95, Hilarita Housing, reported to deputies that someone took an 18-foot ladder from outside his apartment on Thursday or Friday.

Burglary Reported

George R. Dreyer of 16 Ross Street, Apt. 4, told San Rafael police yesterday that a thief entered his home over the weekend and took two watches, valued at a total of $125, and $15-$20 in change from a bedroom dresser drawer.

Ross Parents Oppose Team Teaching, Lose

A proposal to establish team teaching in the Ross School kindergarten next fall was opposed by a group of Ross parents last night. (Another Ross School Board story, page 1).

Supt. Robert D. Gowan said he suggested the team teaching approach for the kindergarten class because enrollment varies from year to year.

"We don't know if we will have enough students for one class or two," he said. "Team teaching will give us the flexibility we need."

About six parents, he haid, preferred the district to retain the old method of one teacher for each class.

The board supprted Gowan in his proposal, he said.

The Ross School District Board Also:

BUDGET — Set a special budget meeting for 7:30 p.m. May 27 in the Ross School library.

INSERVICE — Heard that the fall pre-school inservice program set for Sept. 3-5 will be devoted to the family life education program.

TRANSFER — Signed final papers for the transfer of 10 acres of property in the school district to the Kentfield School District.

MUSEUM — Agreed to subscribe to the Louise A. Boyd Museum for 1968-69 at a cost of $50 a month.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Mrs. Marjorie Beckwith, seventh and eighth grade English teacher; Miss Martha Collin, foreign language teacher; and Mrs. Janet Schumacher, sixth grade teacher.

HIRING — Approved the hiring of Penalope Johnstone as a French teacher at an annual salary of $6,500-$7,500; Barabara Watts, speech therapist, $6,500-$7,500 annually and William Cooper, administrative assistant, $9,500 annually.

Youth Arrested In Drug Probe

An 18-year-old student was arrested in his Corte Madera apartment yesterday after allegedly selling a Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau agent about six ounces of marijuana.

The youth, John Robert Thiele of 121 Grove Avenue, was booked in county jail for investigation of selling and possessing marijuana.

Agents said an undercover officer went to Thiele's apartment about 2:30 p.m., purchased the marijuana for $45, then returned with other agents to arrest him. They found about eight more ounces of good marijuana in the apartment, they said.

Officers, who said Thiele declined to reveal his source, said scope of his operation was not known.

Trailer Tire Taken

A boat trailer tire and wheel, valued at $75, were stolen over the weekend from Nationwide Rentals at 439 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, Edward W. Moews, operator of the agency, told police yesterday.

Rummage Sale To Aid Patient

A rummage sale to raise money for a San Anselmo nurse undergoing an $11,000 treatment for a kidney disease will be held from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday in a vacant building at Fourth and H streets, San Rafael.

The nurse, Mrs. Joseph G. Alvarez of 41 Rosemont Avenue, was admitted Friday to San Francisco General Hospital for the life-saving treatments.

The sale is being organized by Mrs. Juanita Gunderson, owner of Le Boutique, 727 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo. Mrs. Gunderson asked that donations of clothing and odds and ends be dropped off at her store any day this week between 10 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Rattlesnake Bite Blamed For Illness

A baby rattlesnake is not something one would expect to find under the garden shrubbery but it can be a dangerous garden guest in Marin's lush countryside as Mrs. Carolyn Dunn of Fairfax discovered last week.

Mrs. Dunn, wife of College of Marin drama instructor James Dunn, was casually pulling a few weeds in her Woodland Road garden last Tuesday when a snake bit her in the fleshy part of her hand.

She shook the snake off and it escaped back into the underbrush. Within a few hours Mrs. Dunn was quite ill at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael with her arm swollen as big as a football.

She was under treatment in the hospital for two days and spent four more days recovering at home. Only yesterday, a week later, did she begin to "really feel good again," according to her husband.

The snake, since it escaped, cannot be positively identified as a rattlesnake. But, according to Mrs. Dunn, it was gray or brown and white, about 10-12 inches long and had fangs.

"What other snake around here could make you so sick?" her husband asked.

On an average, two to three rattlesnake bites a year are reported at Marin General Hospital. No official records of snake bites are kept in the county, according to Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, county health officer.

Chico State Grad

Dallas Pitts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Pitts, 455 Alameda Del Prado, Loma Verde, will receive a bachelor's degree at spring commencement exercises at Chico State College June 1. Her name was missing from the list of Chico State graduates from Marin in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Where Have All The Thrills Gone Since Lindy Flew The Lonely Sky?

A high gray overcast made the day gloomy but the air throughout the land on the 20th day of May in the year 1927 was electric.

This was Lindy's day.

He was on the way across the Atlantic . . . destination Paris.

I was then but a fledgling, and a very young one at that, but I still remember looking at that sky and wondering. . . .

MY MIND WAS reaching out over the Atlantic to the bobbing, fluttering, frail craft. I was trying to fathom the loneliness, the anxiety that must have been in that tiny crammed cockpit. I could see the white-crested waves reaching up for him; the clouds, their moist fingers clawing down for him; and then the wind, its vast domain previously undisturbed, angrily jolting him.

I sat on a rock on the edge of a wood and stared across a green meadow and felt afraid and very lonely for Lindy, yet mixed with those thoughts there was a great excitement . . . an incomparable thrill.

But that was a long, long time ago.

RECENTLY I LEFT the West Coast on Saturday night and at Monday noon I was back. I went to Tokyo. I went to Tokyo, spent 24 hours there and then returned.

There was no thrill at all.

No excitement.

Nothing.

I sat in the cockpit of that Boeing 707 under an infinitely black sky, suspended over a black void. The stewardess brought up some coffee. She forgot to sugar it. I complained. She made a flip remark and left. I went back to staring at the red-lighted instrument panel and then, for lack of something better to do, I played with the radar. There was nothing on the scope. I quit, bored.

YOU ASK ANY veteran pilot what he thinks about flying and very likely he might shrug his shoulders and tell you something like this:

"Flying is nothing but hours and hours of sheer boredom with occasional moments of stark terror."

That's about it.

It wasn't always like that.

OFTEN I HAVE been approached by young men who claim they are interested in aviation as a career and the first question they invariably ask is how much money I make . . . what sort of retirement program do we have . . . and, oh yes, how about vacations?

Well, these things are important.

But is that all? For a young man?

I once read an article by a psychiatrist who said, in essence, that pilots reflect an inordinately developed death wish. Or else why fly? I don't recall whether he mentioned that, according to his analysis, the same applies to race car drivers, bullfighters, high-wire performers, steeple jacks, bus drivers or anybody who regularly takes a bath.

WELL, I WON'T argue with the good doctor, but I think he's all wet. With me, it's not a death wish . . . it's a LIFE wish.

I know of no other way to appreciate life to the fullest than to go through it cheek-to-cheek with death. There's hardly anything that'll make the grass so green, the soft rain so beautiful, a child's smile so lovely, your woman's tough so meaningful . . . than after a scrape with death.

You look then at the sunrise . . . and you see it!

Gunman Gets $20,000 In Vallejo Robbery

VALLEJO (AP) — A robber toting a sawed off rifle held up an armored car guard and supermarket manager yesterday and escaped with more than $20,000.

Police said the bandit took the money from William Van Alfren, 45, a Loomis guard, and Robert Alley, 37, manager of a Lucky Store.

Unpaid Tickets

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Elliot Gould, the husband of singer Barbara Streisand, was fined $795 for 63 unpaid parking tickets in traffic court yesterday.

O'Leary Backers Announce Change

One of the coffees to be given for supervisorial candidate Donald J. O'Leary was incorrectly announced in yesterday's Independent-Journal, according to Mrs. Alan W. Cundall.

A coffee announced by O'Leary's supporters for 6:30 p.m. on May 27 at the home of J. Donald McCune of 25 Spring Lane will, instead, be an invitational cocktail party at the Cundall home at 1 Spring Lane, Mrs. Cundall said.

O'Leary is a candidate for the Third Supervisorial District in the June 4 election.

Poor People Take Drive To Capitol

WASHINGTON (UPI) —About 100 poverty marchers, led by four dungaree-clad men in a new Cadillac convertible, went to Capitol Hill today to open the public demonstration phase of the Poor People's Campaign.

They sat quietly in two hearing rooms where House and Senate committees were considering anti-poverty legislation.

MOST ON FOOT

About a dozen elderly men and women rode in private cars. But most of the delegation marched on foot the length of Washington's famous Mall, from their hut city near the Lincoln Memorial to the Capitol building.

They sang freedom songs and chanted the slogan, "soul power! soul power!" as they walked up the Mall for their first public confrontation with the legislators from whom they're demanding massive new job, housing and welfare programs.

The largest contingent, about 60 persons, attended a hearing of the House Labor Committee on hunger in the United States. They were escorted to the Rayburn House Office Building by the four young men, designated as "marshals" for the poor march, riding in a maroon Cadillac with the top down.

POLICE PATROLS

Capitol police were out in substantial force, unsure what course the demonstration might take. Capt. Wilbert McDonald, chief of the House detail of the Capitol police, welcomed the group to the Rayburn building with a brief but cordial speech in which he promised "every cooperation" if they would respect the rules.

Appeals Tax Board Winds Up Business

The Marin County Assessment Appeals board wound up the year's business Friday as scheduled, but had to stay until 8 p.m. to do it.

A tentative tabulation by Assessor Bert W. Broemmel shows that the net reduction in assessed value as a result of the board hearings came to $1,708,980. Assuming a tax rate of $10 per $100 assessed valuation, that would represent a reduction of $170,000 in taxes.

In comparison with the total assessment roll, this represents a reduction of about three-tenths of one per cent, said Broemmel.

A total of 1,424 property owners had filed protests when the hearings first started last September. They asked for a reduction of $3,375,933 in assessed value.

The total reductions granted (through stipulation, recommendation by the assessor, and by the appeals board) came to $1,786,840 in assessed value.

This was offset by eight increases amounting to $77,860, leaving a net reduction of $1,708,980 in assessed value.

The assessment appeals board, headed by Julius H. Selinger, has been meeting weekly since last September at Civic Center. On several occasions, the board met twice a week to catch up on the workload. Members of the board include James F. McConnell, David G. Cohn, and Edward P. Morphy, alternate.

The same board is expected to resume hearings on the new assessment roll, starting in September.

The new roll will be delivered by the assessor to the auditor on July 1. Taxpayers will have a chance to file their appeals until Aug. 26. The protests will then be heard by the appeals board.

122 To Receive Diplomas June 13

A class of 122 eighth grade graduates will receive diplomas in ceremonies at 7:30 p.m. June 13 in the courtyard of Hidden Valley School in San Anselmo.

Doug Harnsberger and Denise Schabel will be the student speakers and the Robert Johnston Award for highest scholarship will be presented to Millicent Mensing.

Following graduation the youngsters will attend a reception and dance at the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association clubhouse, sponsored by the Hidden Valley School's Parents Club.

Pleads Innocent To Drug Charge

An innocent plea to a charge of marijuana possession was entered in Marin Superior Court yesterday by Robert Doyle Fuller, 18.

Judge Harold J. Haley scheduled a jury trial for the week of July 29.

Fuller, of 214 Hatch Road, Novato, is accused of having two plastic bags of marijuana in his car when arrested by Novato police Feb. 23.

Paths On Agenda

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission will discuss whether or not to pave the paths in the town park at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at town hall.

Fairfax Woman Hurt In Wreck

A Fairfax woman was injured Sunday when her husband's car ran off Bolinas Road went over a bank and rolled over in thick fog.

Mrs. Sharon L. Lipton, 24, of 438 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts on her left knee and forehead and a bruised left shoulder.

The accident occurred at 1:30 a.m. north of Ridgecrest Drive, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The driver, Donald R. Lipton, 28, of the same address, escaped injury.

The first street railway in Massachusetts was built in Boston in 1836.

Marijuana Case To Juvenile Court

Case of Steven Weaver, 18, arraigned in Marin Superior Court yesterday on felony counts of selling marijuana and LSD, was then certified to the juvenile court for handling as a minor.

Weaver, of Fairfax, is accused of selling marijuana Jan. 18 and LSD on Dec. 6 and Feb. 16.

Drake Car, Boat Show On Sunday

Over 90 custom cars, motorcycles, boats, horseless carriages and sports cars will be eligible for 50 trophies in 17 categories at the third annual Sir Francis Drake High School Car and Boat Show Sunday at Sunny Hills in San Anselmo.

Proceeds from the show will be used to supplement scholarship funds for Drake students.

Included among the entries are a 1963 Ferrari SA400 valued at over $25,000, a $12,000 racing Camaro from Tiburon, a 1909 Cadillac, an $8,000 motorcycle used in a new Steve McQueen movie, and the motorcycle "Psycho" from Fremont.

Quentin News Has New Press

The San Quentin News, the prison's prize winning newspaper, converted to an offset printing process with its May 3 issue.

Offset is a photo reproduction process. It is economical and produces a clean, neat looking publication.

The San Quentin is bi-weekly at present, and has four pages.

Its editors, John Showalter and Don Nivens, said they hoped that saving in cost through the use of offset will enable the paper to print more pages. Both Nivens and Showalter write columns for the paper which are widely read outside the prison.

The San Quentin News has a press run of 8,000.

30 Days In Jail On Possession Of Marijuana

One of two Pennsylvania brothers, arrested following a scuffle with sheriff's bailiffs in a county courthouse corridor, was given 30 days in county jail and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court for marijuana possession.

The defendant, Alan Bruce Charne, 21, of Elkins Park, had pleaded guilty April 1. He was charged with the possession after he and his brother, Andrew Lee Charne, 18, had appeared in Marin Municipal Court on misdemeanor charges on March 4.

Officers said they noticed Alan Charne holding a plastic bag and asked him to surrender it. Charne refused, they said, and investigation following a scuffle disclosed the bag contained marijuana.

Andrew Charne has pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor charge of resisting arrest.

College Paper Says Campus Hit By Thefts

A small scale but costly crime wave is reaching into every corner of the College of Marin, according to a report in the college newspaper.

The thievery ranges from pilfered lunches to the loss of $5,000 in lighting equipment. It has hit student, teacher and administrator and is reported from all areas of the campus — laboratory, gymnasium, parked cars and lockers.

UP IN YEAR

The incidence of campus stealing has doubled in the past year with the weekly loss reaching an average of $400 per week, the College of Marin Times weekly campus newspaper, reports.

"This school is a cracker box for anyone who wants anything," according to Dan Lockman, student security council member.

The council is an independent group of students who do not work with police. When the student thieves are reported, they are "quietly taken care of so . . . no one knows about what is going on and nobody makes an official report, council member Frank Neer said, according to the Times.

"Kids see stuff taken but they make no report because they are afraid to get involved and have someone know who they are, he said. "We appeal to students to report anything suspicion" and tell them they "will not get involved".

TOO EASY

Lockman said it is easy to steal equipment from the school and cited an example where he borrowed a projector from another building no one had questioned him. "They didn't know who I was or even if I was a student," he said.

The council asked for an extra campus policeman to help cover the school. However, because of the district administration' unawareness of the severity of the stealing problem, the item was scratched, the Times reported.

The council has even tried to play detective to cut down the crime rate but was thwarted by the thieves themselves. When a council member went to borrow a closed circuit television set to use in detecting a thief, he found the only two available sets on campus had been stolen.

To Discuss Parks

Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission will hold an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall. Purpose of the meeting is to discuss a proposed downtown park plan, according to Russell L. Melquist, secretary.

Underground Rules Get First Reading

On ordinance requiring undergrounding of utilities in new subdivisions got its first reading at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting.

The ordinance, which will be up for final adoption June 3, provides that variances may be granted for overhead lines "where topography, soil, or other conditions make such requirement (undergrounding) unreasonable or impractical."

No objection was heard to the new requirement, which City Planner Herbert C. Hotchner said had been worked out in conference with representatives of utility companies and had unanimous approval of the planning commission.

The city council, with only three members present, also introduced a series of amendments to the zoning ordinance, results of a program of ordinance revision under way since last year by the planning staff.

Councilman John M. Miskimen was absent attending a League of California Cities seminar for junior city officials in Anaheim. Councilman Louis H. Baar was engaged in his campaign for election as county supervisor.

The zoning ordinance amendments revise definitions, particularly as applied to hospitals, rest homes, etc., and give the planning department authority to issue permits for temporary signs and displays for periods up to 30 days.

One proposed amendment, which would increase the minimum lot footage per apartment unit from 1,000 to 1,500 square feet, was returned to the planning commission. Hotchner said it was approved 4-0 by the commission but some of the three absent members wanted to discuss it further. Commissioner Carl S. Brown, present last night, said he was one of those.

The council gave the parks and recreation department the go-ahead for a summer program the same as last year's but with addition of classes in golf and archery, despite objection by Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

"I do not feel they should be competing with private enterprise," declared Jensen. "When people who are paying licenses and taxes are willing to say they're not competing, I'll be for them."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Councilman Harry A. Barbier contended all the classes in question are self-supporting so cost the taxpayer nothing. Bettini said there are "only three or possibly four areas of competition."

The San Rafael City Council Also:

REZONING — Approved revision of zoning of Marin Center at 4050 Redwood Highway to permit apartments above the Eileen Feather Figure Salon.

RAIL CROSSING — Accepted a street and highway easement from Northwestern Pacific Railroad for crossing of tracks on Second Street and Rice Lane.

NEW VIADUCT — Saw preliminary design drawings of the new overhead structure with which the state Division of highways will replace the San Rafael Viaduct when Highway 101 is widened through the city.

AGENDA SPEED-UP — Received from City Clerk W. C. Cornwell a proposal for grouping "routine" agenda items so that one vote could cover several of them. Councilman Jensen said he did not think the change "would save five minutes in a meeting" and saw no need for it, but Cornwell said the city attorney of Concord, where the scheme is in use, told him "he was 30 seconds late to a meeting and the meeting was over."

PLUMBING CODE — Set public hearing on adoption of the 1967 Uniform Plumbing Code for June 17.

EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT —Took the initial step to set in motion revision of the employee retirement plan. Finance Director James McCown said two plans are under consideration, both superior to the one the city now has. Mayor Bettini said they will be discussed at the June 3 council meeting.

SAN PEDRO ROAD — Set for July 1 public hearing on whether to "streamline" or underground utilities on phases 2 and 3 of the San Pedro Road widening and realignment.

NEW EMPLOYEE — Employed Otho E. Thomas as groundsman at $488 a month.

Budget Talk Set For Terra Linda

Preliminary budget discussions by the Terra Linda Community Services District directors will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the home of Director Alan Shattuck, 211 Oleander Drive.

The budget meeting was set last night at a regular meeting held at the Terra Linda Firehouse.

Mrs. David C. Lontz, business manager-secretary, said the meeting last night was a brief one.

Fire Chief George A. Walser reported he had 10 fire calls during the previous month and held four drills.

Hubert F. Cooper, a new director, was seated at the meeting last night. He succeeded Patrick H. Martin, who moved from the county.

SAN RAFAEL CALLS STREET REPAIR BIDS

Bids were called by the San Rafael City Council last night for resurfacing five streets.

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles said there is $25,000 for the work in the current city budget. He expressed hope that if bids come in low enough, portions of other streets may be added.

Streets to get resurfacing are: Miracle Mile from Greenfield Avenue to the San Anselmo line, Chestnut Street from Elizabeth Way to Windsor Avenue, Knight Drive from Rollingwood Drive to 600 feet north of Cottonwood Drive, Laurel Place from Lincoln Avenue to B Street, and Wildwood Way off Oakmont Avenue.

School Groups Ask Tax Relief

BURLINGAME (AP) — The $155 million in sales tax revenue earmarked for property tax relief should go to public schools, three school organizations contend.

"Adequate financing of school costs from state revenue is the surest method of slowing down or avoiding increases in local property taxes," they said in a statement addressed to Gov. Ronald Reagan and the legislature.

Joining in the statement were the California Teachers Association, the California School Boards Association, and the California School Administrators Association.

Innocent Plea To Marijuana Possession

An innocent plea to a charge of marijuana possession was entered in Marin Superior Court yesterday by Catherine Ann Nesbitt, 27, of Sausalito.

Jury trial was scheduled for the week of Aug. 5. Miss Nesbitt, of 480 Sausalito Boulevard, is accused of having a bag of marijuana in her purse in Sausalito March 22.

Enumerators Move To School Area

Enumerators of a special San Rafael census have completed their work within the city and moved into San Rafael High School District outside the city limits, City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner reported yesterday.

Hotchner said that if any household within the city has been missed by the enumerators, the householder should telephone the city hall so a listing can be made. "Every person counted means more money in the city's coffers," he said.

Bolinas-Stinson School Budget Up, Tax Holds

A tentative 1968-69 budget of $190,672 was presented to the Bolinas-Stinson School District Board last night.

Although increased from this year's total of $178,405, the budget is not expected to require a tax increase, board secretary Beverly Alberigi said. She said the district's income this year has exceeded estimates and there is surplus money on hand.

The present district tax rate totals $2.195 per $100 valuation, including a general fund rate of $1.005, bond rate of 4.5 cents area-wide tax rate of $1.11 and speech therapy rate of 3.5 cents.

The budget includes a 5 per cent increase for teachers and a 2.5 per cent increase for non-teaching employees. Salary schedules will be discussed at the June 10 board meeting, when discussion and adoption of the budget is also expected. No additional teachers are requested.

The board set a closed session for 7 p.m. May 29 at Bolinas School to interview candidates to succeed Principal - Superintendent Keith Oveson, who has resigned, effective June 30.

Architect William M. Gillis submitted a bill of $2,632 for work on school construction plans vetoed by voters in the April bond issue election. Gillis reported his bill would normally have been $3,509 for the work involved by the firm would absorb the $873 difference because the bonds were defeated.

The board changed district retirement policy, making retirement mandatory at the end of the school year for teachers who reach 65 during the year. Previous policy was to allow the board to hire teachers over 65 for a year at a time.

Car's Wheels Stolen

Elizabeth Johansing of Pasadena, a Dominican College student, told San Rafael police last night that a thief had stolen the wheels and tires from her car and left the vehicle propped up on bricks. She valued the loss at $200.

Tel: 479-6814

There comes a time in most men's lives when a guaranteed income is more important than the hope of capital gain.

And that's exactly what annuities from Manufacturers Life offer. They provide an automatic, guaranteed income for life.

People have asked us many questions about annuities in the past. Important questions such as: Can I arrange for some of the money to be returned to my estate if I die early? Is there an annuity that will transfer the income to my wife if she outlives me? How do annuities affect my income tax? Is an annuity a practical way of supplementing Social Security and other retirement income?

To provide you with the answers we have published an easy-to-read, easy-to-understand booklet called "Annuities . . . the key to a golden age." It's yours for the asking, without obligation. Just fill in and return the coupon below. And if you would like to discuss annuities with someone, you couldn't find a better person to talk to than the Man from Manufacturers.

Marinites Leaving To Attend Nuptials In New York City

By MOLLY MARIN

Leaving tomorrow to attend the wedding of her niece Marlene M. Groezinger in New York are Capt. and Mrs. Raymond Zanzot of Greenbrae. They will visit friends on the East coast before attending the June 1 wedding at the Chapel of St. Bartholomew's Church in New York City. One of the three attendants will be Marlene's cousin, Peggy Watrous of San Francisco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Watrous of Kentfield. Marlene's fiance is James Sumner Doak of Merion Station, Pa.

Also attending the nuptial ceremony will be Peggy's parents and Mr. and Mrs. George Ososke of Kentfield, and Marlene's parents, of course, Mr. and Mrs. Leland B. Groezinger of San Francisco.

COL. AND MRS. Harry Shoup were hosts at a picnic at the Cabana Club at Hamilton Air Force Base Sunday following the Armed Forces Day celebration. Special guests at the picnic were members of the Thunderbirds, the Air Force precision flying team. Colonel Shoup is commander of the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton.

HOME AFTER a cruise around the world are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Maxwell Stevenson of San Rafael, who sailed the whole way aboard the President Roosevelt from San Francisco. They visited 20 ports by way of Africa.

A GIFT OF RESUSCI-ANN

A Resusci-Ann dummy has been given to Marin General Hospital by Marin Alumnae of Alpha Phi along with some $200 to continue education courses for training nursing personnel. Here Mrs. Patricia Price, R.N.; Mrs. Clyde Rossi, Alpha Phi Alumnae president; and Dr. Chad Calland demonstrate resuscitation methods on the new dummy. Dr. Calland, Marin physician, represented the Marin County Heart Association, which the Alpha Phis assist as their philanthropy. Gift funds were raised at a luncheon earlier this year headed by Mesdames Rossi, Coleman Sellers, Donald Shaver and Anthony Guzzardo. (Independent-Journal photo)

Tourists Can Expect To Be On Spot Over What's Happening In America

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Going to Europe this summer? Expect to be "more on the spot" than ever before, says a woman boss of an unusual travel program.

Europeans, always curious about Americans, will be asking more probing questions than ever, Mrs. Gertrude Lang says.

"We'll be answering about our role in Vietnam, questions on the race problem, on our election year," she said. "It used to be that the most frequent questions were, 'Why is your divorce rate so high?' and 'Why do Americans eat everything out of cans?'

"I suppose," she continued, "that as we get many of our impressions of Europeans from their movies, they in turn often assess America from what they see on films."

But Mrs. Lang hopes that adults and students, and it is with students that she deals going overseas, will not be on the defensive, but will answer "honestly about what they know, about what they understand."

"I WANT OUR student travelers to say so, if they don't know. If one is asked about the wage of a Mississippi Negro worker, I'd hope he wouldn't brag about America having the highest standard of living in the world, but would say he doesn't know what the Negro earns. Instead, talk honestly of what goes on in his own community."

Mrs. Lang tells her student travelers that customs of other nations may be in sharp contrast to what they're used to in America. She would hope that adult travelers would realize this fact too—"everything does not need to be judged or compared," she said. "They are happy with their ways, as we are with ours."

"I think any tourist should be giving as well as getting," said Mrs. Lang, "not just looking on Europe as a museum but as people."

She adds this advice, often forgotten by the demanding U.S. tourist: "Remember good manners are in style everywhere."

Gertrude Lang, widow of an engineer, has for the past 10 years run Students Abroad, Inc., a New York-based agency which each summer takes groups of junior high schoolers, high schoolers, and college students on six to seven week visits to Europe, concentrating on France, Italy and Spain.

There are numerous organizations specializing in student travel. But Mrs. Lang concentrates on keeping the groups small—not more than 10 in any one contingent "so there's time for pursuit of individual interests and no herding from place to place."

HER PLAN CALLS for part of the time abroad spent right with European families in the small towns so the students get a truer insight into family and community life in another country.

Each group—and she tries to organize them by school level— has a leader, who must be multi-lingual and also well traveled. If a group is coed, a husband-wife team serves as leader.

In Europe, they travel by rail "because that way they can meet other Europeans," stay in student dormitories instead of hotels when not with a family "so they can meet European students," she said.

Students Abroad, Inc. "started small," she said. "The first year, I just took a few students to the places I loved the most," she said. Today, the groups, drawn from all parts of the United States, Canada, and sometimes South America, add up to about 100 travelers.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Wise Flexibility Is The Key To Raising The Children Properly

DEAR HELEN:

My mother's favorite phrase is "Don't argue." Everything has to be done by rules. Sometimes those rules don't make sense, and I try to point that out, very politely, using logic and all that jazz. No soap. Don't tell me to go to my father because he just says, "Don't argue with your mother."

Here's a small sample, one of many. We just got an automatic dishwasher. It says plainly on the instructions that you only need to wipe off the scraps under running water, the washer will do the rest. But my mother insists that I have a whole sink full of suds, wash each dish, then put it in the machine. What's the use of buying an automatic dishwasher, if you still do it by hand?

She goes by rules that were old-fashioned 25 years ago. Dad knows they're wrong, but he won't get involved. Maybe the dishwasher isn't so bad, but how about her basing everything on age? Like:

I had to be exactly 13½ before I could get a bra, and I went around stoop shouldered for five months.

On the day I was 14, I was allowed to wear light lipstick and nail polish. I had to wait until I was 14½ to shave my legs, though I looked like an ape in nylons or a swim suit. Oh yes, hylons, for dress-up only, came when I was 14. Boys? I must wait until I'm exactly 16 to have my first date. By that time, all the fellas will have given up trying.

And how can you ever win, when you're stopped before you start with "Don't argue!" — SILENT MUTINY

DEAR SILENT:

I printed your letter — actually a composite of many — for one reason: so that I could tear into "cop out" fathers who know their wives are wrong but won't get involved. "Don't argue with your mother" in most cases means, "Leave me alone, I'd rather read the newspaper."

So why shouldn't a teen argue, when he or she has a good arguing point? Parents who won't listen might as well be Androids, programmed to one response and incapable of human giving.

Too often mothers bog down on age plateaus, not realizing that children mature differently. If fathers go along with unreasonable rules, simply because they're lazy, they'll get the respect they deserve — which is none!

P.S. Suds-washing dishes before they go into the automatic washer is a silly waste of time; and if a girl's legs need shaving, even at age 12, what's the harm? Likewise, if she needs a bra, she should have one, no matter how early she matures. Boy friends? It depends on the boy and the girl, not primarily on the age.

Wise flexibility is the key to raising kids, and it takes both parents to maintain a proper balance. Hang in there, pop!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

So many of the popular records nowadays plug drugs and dope. Why don't the record companies put out some equal time platters, telling, in words the kids will dig, about how dumb it is to pop pills, smoke pot and try acid? — FOR EQUAL TIME

DEAR FET:

Good idea — but these equal time records would have to be as low-key and insidious as the pro-drug beat. Otherwise the kids would holler brain-washing and laugh them off the airwaves.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Child Spacing Not Successful

American women haven't been very successful in having the number of children they want, when they want them. One-third of women surveyed in a national fertility study in 1965 said they already had at least one unwanted child, report Profs. Norman Ryder of the University of Wisconsin and Charles Westoff of Princeton University. More than half the women who did want another child reported that this pregnancy came at an undesired time, the sociologists say. But fuller exposure to "the pill" may well change the birth control statistics, Prof. Ryder says.

Bacteria

It's not the easily seen dirt on children's or adults' hands, but the unseen disease-producing bacteria that are a greater health hazard. To be really effective against bacteria, hand washing should be thorough and often.

Skin Cleanser May Beat Soap For Baby

Are soap and water best for newborn babies? An antibacterial skin cleanser containing 3 per cent hexachlorophene (pHisoHex) is better, a medical study proved. Daily washing with it is the best way to reduce bacteria on infants' skin, Dr. I. Sarkany, Royal Free Hospital in London, reports in Lancet, a British medical journal.

Fifty babies were washed with the hexachlorophene solution and 32 with soap and water. The pHisoHex-treated infants showed significantly fewer staphylococci on the skin, after eight days of observation. Regular long-continued use is said to be most effective, the article notes. The effect of hexachlorophene is cumulative.

ON THE AGENDA

Mexican Fiesta Party Planned Outside By Sunny Hill's Juniors

"Fiesta in Mexico" is the theme for the Sunny Hills Junior Auxiliary spring event. The party will be held in the gardens of Maple Lawn in San Rafael on Saturday, from 5 to 8 p.m.

Colorful tables decorated with paper flowers will carry out the Mexican theme. Mexican music will be played throughout the evening by a trio.

There will be a fashion show with members modeling; Mesdames Kenneth Fuller, George DeUrioste, Henry Wilks, Rafael Dufficy III, V. N. Fulton, Kleve Johnson, Gilbert Powers, John Dakin, Richard Dakin and Paul Erickson. Five husbands of members will model: Messrs. George DeUrioste, Henry Wilks, Kleve Johnson, James Lill and Kenneth Treganowen.

Carter B. Smith will be master of ceremonies.

Beer and hors d'oeurves will be furnished throughout the evening.

The fund raising event will benefit the Sunny Hills Home. Reservations chairman is Mrs. V. N. Fulton.

Committee members are chairman Mesdames John Robinson; Wallace Sheehan Jr., James Crittenden, Edward Delger, David Dooley, Edward Shelton, V. N. Fulton, and Harold Marquis Jr.

MRS. IRVING HOBBS has been chosen by the members of Court Saint Raphael 1406, Catholic Daughters of America, as nominee in the state-wide contest which will select the California Catholic Daughter Woman of the Year. The state winner will be announced at the awards banquet on May 24, during the state convention in Sacramento.

Nora Hobbs is currently historian (recording and corresponding secretary) of the court as well as chairman of the World Missions group. She has an active interest and participation in other church, civic and community affairs, which provide a wide range of benefits not only to the young but also to senior citizens.

THURSDAY EVENING at 8 o'clock, parents and friends of Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo are invited to "A Cook's Tour of Cook" in the school auditorium. Charles Lavaroni, principal, will narrate a series of color slides showing some of the activities at the school during the past year. They will attempt to show the curriculum areas covered within the school, the individualized instruction now being stressed and the new volunteer program in which parents are becoming directly involved with learning activities at the school.

There will be an informal question and answer period following the slides. The new officers of the Parent-Teacher Association will be elected and installed.

A FILM OF the yacht race of the Ondine from Buenos Aires to Rio will be shown at the San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere, Thursday. W. B. Clum of Belvedere, who crewed on the yacht during the race in February will narrate the film. The Ondine is a new 73 foot ketch owned by Sumner A. Long of New York.

The program will be a highlight of an informal club dinner, which will begin with cocktails at 6 p.m., dinner at 7 p.m. Mike Shea is chairman.

MEMBERS OF Mill Valley's Blythedale Rebekah Lodge 305 will celebrate the lodge's 60th anniversary following Thursday's 8 p.m. meeting in the Mill Valley Odd Fellows Temple.

MRS. IRVING HOBBS

MRS. ALAN D. EWEN will take over the duties of president of Mill Valley's Outdoor Art Club from Mrs. J. Paul Hurd at the closing day luncheon Thursday at noon. Mark Salkind will present the program, "Baroque Oboe."

MARIN COUNTY Panhellenic women are invited to attend the quarterly meeting of the Northern California Council of City Panhellenics on Thursday at Sabella's Mill Valley. Luncheon will be served at noon. Marin County Panhellenic will host the meeting which will be attended by representatives from Northern California Panhellenics from Visalia north to Redding. Mrs. Daniel F. Deedy, former member of the board of trustees of the College of Marin, will speak.

Reservations chairmen are Mrs. Edward J. Russ, Box 976, Ross, and Mrs. Herbert Rowland, 4 Inverness Drive, San Rafael.

Enchanted Knolls Is Victor On Stop Signs

Despite an hour's debate and a protest petition signed by 280 persons, the Mill Valley City Council last night decided to keep the four-way stop signs at Lomita Drive and East Blithedale Avenue.

Opponents claimed there is no justification for the signs, since Blithedale carries 18,000 cars a day and Lomita fewer than 600.

But Councilman Rodric L. Robinson defended the signs as needed so pedestrians can cross and Enchanted Knolls drivers can enter Blithedale traffic.

City Engineer Stanley M. Bala said there is no engineering justification for the signs, but said traffic now flows better than before the signs were installed. Blithedale narrows to two lanes just past the stop signs for freeway-bound traffic.

The eventual solution, the council indicated, will be traffic lights at the nearby Camino Alto intersection after Camino Alto is realigned. Traffic lights cost some $20,000 an intersection, however, and are not now planned for the Lomita intersection.

Mill Valley citizens have five major complaints, Councilman Robert H. Andresen advised the council in reporting what he was told during the recent election campaign.

Major complaints, he said, are dogs running loose, lack of street lighting, lack of signs to guide tourists through town to Muir Woods and Mount Tamalpais, hippie problems, and the failure of Clearview Cable Systems to deliver cable TV to all of Mill Valley.

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke said he had heard complaints about dogs, street lights and hippies. There is surprisingly little complaint about property taxes, he said, most persons apparently being resigned to them.

Planning Commissioner Robert E. Burton, an unsuccessful candidate for the council, said he heard many complaints that citizens can't find out from city hall who is responsible for certain problems such as drainage or flooding.

Some of the complaints may be solved already. Mayor Dean M. Meyer said street lights removed in the new lighting program have been replaced pending review of the entire program.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said cable TV should cover all the city by the end of June.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Granville L. Beedle said the chamber is working with the city planning department to produce signs for the Muir Woods-mountain route.

The council asked Police Chief Dan Terzich to bring in a report on hippies loitering downtown. Council George Wickham recommended hippie control through ordinances on littering, curfew, and zoning.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

MIME TROUPE — Agreed not to fight further the court order granting the San Francisco Mime Troupe permission to perform June 8-9 in Old Mill Park. Meyer said he has seen the troupe perform since the council denied permission, and came away unscathed. "We've made a mountain of a molehill," he said. Andresen said his objection was that an outside group "could come in and prostitute our parks for a a few bucks."

ALTO SEWERS — Approved a plan for a new sewer service contract with Alto Sanitary District. Cost sharing for sewage treatment plant bonds will be based on assessed valuation; construction and maintenance costs will be based on number of sewer connections, and the district will share plant operating costs based on number of connections.

Alto district directors rejected a similar contract proposal earlier and the old contract, with costs based on valuation, expired May 10. A copy of the new contract will be sent to Alto directors.

HOTEL TAX — Passed, under emergency ordinance procedure, a 5 per cent hotel tax, striking provisions that would apply it to apartment houses.

HIGH SCHOOL-TIDELANDS — Approved zoning for the high school-tidelands annexation area of 137 acres. Zoning is open area for Tamalpais High School grounds, commercial-recreational for the Bothin parcels and the small craft harbor, and general commercial for the area along Highway 101 frontage road. Annexation, initiated three years ago, has been held up by a lawsuit but will take effect on receipt of final legal papers.

LEGISLATION — Agreed to support a bill ending the requirement that prevailing wages be printed with legal publication of public works project notices.

APPOINTMENTS — Approved appointment of Ivan S. Poutiatine to the architectural advisory committee, Linda Withseidelin to the art commission, and Edward H. Dill to the board of permit appeals. Reappointed to the board of permit appeals were Fred S. Bitgood, Jesper Strandgaard, James Tawns and Vasilios B. Choulos.

MARINES — Issued a proclamation urging support of the Marine Reserve civilian assistance program, raising funds for Vietnamese civilians in the northern provinces of South Vietnam.

SEPTIC TANKS — Authorized permits for spetic tank repair or replacement of 766, 768 and 800 Lovell Avenue, pending completion of sewer service plans for the area.

SIDEWALKS — Set a June 3 public hearing for sidewalk improvements at 239 Miller Avenue and at Sunnyside Avenue and El Paseo.

HARBOR — Held to June 3 a detailed report on the city's proposed yacht harbor lease with Paul B. Fischer.

WAR ON POVERTY — Agreed to ask for representation on the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

BUDGET — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. today for budget review.

Children's Art Being Displayed

The third annual children's art show sponsored by the Marshall Community Club is on display through May at the Marin County Library at the Civic Center.

The show features 130 entries by Tomales Bay Elementary School children and includes prize winning work selected at a judging held recently at the Marshall art gallery.

Trophies were awarded on May 12 to John Mitchell Jr. of Tomales, first grade student; De Terry Gray of Tomales, third grade; Debbie Harris of Fallon, fourth grade, and Shepard Tucker of Dillon Beach, fourth grade.

Dance Recital

The Marin Dance Co-Operative will hold its annual recital from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the San Clemente School in Larkspur. Students will demonstrate regular classwork and Joan Yost, kindergarten and preschool art instructor, will conduct a banner-making project before the recital starts.

Scene Contest Slated At College

High schools from Marin and San Francisco counties will compete in a Shakespearian scene competition May 31 and June 1, at 7:30 p.m. at the College of Marin.

The schools will do scenes up to 20 minutes in length. Among the high schools in competition will be Tamalpais, Redwood, San Domenico, Sir Francis Drake, San Rafael, St. Peter Chanel Seminary and Lowell and Lincoln.

The competition is being sponsored by the College of Marin and the Marin Shakespeare Festival.

Trustees Split, Hold Bonner's Present Pay

Oliver Bonner, director of maintenance and operations at Tamalpais High School District whose salary has been criticized both for its amount and the manner it was reached, last night was hired for next year at the same income.

The proposal was passed by the district board by a 3-2 vote, with trustees Bette C. Wallace and Gloria W. Melbostad objecting that the $18,120 annual salary is still too high for the required qualifications.

RAISE DEBATED

The alternative discussed during the meeting, however, was whether to increase it to $18,900 annually, a hike recommended to the board by James L. Fitzgerald, district personnel director.

Motion for such increase was made by trustee William B. Lewis, but died without a second. Trustee Berton C. Jacobson then moved for keeping the salary unchanged next year, and the 3-2 vote was taken.

"The salary was established too high too early and I think we should coast on it a while," said Jacobson.

RECORD QUERIED

Bonner's pay has been the subject of concern since Mrs. Melbostad reported at the March 18 meeting that she could find no record of salary increases for Bonner, although his pay had risen from $10,932 per year in 1963-64 to the present $18,120 amount.

Later, it was found that minutes of a 1966 board meeting made no mention of a $349-a-month raise for Bonner when they were sent to the county superintendent of schools office.

PAY COMPARED

The board subsequently requested Fitzgerald to make a salary study of comparable posts in other districts. His report last night was the result of such a study in six other school districts and concluded that the district maintenance and operation director assumes the same work, difficulty of decision, and complexity of duties and administrative responsiblities as assistant and deputy superintendents of operations in other districts.

He then recommended the 4.5 per cent salary hike for 1968-69.

Mrs. Melbostad commented that some of the report's comparitive figures did not match ones that she has obtained. Fitzgerald said the figures were the latest possible, that they all were obtained within the past three weeks.

Voting to retain Bonner's pay as is were Lewis, Jacobson, and Dr. John C. Siemens, president.

Marin Youths To Give Play At Teen Dinner

The Azarian Teen Players of St. Raphael's Catholic Church, San Rafael, will present its production of "Pleasant Place" at the Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken Youth Award banquet at 6 p.m. tomorrow at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco.

For the third consecutive year, the group has won first place in the Northern California Catholic Youth Organization musical contest and for the third time has been invited to be the feature entertainment at the archbishop's youth banquet.

The musical comedy was written and directed by Rev. Miles O'Brien Riley of St. Raphael's.

San Geronimo High School Costs Trimmed By Board

Modified plans for the proposed San Geronimo High School — which will trim $298,000 from the cost estimate included in a defeated bond issue proposal last October — won unanimous approval of the Tamalpais High School District Board last night.

The plan approved sets cost at $4,175,000 for an 800-student school, to be included in a $9,900,500 bond issue now scheduled for the Nov. 5 general election. The proposal was once set for the June primary but was postponed after a citizen bond committee raised questions over the cost figures.

The $4,175,000 compares with $4,473,000 proposed for the San Geronimo Valley school in the bond issue that drew 59.7 per cent "yes" votes — short of the necessary two-thirds approval — last Oct. 10.

It is $716,600 below a subsequent estimate by architects Gromme and Priestly which allowed for another year's inflation of costs.

The intial proposal last year envisioned a high school which could eventually be expanded to 1,500 students, but the figure covered development only for 800. The revised plan eliminates expansion factors.

The architects reported last night that working plans will be completed in about three months.

The November bond issue also will include funds for an 800-student high school in Tiburon, scaled down from an 1,150-student plan which was included in the $12,315,000 bond issue proposal last year.

Confusion over the cost figures led the board to order a special audit by Peat, Marish, Mitchell and Co. of San Francisco into architectural fees paid Gromme and Priestley. A progress report was received from the auditors last night, but the audit has not yet been completed.

To meet immediate expansion needs, the board last night accepted the lowest of four bidders, Speed Space Inc., of Santa Rosa, to provide three portable classrooms for Sir Francis Drake High School on a lease basis of $25,670 for two years or $38,740 for four years.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

BOND ISSUE — Endorsed the $510,000 bond issue of San Anselmo School District which will be on the June 4 ballot.

HIRED — Employed Laurence David Moyer of Burlingame as a business education teacher at Tamalpais High School. Salary is to be determined.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations of DeVere L. Day, Tamalpais High School science teacher, who is retiring, and Laurie L. LeDuc, Drake High teacher, who is joining the Peace Corps.

LEAVE — Granted an 11-day leave of absence to Margaret Schaulis, physical education teacher at Redwood High School, to attend Olympic games in Mexico City Oct. 18.

ASSIGNMENT — Granted the request of Donald Kreps, Redwood High principal for a three-week special assignment June 16 to visit the American Field Service Program while he is in Germany this summer.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS — Attended a 7 p.m. session at Tamalpais High School for a report on the district's compensatory education program. Tamalpais High Scool projects involved are federal and state funded programs for underprivileged students, and mathematics instruction for students needing special work.

Drama Awards To Be Given On May 29

The annual College of Marin drama awards banquet will be held at 7 p.m. May 29 at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

Awards will be presented to the best actor and actress, best supporting actor and actress, best minor role actor and actress, best minor role actor and actress, best technician, most outstanding contribution to drama and the orders of the Golden Screw. Winners will be selected from students participating in this year's drama productions.

Helen Hayes Wins Drama Desk Award

NEW York (AP) — The Drama Desk's first award for the best performance by a player in a repertory company has gone to Helen Hayes, who is appearing in the APA-Phoenix Repertory revival of "The Show-Off."

The Drama Desk, composed of more than 100 drama critics and editors, announced yesterday a number of awards for "outstanding achievement in the Off Broadway theater" for the 1967-68 season.

Trustees Set Suspensions Protest Talks

A closed session to hear complaints of parents of Sir Francis Drake High School students suspended for leaving classes without permission to attend an antiwar rally was scheduled last night by the Tamalpais High School District board.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at district offices, Redwood High School.

The board then also agreed that a five-member steering committee should be organized to make a study of the district's disciplinary policies. It named Dr. Ellen Binckley of Mill Valley as acting chairman and agreed she should nominate the other four members of the committee at the 8 p.m. meeting of the board on June 3.

"This is a study of disciplinary policies and they (the committee) may find out that they (district policies) aren't too bad," said Dr. John C. Siemens, president.

A wave of parental discontent with the suspensions of 47 students by the school resulted in last night's action. Parents have asked the district to cancel the suspensions and give the disciplined students the opportunity to make up their school work.

The board agreed that parents of all students involved should be sent letters, and those wishing to appear before the board during the closed session should notify the board in advance.

"This is for those parents who have a specific complaint about the disciplinary action," said Dr. Siemens.

The Community Relations Council on May 15 had recommended that the problem be left in the hands of the school and that the board consider holding a session with dissatisfied parents.

The students antiwar rally was held in San Rafael on April 26.

'Bach To Pops' Concert Theme

"Bach to Pops" is the theme of the annual concert of the Larkspur-Corte Madera School District's band and orchestra concert at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Henry C. Hall School.

Student Paul Tickker will be cello soloist with the orchestra and a trumpet tango will be performed by Dave Tickker, Doug Snyder, Scott Baker, Tim Marshall and Jeff Conrad.

The Charles A. Linnell Award of a $50 music scholarship will be presented to a student at the concert.

Labor Group Sticks With Arrigoni Vote

Organized Marin County labor last night rejected an attempt by some members to overturn its previous endorsement of Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. for supervisor.

Friends of Arrigoni's opponent, incumbent Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, arranged the meeting of the Committee On Political Education in the Marin County Labor Council's San Rafael headquarters, but they could not budge the committee from its May 2 endorsement of Arrigoni.

More than two-thirds of the 48 delegates at the 90-minute closed meeting voted to reaffirm their previous endorsement, reported Lloyd C. Brooks, secretary-treasurer of COPE. The vote was by secret ballot, he said.

COPE is an arm both of the arin County Labor Council and of the Marin County Building Trades Council, and represents union locals with a membership of over 10,000.

Asked why the meeting had been called, council president Charkes B. Weers told the Independent-Journal "there were a few persons that wanted a change." He did not identify them.

Kettenhofen, commenting roday on the results of the meeting, said he regretted "that partisan politics have gotten into this nonpartisan supervisorial race." Kettenhofen is a Republican. Arrigoni is a Democrat.

Missing Banker Found, Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The body of a bank executive sought for nearly a month in connection with the embezzlement of $22,000 was found in the basement of Letterman General Hospital, police reported yesterday.

Officers said Walter Knight Smith, 41, employed by the Pacific National Bank, apparently committed suicide in the storage area under the hospital emergency room by wrapping a plastic bag around his head. The body was found Saturday.

Smith, a retired naval petty officer, had been with the bank since September, 1964, and was operations assistant when he was indicted April 3 on six counts of misapplication of the bank's funds.

Bay United Crusade's Goal Up 13 Per Cent

United Bay Area Crusade's 1968 campaign goal will be $16.5 million for support of the 176 affiliated community agencies.

Goal-setting by the UBAC board of directors, made up of volunteers from Marin, San Francisco, Contra Costa, Alameda and San Mateo counties, came yesterday at the Kaiser Center in Oakland.

The $16.5 million is nearly $2 million or 13 per cent more than was raised last fall in voluntary contributions throughout the five counties.

Marin United Crusade volunteers serving on the board said the record high figure of $16.5 million is bases on examination by more than 300 budget-program volunteers of the press ing problems of minority groups, juvenile and other delinquents, the aged, the sick, the handicapped, the servicemen and war veterans and others whose needs are not being met.

Lawrence A. Mayer of Mill Valley is a UBAC vice president and chairman of the Marin trustees. Mrs. E. Gould Ingram of Belvedere is Marin vice chairman.

Benjamin A. Biaggini, UBAC president and president of Southern Pacific, reviewed Crusade's plans for the expanded work-recreation program this summer; the recent inventory of UBAC agencies' relief facilities in case of civil outbreak and the "new directions" evaluation of agencies which is now in progress.

Jail, Probation On Marijuana Count

Daniel P. Smith, 20, was given a 90-day county jail term and placed on two years probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court for marijuana possession.

Smith, of Marin City, had pleaded guilty April 22 to having the marijuana on March 28. He was arrested at home after his mother told sheriff's deputies she believed he was using drugs.

Turner, Storer Speak On Sunday

Congressional candidate William W. Turner and supervisorial candidate Thomas T. Storer will speak at a coffee at 8 p.m. Sunday at the home of Jeanne Knakal, 30 El Portal, Ssuaalito.

Turner is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Sixth Congressional District representative, and Storer is running for re-election as Fourth District supervisor.

Readak makes speed reading easier

"Technical papers, textbooks and research notes just don't pile up any more," says Dave Kendall. "Not since Readak showed me how to stay ahead.

Dave Kendall majors in aeronautical engineering at San Jose State College.

"I need flying time for a commercial pilot's license," he says. "Readak's methods help me keep up my grades and spend more hours in the air."

Dave has logged about 150 hours flying time on his private pilot's license.

Any college sophomore can tell you why you need average reading speeds of 400 to 500 words per minute to keep up in college.

"Poor reading habits drag you down — in or out of school," Dave says. "You've got to know when and how to shift gears and skim 3,000 to 4,000 words a minute."

He made the Dean's list after he finished his Readak course.

Today's leaders have discovered rapid and effective reading helps them succeed.

Readak experts show college athletes, medical students, class presidents, training directors, lawyers, teachers, scientists and many others new ways to read two, three or even four times faster.

Since 1957, Readak methods have been studied by more than 100,000 students at NASA Ames Research Center, Santa Clara University, Stanford Research Institute, Notre Dame College, Ampex and over 300 other major schools and industries.

"You start using Readak methods right away," Dave says. Hand-pacing, critical reading, skimming, scanning, overviewing, pre-reading, outlining, technical reading, memorizing and vocabulary building techniques make it easy to save reading time.

Today you can make the decision that could change your entire way of doing things.

This summer, break through your reading barriers at Readak. In Readak's small classes you'll learn how to select and use your best reading speed for every purpose. Reading becomes a minor challenge — not a crushing burden.

Start with our free, nationally-standardized reading test. It shows you where you stand. It tells us exactly what special training you need. If you don't take the Readak program, there's no charge for the test.

Our first summer sessions are already filling up. You can still pick the time that suits your summer schedule best:

Session 1
Tuesday/Thursday June 19 thru July 18
Session 2
Monday/Wednesday July 8 thru Aug. 7
Session 3
Tuesday/Thursday July 23 thru Aug. 22
Session 4
Monday/Wednesday Aug. 12 thru Sept. 11

Classes meet from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on scheduled dates. Daytime classes are also offered.

Ask today for our free brochure. Now is the best time to make your free test appointment, also. Just phone 388-2993. Ask for Mrs. Swett or Mrs. Howsman.

$25.00 easier.

Now Readak costs you less. $95 to be exact.

Surprised?

Maybe you should be.

Other speed reading courses demand $150, $175, $200 and even more. But Readak's program was a real bargain at $120 for many years.

And now you can get Readak's excellent and successful speed reading program for $25 less.

We've changed one thing. The tuition.

Only your budget could possibly notice that.

Enchanted Knolls Is Victor On Stop Signs

Despite an hour's debate and a protest petition signed by 280 persons, the Mill Valley City Council last night decided to keep the four-way stop signs at Lomita Drive and East Blithedale Avenue.

Opponents claimed there is no justification for the signs, since Blithedale carries 18,000 cars a day and Lomita fewer than 600.

But Councilman Rodric L. Robinson defended the signs as needed so pedestrians can cross and Enchanted Knolls drivers can enter Blithedale traffic.

City Engineer Stanley M. Bala said there is no engineering justification for the signs, but said traffic now flows better than before the signs were installed. Blithedale narrows to two lanes just past the stop signs for freeway-bound traffic.

The eventual solution, the council indicated, will be traffic lights at the nearby Camino Alto intersection after Camino Alto is realigned. Traffic lights cost some $20,000 an intersection, however, and are not now planned for the Lomita intersection.

Mill Valley citizens have five major complaints, Councilman Robert H. Andresen advised the council in reporting what he was told during the recent election campaign.

Major complaints, he said, are dogs running loose, lack of street lighting, lack of signs to guide tourists through town to Muil Woods and Mount Tamalpais, hippie problems, and the failure of Clearview Cable Systems to deliver cable TV to all of Mill Valley.

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke said he had heard complaints about dogs, street lights and hippies. There is surprisingly little complaint about property taxes, he said. most persons apparently being resigned to them.

Planning Commissioner Robert E. Burton, an unsuccessful candidate for the council, said he heard many complaints that citizens can't find out from city hall who is responsible for certain problems such as drainage or flooding.

Some of the complaints may be solved already. Mayor Dean M. Meyer said street lights removed in the new lighting program have been replaced pending review of the entire program.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said cable TV should cover all the city by the end of June.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Granville L. Beedle said the chamber is working with the city planning department to produce signs for the Muir Woods-mountain route.

The council asked Police Chief Dan Terzich to bring in a report on hippies loitering downtown. Council George Wickham recommended hippie control through ordinances on littering, curfew, and zoning.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

MIME TROUPE — Agreed not to fight further the court order granting the San Francisco Mime Troupe permission to perform June 8-9 in Old Mill Park. Meyer said he has seen the troupe perform since the council denied permission, and came away unscathed. "We've made a mountain of a molehill," he said. Andresen said his objection was that an outside group "could come in and prostitute our parks for a a few bucks."

ALTO SEWERS — Approved a plan for a new sewer service contract with Alto Sanitary District. Cost sharing for sewage treatment plant bonds will be based on assessed valuation; construction and maintenance costs will be based on number of sewer connections, and the district will share plant operating costs based on number of connections.

Alto district directors rejected a similar contract proposal earlier and the old contract, with costs based on valuation, expired May 10. A copy of the new contract will be sent to Alto directors.

HOTEL TAX — Passed, under emergency ordinance procedure, a 5 per cent hotel tax, striking provisions that would apply it to apartment houses.

HIGH SCHOOL-TIDELANDS — Approved zoning for the high school-tidelands annexation area of 137 acres. Zoning is open area for Tamalpais High School grounds, commercial-recreational for the Bothin parcels and the small craft harbor, and general commercial for the area along Highway 101 frontage road. Annexation, initiated three years ago, has been held up by a lawsuit but will take effect on receipt of final legal papers.

LEGISLATION — Agreed to support a bill ending the requirement that prevailing wages be printed with legal publication of public works project notices.

APPOINTMENTS — Approved appointment of Ivan S. Poutiatine to the architectural advisory committee, Linda With-Seidelin to the art commission, and Edward H. Dill to the board of permit appeals. Reappointed to the board of permit appeals were Fred S. Bitgood, Jesper Strandgaard, James Tawns and Vasilios B. Choulos.

MARINES — Issued a proclamation urging support of the Marine Reserve civilian assistance program, raising funds for Vietnamese civilians in the northern provinces of South Vietnam.

SEPTIC TANKS — Authorized permits for spetic tank repair or replacement of 766, 768 and 800 Lovell Avenue, pending completion of sewer service plans for the area.

WAR ON POVERTY — Agreed to ask for representation on the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

BUDGET — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. today for budget review.

Children's Art Being Displayed

The third annual children's art show sponsored by the Marshall Community Club is on display through May at the Marin County Library at the Civic Center.

The show features 130 entries by Tomales Bay Elementary School children and includes prize winning work selected at a judging held recently at the Marshall art gallery.

Trophies were awarded on May 12 to John Mitchell Jr. of Tomales, first grade student; De Terry Gray of Tomales, third grade; Debbie Harris of Fallon, fourth grade, and Shepard Tucker of Dillon Beach, fourth grade.

Dance Recital

The Marin Dance Co-Operative will hold its annual recital from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the San Clemente School in Larkspur. Students will demonstrate regular classwork and Joan Yost, kindergarten and preschool art instructor, will conduct a banner-making project before the recital starts.

Scene Contest Slated At College

High schools from Marin and San Francisco counties will compete in a Shakespearian scene competition May 31 and June 1, at 7:30 p.m. at the College of Marin.

The schools will do scenes up to 20 minutes in length. Among the high schools in competition will be Tamalpais, Redwood, San Domenico, Sir Francis Drake, San Rafael, St. Peter Chanel Seminary and Lowell and Lincoln.

The competition is being sponsored by the College of Marin and the Marin Shakespeare Festival.

Trustees Split, Hold Bonner's Present Pay

Oliver Bonner, director of maintenance and operations at Tamalpais High School District whose salary has been criticized both for its amount and the manner it was reached, last night was hired for next year at the same income.

The proposal was passed by the district board by a 3-2 vote, with trustees Bette C. Wallace and Gloria W. Melbostad objecting that the $18,120 annual salary is still too high for the required qualifications.

RAISE DEBATED

The alternative discussed during the meeting, however, was whether to increase it to $18,900 annually, a hike recommended to the board by James L. Fitzgerald, district personnel director.

Motion for such increase was made by trustee William B. Lewis, but died without a second. Trustee Berton C. Jacobson then moved for keeping the salary unchanged next year, and the 3-2 vote was taken.

"The salary was established too high too early and I think we should coast on it a while," said Jacobson.

RECORD QUERIED

Bonner's pay has been the subject of concern since Mrs. Melbostad reported at the March 18 meeting that she could find no record of salary increases for Bonner, although his pay had risen from $10,932 per year in 1963-64 to the present $18,120 amount.

Later, it was found that minutes of a 1966 board meeting made no mention of a $349-a-month raise for Bonner when they were sent to the county superintendent of schools office.

PAY COMPARED

The board subsequently requested Fitzgerald to make a salary study of comparable posts in other districts. His report last night was the result of such a study in six other school districts and concluded that the district maintenance and operation director assumes the same work, difficulty of decision, and complexity of duties and administrative responsiblities as assistant and deputy superintendents of operations in other districts.

He then recommended the 4.5 per cent salary hike for 1968-69.

Mrs. Melbostad commented that some of the report's comparitive figures did not match ones that she has obtained. Fitzgerald said the figures were the latest possible, that they all were obtained within the past three weeks.

Voting to retain Bonner's pay as is were Lewis, Jacobson, and Dr. John C. Siemens, president.

Marin Youths To Give Play At Teen Dinner

The Azarian Teen Players of St. Raphael's Catholic Church, San Rafael, will present its production of "Pleasant Place" at the Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken Youth Award banquet at 6 p.m. tomorrow at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco.

For the third consecutive year, the group has won first place in the Northern California Catholic Youth Organization musical contest and for the third time has been invited to be the feature entertainment at the archbishop's youth banquet.

The musical comedy was written and directed by Rev. Miles O'Brien Riley of St. Raphael's.

San Geronimo High School Costs Trimmed By Board

Modified plans for the proposed San Geronimo High School — which will trim $298,000 from the cost estimate included in a defeated bond issue proposal last October — won unanimous approval of the Tamalpais High School District Board last night.

The plan approved sets cost at $4,175,000 for an 800-student school, to be included in a $9,900,500 bond issue now scheduled for the Nov. 5 general election. The proposal was once set for the June primary but was postponed after a citizen bond committee raised questions over the cost figures.

The $4,175,000 compares with $4,473,000 proposed for the San Geronimo Valley school in the bond issue that drew 59.7 per cent "yes" votes — short of the necessary two-thirds approval — last Oct. 10.

It is $716,600 below a subsequent estimate by architects Gromme and Priestly which allowed for another year's inflation of costs.

The intial proposal last year envisioned a high school which could eventually be expanded to 1,500 students, but the figure covered development only for 800. The revised plan eliminates expansion factors.

The architects reported last night that working plans will be completed in about three months.

The November bond issue also will include funds for an 800-student high school in Tiburon, scaled down from an 1,150-student plan which was included in the $12,315,000 bond issue proposal last year.

Confusion over the cost figures led the board to order a special audit by Peat, Marish, Mitchell and Co. of San Francisco into architectural fees paid Gromme and Priestley. A progress report was received from the auditors last night, but the audit has not yet been completed.

To meet immediate expansion needs, the board last night accepted the lowest of four bidders, Speed Space Inc., of Santa Rosa, to provide three portable classrooms for Sir Francis Drake High School on a lease basis of $25,670 for two years or $38,740 for four years.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

BOND ISSUE — Endorsed the $510,000 bond issue of San Anselmo School District which will be on the June 4 ballot.

HIRED — Employed Laurence David Moyer of Burlingame as a business education teacher at Tamalpais High School. Salary is to be determined.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations of DeVere L. Day, Tamalpais High School science teacher, who is retiring, and Laurie L. LeDuc, Drake High teacher, who is joining the Peace Corps.

LEAVE — Granted an 11-day leave of absence to Margaret Schaulis, physical education teacher at Redwood High School, to attend Olympic games in Mexico City Oct. 18.

ASSIGNMENT — Granted the request of Donald Kreps, Redwood High principal for a three-week special assignment June 16 to visit the American Field Service Program while he is in Germany this summer.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS — Attended a 7 p.m. session at Tamalpais High School for a report on the district's compensatory education program. Tamalpais High Scool projects involved are federal and state funded programs for underprivileged students, and mathematics instruction for students needing special work.

Drama Awards To Be Given On May 29

The annual College of Marin drama awards banquet will be held at 7 p.m. May 29 at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

Awards will be presented to the best actor and actress, best supporting actor and actress, best minor role actor and actress, best minor role actor and actress, best technician, most outstanding contribution to drama and the orders of the Golden Screw. Winners will be selected from students participating in this year's drama productions.

Helen Hayes Wins Drama Desk Award

NEW York (AP) — The Drama Desk's first award for the best performance by a player in a repertory company has gone to Helen Hayes, who is appearing in the APA-Phoenix Repertory revival of "The Show-Off."

The Drama Desk, composed of more than 100 drama critics and editors, announced yesterday a number of awards for "outstanding achievement in the Off Broadway theater" for the 1967-68 season.

Trustees Set Suspensions Protest Talks

A closed session to hear complaints of parents of Sir Francis Drake High School students suspended for leaving classes without permission to attend an antiwar rally was scheduled last night by the Tamalpais High School District board.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at district offices, Redwood High School.

The board then also agreed that a five-member steering committee should be organized to make a study of the district's disciplinary policies. It named Dr. Ellen Binckley of Mill Valley as acting chairman and agreed she should nominate the other four members of the committee at the 8 p.m. meeting of the board on June 3.

"This is a study of disciplinary policies and they (the committee) may find out that they (district policies) aren't too bad," said Dr. John C. Siemens, president.

A wave of parental discontent with the suspensions of 47 students by the school resulted in last night's action. Parents have asked the district to cancel the suspensions and give the disciplined students the opportunity to make up their school work.

The board agreed that parents of all students involved should be sent letters, and those wishing to appear before the board during the closed session should notify the board in advance.

"This is for those parents who have a specific complaint about the disciplinary action," said Dr. Siemens.

The Community Relations Council on May 15 had recommended that the problem be left in the hands of the school and that the board consider holding a session with dissatisfied parents.

The students antiwar rally was held in San Rafael on April 26.

'Bach To Pops' Concert Theme

"Bach to Pops" is the theme of the annual concert of the Larkspur-Corte Madera School District's band and orchestra concert at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Henry C. Hall School.

Student Paul Tickker will be cello soloist with the orchestra and a trumpet tango will be performed by Dave Tickker, Doug Snyder, Scott Baker, Tim Marshall and Jeff Conrad.

The Charles A. Linnell Award of a $50 music scholarship will be presented to a student at the concert.

Labor Group Sticks With Arrigoni Vote

Organized Marin County labor last night rejected an attempt by some members to overturn its previous endorsement of Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. for supervisor.

Friends of Arrigoni's opponent, incumbent Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, arranged the meeting of the Committee On Political Education in the Marin County Labor Council's San Rafael headquarters, but they could not budge the committee from its May 2 endorsement of Arrigoni.

More than two-thirds of the 48 delegates at the 90-minute closed meeting voted to reaffirm their previous endorsement, reported Lloyd C. Brooks, secretary-treasurer of COPE. The vote was by secret ballot, he said.

COPE is an arm both of the arin County Labor Council and of the Marin County Building Trades Council, and represents union locals with a membership of over 10,000.

Asked why the meeting had been called, council president Charkes B. Weers told the Independent-Journal "there were a few persons that wanted a change." He did not identify them.

Kettenhofen, commenting roday on the results of the meeting, said he regretted "that partisan politics have gotten into this nonpartisan supervisorial race." Kettenhofen is a Republican. Arrigoni is a Democrat.

Missing Banker Found, Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The body of a bank executive sought for nearly a month in connection with the embezzlement of $22,000 was found in the basement of Letterman General Hospital, police reported yesterday.

Officers said Walter Knight Smith, 41, employed by the Pacific National Bank, apparently committed suicide in the storage area under the hospital emergency room by wrapping a plastic bag around his head. The body was found Saturday.

Smith, a retired naval petty officer, had been with the bank since September, 1964, and was operations assistant when he was indicted April 3 on six counts of misapplication of the bank's funds.

Bay United Crusade's Goal Up 13 Per Cent

United Bay Area Crusade's 1968 campaign goal will be $16.5 million for support of the 176 affiliated community agencies.

Goal-setting by the UBAC board of directors, made up of volunteers from Marin, San Francisco, Contra Costa, Alameda and San Mateo counties, came yesterday at the Kaiser Center in Oakland.

The $16.5 million is nearly $2 million or 13 per cent more than was raised last fall in voluntary contributions throughout the five counties.

Marin United Crusade volunteers serving on the board said the record high figure of $16.5 million is bases on examination by more than 300 budget-program volunteers of the press ing problems of minority groups, juvenile and other delinquents, the aged, the sick, the handicapped, the servicemen and war veterans and others whose needs are not being met.

Lawrence A. Mayer of Mill Valley is a UBAC vice president and chairman of the Marin trustees. Mrs. E. Gould Ingram of Belvedere is Marin vice chairman.

Benjamin A. Biaggini, UBAC president and president of Southern Pacific, reviewed Crusade's plans for the expanded work-recreation program this summer; the recent inventory of UBAC agencies' relief facilities in case of civil outbreak and the "new directions" evaluation of agencies which is now in progress.

Jail, Probation On Marijuana Count

Daniel P. Smith, 20, was given a 90-day county jail term and placed on two years probation yesterday in Marin Superior Court for marijuana possession.

Smith, of Marin City, had pleaded guilty April 22 to having the marijuana on March 28. He was arrested at home after his mother told sheriff's deputies she believed he was using drugs.

Readak makes speed reading easier

"Technical papers, textbooks and research notes just don't pile up any more," says Dave Kendall. "Not since Readak showed me how to stay ahead.

Dave Kendall majors in aeronautical engineering at San Jose State College.

"I need flying time for a commercial pilot's license," he says. "Readak's methods help me keep up my grades and spend more hours in the air."

Dave has logged about 150 hours flying time on his private pilot's license.

Any college sophomore can tell you why you need average reading speeds of 400 to 500 words per minute to keep up in college.

"Poor reading habits drag you down — in or out of school," Dave says. "You've got to know when and how to shift gears and skim 3,000 to 4,000 words a minute."

He made the Dean's list after he finished his Readak course.

Today's leaders have discovered rapid and effective reading helps them succeed.

Readak experts show college athletes, medical students, class presidents, training directors, lawyers, teachers, scientists and many others new ways to read two, three or even four times faster.

Since 1957, Readak methods have been studied by more than 100,000 students at NASA Ames Research Center, Santa Clara University, Stanford Research Institute, Notre Dame College, Ampex and over 300 other major schools and industries.

"You start using Readak methods right away," Dave says. Hand-pacing, critical reading, skimming, scanning, overviewing, pre-reading, outlining, technical reading, memorizing and vocabulary building techniques make it easy to save reading time.

Today you can make the decision that could change your entire way of doing things.

This summer, break through your reading barriers at Readak. In Readak's small classes you'll learn how to select and use your best reading speed for every purpose. Reading becomes a minor challenge — not a crushing burden.

Start with our free, nationally-standardized reading test. It shows you where you stand. It tells us exactly what special training you need. If you don't take the Readak program, there's no charge for the test.

Our first summer sessions are already filling up. You can still pick the time that suits your summer schedule best:

Session 1
Tuesday/Thursday June 19 thru July 18
Session 2
Monday/Wednesday July 8 thru Aug. 7
Session 3
Tuesday/Thursday July 23 thru Aug. 22
Session 4
Monday/Wednesday Aug. 12 thru Sept. 11

Classes meet from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on scheduled dates. Daytime classes are also offered.

Ask today for our free brochure. Now is the best time to make your free test appointment, also. Just phone 388-2993. Ask for Mrs. Swett or Mrs. Howsman.

$25.00 easier.

Now Readak costs you less. $95 to be exact.

Surprised?

Maybe you should be.

Other speed reading courses demand $150, $175, $200 and even more. But Readak's program was a real bargain at $120 for many years.

And now you can get Readak's excellent and successful speed reading program for $25 less.

We've changed one thing. The tuition.

Only your budget could possibly notice that.

REAGAN FINANCES HIT—Sen. George Miller, D-Martinez, Senate Finance Committee chairman, criticizes Gov. Ronald Reagan's budgeting as having hiked taxes last year to produce a surplus this year. (AP Wirephoto)

Legislators Wrestle Three Tax Trim Ideas

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislators faced three election-year proposals today for giving back to the people some of the record $1 billion tax boost of last year.

The developing debate over property, sales and income taxes overshadowed a scheduled vote by the full Senate today on its version of Gov. Ronald Reagan's $5.7 billion budget.

The latest tax break proposal came from the Republican Reagan, who said the state's financial outlook unexpectedly is so much better than it was in January that it can afford a $35 million income tax cut next year.

But a top Democrat, Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez, quickly criticized the program. "He takes $500 million and gives you beak $35 million. Big deal," Miller told newsmen.

Reagan wants a bill, now stalled in Assembly committee, to allocate $155 million to the 58 county governments to pass on as property tax relief.

If the legislature fails to act by June 15, the state sales tax automatically will drop back by half a per cent, from 5 per cent to 4.5 per cent on July 1.

Miller said he'd be surprised to see the legislature give the money to the counties. He proposed letting the sales tax fall back.

"The best way to give tax relief is to leave the taxpayers' money in the taxpayers' pockets," he said. This would mean $193 million for Californians, he said.

Miller called his news conference yesterday to explain the Senate's version of the budget, approved by his Senate Finance Committee in executive session last week. He said the $5,694,535,673, budget is about $2 million less than Reagan's latest revised budget.

Miller said, "These new administration figures clearly demonstrate that Gov. Reagan has misrepresented the financial condition of the state. All the cries and warnings about financial insolvency are so much hogwash."

Newsmen, Senator Spar Over Secret Budget Vote

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Newsmen were curious this year why reports of Senate Finance Committee subcommittees which examined the proposed budget were received and voted on in closed session, and why the final full committee vote was in secret.

The chairman, Sen. George Miller Jr., D - Martinez, gave them this answer in a good-natured exchange at a news conference yesterday:

NEWSMAN: Senator, why did you accept all these subcommittee reports in executive session this year? Isn't that a departure from past practice?

MILLER: As a matter of fact we didn't even read them in executive session.

NEWSMAN: But the press was never around, or the public . . .

MILLER: We haven't read them in about four years . . .

NEWSMAN: We were always there at your final hearings where you wound up the budget, but we were kept out this time.

MILLER: Are you inferring that there was some attempt to hide something from somebody?

NEWSMAN: All I know, is that you've been meeting in executive session for two or three days around here and we can't get near the committee.

MILLER: I'm here to tell you what we did.

NEWSMAN: Yeah, but why couldn't we have been there to see you do it?

MILLER: Because we didn't want you there . . . That's the only reason. We just felt that we'd get a lot more out of the administration, we can argue with them without ironing it out and screaming about it in public. That's all. We feel we get more done.

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, MAY 21, 1968 19

TIGHT TURN — A Fairfax fireman struggles to get a fire engine out of the firehouse. Because the building was constructed without a front yard setback, the long trucks cannot get out of the building on one turn.

JUNE 4 BALLOT

Fairfax Split On Civic Center Bonds

(Second of Two Articles)

Opposition to Fairfax's proposed $500,000 bond issues for construction of a new city hall and fire station runs high in the town. Supporters are just as vehement, however, that the facilities are the key to the city's future.

Measures B and C on the June 4 ballot ask for $350,000 for the fire station at Bolinas Avenue and Sherman Street and $200,000 for the city hall, which will also house the police department, in Fairfax Park on Bolinas Avenue.

Measure A — the $510,000 San Anselmo school bond issue — will not be voted on in Fairfax.

In placing the two measures on the ballot earlier this year, the 1966-68 city council outlined arguments in support of the new city facilities:

The fire department should be replaced, the council said, because:

The building was constructed in 1926 for a city of 2,000 and the population has since grown to 7,500.

It has only 3,124 square feet of usable space while it needs a gross of 7,002 square feet to function properly.

Only three of the city's four fire engines can fit into the building and they cannot turn out of the building without making complicated maneuvers because the station, a wing of the city hall, does not have driveway space for the long vehicles.

The building is infested with dry rot and termites, according to engineering reports submitted in March 1967 by the state housing office and Engel and Engel, San Rafael civil and structural engineers.

Arguments in support of a new city hall are similar:

The building, constructed in 1941 as an addition to the fire station, shows signs of severe settlement to the point of no longer resting on its foundations in several spots.

It is too small with only 1,467 square feet in usable space when 6,012 square feet are needed, resulting in overcrowding of city employees and the use of a dilapidated tin shed for the storage of police property and evidence.

The building is infested with dry rot and termites.

NO MORE ROOM — Fairfax police officer John Johnson stores another lost bicycle in the already overcrowded tin shed behind the city hall. The shed is used by the police department to store supplies, equipment and lost and found articles. (Independent-Journal photo.)

Opposition to the two bond measures centers around the location of the fire house. Construction of the fire station on private property across the street from the present city hall will disrupt the town, according to Councilman Francis J. O'Connell, spokesman for the opposition. O'Connell was elected to the council in April on a platform which was in part anti-bonds.

Plans to construct a through road by-passing downtown Fairfax for traffic to Deer Park are tied to the fire house construction. O'Connell and others oppose the by-pass. They assert that during its construction downtown businesses will be further disrupted and that, when completed, it will divert traffic away from the business area.

O'Connell wants the new fire station built in Fairfax Park adjacent to the city hall. He also thinks the city hall should be remodeled rather than building a new one.

Supporters of the bond issue, headed by Mrs. Fay Jensen, co-chairman of Taxpayers for Planned Progress, argue that two new buildings located one block nearer downtown Fairfax will provide a focal point to inspire improvements in the business area.

Mrs. Jensen says the by-pass is necessary to get out-of-town visitors to Deer Park without clogging up downtown Fairfax. It should be constructed no matter where the fire station is built, she says.

Finally, the supporters say the new facilities will free more land in Fairfax Park for recreational use.

West Marin Garbage Operator Sues Ex-Manager, Charges Plot

The ex-manager of a West Marin garbage company which temporarily ceased operations was accused in a $100,000 damage suit today of swinging much of the business to a second garbage firm.

The suit — filed in Marin Superior Court by Eugenia Andronis, owner of West Marin-San Geronimo Valley Garbage Disposal Service — accuses her former manager, Dino R. Lucchesi, of providing the other firm with confidential customer information from the Andronis files.

Lucchei then conspired with Lawrence Johnson and Anthony C. Veronda, owners of Larry's Sanitary Service of Santa Rosa, to divert the business of several of Mrs. Andronis's customers to the Santa Rosa firm, the suit charges.

Mrs. Andronis, a Fairfax resident, declared she started her firm in February of 1967, hiring Lucchesi at that time. Last March 1, she said, the conspiracy took place. Her attorney, Robert J. Murphy of San Rafael, said about 100 of her 1,500 customers switched over to the second firm.

The suit asks the $100,000 damages, and for temporary and permanent court orders restraining defendants Lucchesi, Johnson and Veronda from serving Mrs. Andronis' former customers, from soliciting the business of her remaining customers, and from telling her customers that she is going out of business.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner today signed an order temporarily restraining the defendants from soliciting business from any confidential Andronis file, and from representing that Mrs. Andronis is going out of business.

He ordered the defendants to show why a permanent restraining order should not be issued at a 2 p.m. hearing on June 5 in Marin Superior Court.

On May 13, Lucchesi told newsmen a protracted disagreement over management policies caused his severance from the Andronis firm. When he quit, garbage service to the 1,500 homes in West Marin was interrupted for four days until Mrs. Andronis reorganized the company.

Larry's Sanitary Service began serving the area about three months ago.

Draft Class Proponents Organizing

A group of persons who want education about the draft taught in Marin's public high schools will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Co-Op meeting room, Corte Madera.

Mrs. Mary Mosteller of Muir Beach has been serving as temporary chairman of the Marin Council for Draft Education, which plans to approach school boards urging that draft education be made available in the schools.

The council has drawn up a list of persons who would be willing to counsel high school boys on draft laws, both from the standpoint of conscientious objectors and also military recruiters, according to a spokesman for the group.

The council plans to form a permanent organization and expand its membership, according to the spokesman.

Prisoner Dies In Quentin Ward

Northern J. Cook, 34, of Richmond, an inmate at San Quentin Prison, died yesterday in the prison's hospital after a brief illness.

A native of Texas, he was serving a sentence of five years to life for armed robbery in Sacramento County, and was an inmate of the narcotic treatment clinic.

He had been at the prison since February.

School Drug Abuse Program Faces Ending

The Marin County Superintendent of Schools drug abuse education program will have to be abandoned July 1, as state funds are no longer available, according to a report by Asst. County Supt. of Schools Stanley H. Friese.

Friese last night informed the educational services committee of the Marin County Board of Education that funds granted for one year will not be available on a continuing basis, for a countywide program.

$16,000 GRANT

The state granted the project $16,000, which was matched by the same amount from school districts.

School districts will continue to develop their own programs, however, Friese added.

The committee decided to recommend board approval of a revised course of study for 1969, Friese said. Biggest change is a section adding kindergarten education to the course of study for all schools in the county, according to Friese. The previous course of study started with first grade education, with each school district setting up its own kindergarten program.

HIRING ASKED

The committee will recommend board approval to hire Sidney Lester as director of a county-wide social studies project, a pilot program supported by federal funds, Friese said.

Lester was formerly coordinator of the social studies program for the Mount Diablo Unified School District in Contra Costa County.

The board's special education committee last night agreed to recommend board approval for a request from the West Marin Schoo District to establish a class for the educable mentally retarded.

The class, at West Marin School, will serve West Marin, Bolinas-Stinson and Tomales School districts, according to Friese.

AGAINST BILL

The committee also will recommend the board oppose passage of Senate Bill 95, a new finance bill, which Friese reported would seriously curtail state support of special education programs.

Dr. Rudolph Kupfer, coordinator of education for the physically handicapped, reported that every effort is being made to work with Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley, both of San Rafael, to promote Senate Bill 1279. The bill would provide financing for early education of the deaf, beginning at 18 months, Friese said.

Bagley Contends Cosmetics Not Answer To Needs

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, whose bid for re-election is being contested by a cosmetics executive, indulged in a few puns today before a Marin County Federated Republican Women's luncheon at the Marin Country Club in Ignacio.

"There is no magic, and no cosmetic, that can restructure the face of society," said Bagley, "but a deeply concerned and broadly-based Republican Party can and will give needed new leadership to this country this year."

His opponent in the June 4 primary election is Clay Barham, an executive at Holiday Magic in San Rafael.

Bagley promised he would work to elect Republicans to office "from the top to the bottom of the ticket."

Bank Of Marin Asks New Branch

Bank of Marin has applied to the state banking department for permission to establish a second office in San Rafael.

The new branch would be located in the vicinity of Bellam Boulevard and Francisco Boulevard in East Rafael. Executive vice president B. R. Kirchner said no site has yet been chosen. He said it may take from 30 to 60 days before the state banking department acts on the application and if approved, it will be several months more before an opening.

Bank of Marin has its headquarters at Fifth Avenue and B Street, San Rafael and has branches in Novato and Petaluma.

KAPPAS IS FACING LOSS OF BERTHING FACILITY

Wilson Indicates Court Ruling, But More Arguments Scheduled

Real estate broker George Kappas must remove all berthing facilities over underwater county streets unless they are a necessary part of access to his Kappas Yacht Harbor lands at Waldo Point.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson indicated yesterday that this will be his ruling following a court hearing of suits and countersuits by Kappas and the County of Marin in Marin Superior Court. The judge said this means Kappas cannot continue using the streets for commercial berthing.

He said an actual order on the matter will not be made until more details are submitted by attorneys of both sides within the next few weeks, but that it will include provisions that future Kappas Yacht Harbor development must comply with Bay Conservation and Development Commission and Richardson Bay fill ordinance regulations.

Joseph A. Forest, deputy county counsel, said the ruling means that although Kappas can continue use of walkways and other existing floating structures crossing the streets, he must rip out an estimated 150 berthing facilities presently attached to the walkways.

If Kappas doesn't, said Forest, the county will.

The development involves several underwater streets which Judge Wilson has defined as county-owned and public, but centers mainly on portions of Railroad and Donahue avenues and Pescadero Street.

Judge Wilson said walkways may be left intact because "If he (Kappas) were compelled to move all the facilities in the streets, he would be deprived of access to the bayward properties."

But under no conditions, said he, can Kappas continue using the streets for business or commercial reasons such as rental berthing.

The dispute dates back to March 29, 1966, when the county filed suit to oust the harbor from land and water it claimed are county-owned.

Kappas countered three days later with a suit against the county, state, and Bay Conservation and Development Commission, asking the court to permanently restrain them from forcing removal of his harbor from Richardson Bay.

The area involved includes portions of Railroad, Humboldt, Donahue and Petaluma avenues, Manzanita, Madrona, Pescadero, Eureka, Grove and Yuba streets, and Rosedale and Saucelito canals.

Kappas, who was present yesterday with his attorney, Edmund L. Regalia of Oakland, has testified that he placed the yacht harbor in its present location because county planners said in 1957 it should go there. He could not get a use permit to place it closer to Sausalito, he claimed.

He admitted filling and excavating at the harbor from 1964 to 1967 without a county permit but said it was just to keep what he had. He said he filled land to keep a power pole from washing away and excavated near the harbor to allow boats in and out at low tide.

Judge Wilson said his order probably will not require Kappas to remove any of the fill the county has contended was illegal. He also said he is declining to grant the county's request that Kappas be required to pay $500 a month back rent to the county for the harbor property which it claimed is county-owned.

Dystrophy Group Clears Up Error

The Marin Muscular Dystrophy Association said today that cannisters which were distributed without authorization to merchants came from the San Francisco chapter.

Nyal Worsham, a spokesman for the Marin chapter, disclosed this today after reporting to the Independent - Journal yesterday that unauthorized persons had been distributing the cannisters.

Worsham said the cannisters, handed out in Marin by persons who should have distributed them only in San Francisco, would be picked up.

Pleads Innocent To Driving Count

Michael John Ryan, 20, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a felony charge of drunken driving which involved injuries to six persons.

Judge Harold J. Haley then scheduled setting of a trial for the July 29 master calendar.

Ryan, a Treasure Island sailor, is accused of being intoxicated and driving his car across a double line in the Sausalito lateral tunnel under Highway 101 on Nov. 10. The six were injured when his car collided there with another vehicle, police said.

14.6 Acres Rezoned For Apartment Units

A rezoning to permit apartments on a hill between Smith Ranch Road and Las Gallinas Golf Course won the approval of the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

Developer Paul Sade of San Rafael wants to put in two and three-story apartments on 14.6 acres of land, which was zoned agricultural. The commissioners granted rezoning to planned multiple.

The county planning staff suggested that 15 additional acres, comprising the hill slopes around the Sade property, should be rezoned at the same time. However, the planning commission decided not to rezone the second 15 acres since it belongs to another owner, the Smith Brothers.

The rezoning for Sade allows a density of 19 units per gross acres, which means about 280 units.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

GAS STATION — Rejected 4-to-2 a design for a Gulf Oil Corp. service station at Bolinas and Parepa streets, just south of Richardson Bay Bridge. Hugh Dougherty, Michael Praszker, Eugene R. Trombley and William F. Upton rejected Gulf's request because the design and the access did not meet the planning staff's recommendation. Walter F. Freitas and Niels Schultz Jr. voted in favor of Gulf.

PG&E TOWERS — Invited Pacific Gas & Electric Co. officials to the June 10 meeting to explain the 212-foot towers that will cross Petaluma Creek into Marin near Black Point cutoff. Commissioner Michael Praszker said he is worried about these "212-foot monstrosities" and "it behooves us to speak up."

SIGN PERMIT — Denied a sign permit for Dan's Grocery and Liquor Store at 254 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley. The zoning administrator said the store already has more square footage in signs than permitted.

LOT SPLIT — Granted Raymond R. Rediske of 740 Sun Lane, Novato, permission to divide property across the street from his home into two lots without requiring a 10-foot drainage easement. The two new lots would be 14,000 square feet and 13,600 square feet.

LAND DIVISION — Continued until July 22 a request by Melba L. Tucker of 490 Green Glen Way for a division of her property across the street into three lots. Mrs. Tucker and co-owner Richard Drever of Tamalpais Valley said a water system and fire hydrant to meet fire requirements are holding up the land division. The property is over 30,000 square feet in size.

WALDO APARTMENTS — Approved a planned multiple residential zoning on 3.54 acres of land on the east side of Waldo Grade, northeast of Butte Street and southeast of Sacramento Avenue. Alan M. Kay plans to put in up to 78 apartments on the property.

Water District Board To Hear New Land Report

A report on land management will be presented tomorrow to directors of the Marin Municipal Water District.

The board meets at 1:30 p.m. at the district office in Corte Madera.

The report will include historical information on Marin dams and lakes, recreation activities, information on parks adjacent to water district land, future plans of county and stage agencies which could affect district land and a proposed program for land-use management.

The report was prepared by the district's new land use management department, headed by Paul Neese, according to General Mgr. William R. Seeger.

Tam Valley Fire Tower Is Approved

Tamalpais Valley Fire District won the right to build a four-story training tower at the Tamalpais Valley firehouse at 309 Poplar Street at a large meeting of the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

Acting Fire Chief Richard K. Oswald and architect Joe Davis Allen waited patiently from 2:16 p.m., when the item was scheduled, untily 6:30 p.m. when the final decision came. It was worth the wait.

The commissioners voted 5-1, approving a new firehouse and a 40-foot training tower. Oswald, Allen and other officials of the fire district argued that the firehouse site is the only feasible location for the training tower.

County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill had rejected the tower as detrimental to the neighborhood of one-family homes. Cordill said other departments will use the tower for training, and noise from equipment and bullhorns woud not be compatible with residential use.

Commissioner William F. Upton voted against the tower, explaining he is not convinced the tower could not be located elsewhere. But he was outvoted by five of his colleagues.

Burglary, Car Theft Judgment June 17

Judgment for Thomas Lee Hancock, 22, arraigned in Marin Superior Court yesterday on his earlier guilty plea to felony counts of burglary and car theft, was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. June 17.

Hancock, a Treasure Island sailer, burgled the home of William Roumbanis of Terra Linda on April 5, then took one of his cars. Hancock was arrested in San Francisco and pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court last Wednesday.

Mobile Homes Get Preliminary Nod

The Marin County Planning Commission gave preliminary approval yesterday for a development of 1,800 mobile homes on the old Sartori Ranch in Black Point, but failed to agree on plans for a mobile home park on San Marin Drive in Novato.

The $30 million project on the old Sartori Ranch won the go-ahead from the planning commission by 4 to 2 vote.

BACKS AMENDMENT

Commissioners Walter F. Freitas, Niels Schultz Jr., Eugene R. Trombley and Michael Praszker voted for an amendment to the Black Point master plan, as requested by John Kenney and his Alameda Homes Corp.

Commissioners Hugh Dougherty and William F. Upton dissented. Both warned that scale of the mobile home park is so large that its impact on the Black Point area cannot be estimated.

Dougherty said only 900 mobile homes should be provided at first to see how the development works out.

DEADLOCK VOTE

G. E. Sandbach's proposed mobile home park on San Marin Drive in Novato go nowhere, as the planning commission argued to a 3 to 3 deadlock.

Dougherty, Upton and Praszker voted to deny the mobile home zoning, while Freitas, Schultz and Trombley approved. Mrs. Margaret B. Azevedo was absent.

Richard A. Clarke, attorney for Sandbach said that the mobile homes would provide balanced housing in Marin.

Sandbach wants to put in about 60 mobile homes on 11.8 acres of land on the south side of San Marin Drive.

City Mgr. J. Julien Baget announced that the Novato City Council was opposed to the mobile home park because of the inadaptability of the site and terrain.

LOOKS TO FUTURE

Commissioner Praszker warned that, if hills can be graded back to place mobile homes on top, then the commissioner would have to be consistent in the future when hill topping is requested for more expensive homes.

The Black Point master plan amendment approved by the commission yesterday involves 316 acres south of Black Point cutoff and the railroad tracks, east of Simmons Slough, north of Novato Creek, and west of the old Black Point area. Mobile homes would take up 275 acres, marinas would comprise 28 acres and professional-administrative 13 acres. Two large lagoons are planned in the area of the mobile homes.

Kenney plans about 200 mobile homes per year and 50 conventional homes per year for the first four years. Then, in the fifth year, he will start the nucleus of a shopping center at the extension of Atherton Avenue.

Apartments will then be built along the Atherton Avenue extension, close to the shopping area. The strip along Highway 37, from Atherton Avenue southward, would be for professional-administrative offices.

6,000 RESIDENTS

Kenney evisages an overall community of 6,000 persons, and an overall development worth $30 to $40 million.

Attorney E. Warren McGuire and planner David Van Pelt represented Kenney and Alameda Homes in presenting their plans before the planning commission yesteray.

Several residents of Black Point fought the plan, complaining that the mobile homes would be a drain on the economy, would encourage the "Haight-Ashbury type" of resident, and would bring a "trailer city" into an area zoned for one-acre minimum lot.

The planning commission's approval of the plan is contingent on a series of conditions recommended by the planning staff, including proper maintenance of lagoons and landscaping, setting aside sites for schools and other public needs, providing some low-income housing for elderly and tying into an appropriate sanitary district for sewer service.

Baptist Leadership Deplores Prejudice

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Some of the top leaders of the Southern Baptist Convention have signed a manifesto declaring themselves guilty of condoning "prejudices that have damaged the personhood of blacks and whites alike."

The document, released yesterday, was signed by 71 officials of the nation's largest Protestant denomination. It called for creation of a Baptist task force to attack the nation's social problems.

Shingles Catch Fire At Marinwood Home

Embers from the fireplace ignited the roof of a Marinwood home yesterday noon and caused about $500 damage, Fire Chief James W. Cameron reported today.

About 20 square feet of wood shingles burned at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Gehrke, 113 Blackstone Drive.

A neighbor noticed the fire and called the fire department. Chief Cameron and one volunteer, Fred Wood, doused the flames. The Gehrkes' son, Mike, 16 was credited with keeping the fire under control with a garden hose until the fire truck arrived.

"If Mike had not been there with the garden hose, we could have lost the house," said Chief Cameron.

The chief blamed the fire on improper and excessive burning of newspapers in the fireplace. "Anything that is light and fast burning creates a draft that pulls heavier pieces up the chimney, the Chief explained. "My advice is that if you are going to burn paper in the fireplace, burn it slowly, and either twist the papers or wad them up in a ball before burning."

Open Gymkhana, Playday Winners Are Announced

Judy Poole was the high point trophy winner in the 16-and-under junior class and Sky Beffa was high point trophy winner in the over-16 senior class at the annual Open Gymkhana and Playday Sunday at the Pacheco Ranch at 1695 Indian Valley Road, sponsored by Chillson and Homer Troy, drew 153 entries, Mrs. Chilson said.

Judy won first place in the figure eight race and the pole bending. Beffa won first in the key hole race, the figure eight race, the barrel race, and with Ace Brown, took first place in the ribbon race and resuce race.

Other junior winners were Roxanne Raiski, key hole, run and lead and figure eight; and with Cristy Boaivard the two man relay; Jim Poole, barrel race; Vicky Anderson, single stake race and quadrangle stake race.

Alvina Butti and Sue Knauf won the ribbon race and rescue race; and Sandy Poole the peewee race.

Other senior winners were Bud Sumpter in the single stake race; Brown in the figure eight race, Wendy Kramer in the quadrangle stake race and pole bending, and Al Moore and Ken Leslie in the two-man relay.

Four Marinites Into The Army

Marin's Selective Service Board reported today that four young men were inducted into the Army this month.

The board's quota for the month had been seven, reported Mrs. Joy M. Kinzer, executive secretary of Local Board 25.

Inducted were Wilbert Collins of Marin City, David Hutchins of San Rafael, Richard Trial of Fairfax and Warren Alexander of San Francisco, a former Marinite.

The board's quota is seldom reached because of deferments and enlistments among those scheduled for induction.

The June quota is 32, Mrs. Kinzer reported.

Liver Transplant Patient Home

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Randell Wayne Bennett, 2, one of four known survivors of liver transplant operations, has been discharged from the University of Colorado Medical Center.

The curly haired son of Mrs. Sandra Bennett of Mesquite, Tex., is the first liver transplant patient to progress enough to be released.

The youngster underwent surgery Feb. 9, after doctors found he suffered from biliary atresia, the congenital malformation of bile ducts. The ailment often results in death by about the second birthday.

Tiny Tot Program

Signups have started for a tiny tots recreation and crafts program at the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation office. The four-week session will start Monday for children from 3½ to 5 years old.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Paralytic Polio Still Occurs Through Lack Of Immunization

VAN DELLEN

Paralytic poliomyelitis still occurs among unimmunized pre-schoolers. In a small Texas community, of three children who developed polio, one died. Our latest information on the outbreak is that emergency mass immunization clinics have been established in the area. But here again it is the old story about the barn door and the horse.

Prior to the advent of vaccine, we wrote five to six articles a year on polio. Since 1960, when the oral product came out, we have written only seven, and most of these concerned the vaccine.

IN THE PAST, we warned against removing tonsils during the summer when polio was rife. Although the disease never was too common, it seemed so because of the publicity and the fact that the nonparalytic cases were included in the tabulation.

We know now that some of the cases reported as nonparalytic polio were caused by other viruses. This type exhibits symptoms that are indistinguishable from those of a cold. But, unlike the cold, involvement of the nervous system follows — leading to drowsiness, irritability, and stiffness of the next or extremities.

THE PARALYTIC FORM follows the same course except that paralysis usually begins on the third day of the illness. Occasionally, the arms and legs lose their power on the first or second day.

Thousands with the paralytic type were born too soon. They still are undergoing rehabilitation. Some are living in iron lungs or portable respirators.

The oral preventive is so easy to take that it is difficult to understand why a child goes unprotected. Given in capsule form, in milk, candy, or by medicine dropper, it is effective and safe. All infants need it and when they enter school, they need a booster.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

SPIDERS, SCORPIONS

S. B. writes: Last summer newspapers reported that a new spider had made an appearance in the midwestern and southern states. The name escapes me, but I would like to know something about the insect.

REPLY

This was the brown recluse. It is believed that tourists bring home the spider in their luggage. The bite of this insect is comparable to that of the black widow. Our leaflet on scorpions and spiders has more information on the new arrival. A copy can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

VARIES DAILY

B. P. writes: What causes the blood pressure to vary from day to day?

REPLY

Any one of 1,001 external and internal stimuli that affect blood pressure. These excitants vary from thoughts of love to dashing across the street before the light changes.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

City of Larkspur, State of California.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City of Larkspur will receive sealed bids at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Larkspur, California, on or before 3:00 P.M., on the 14th day of June, 1968, for the furnishing of all labor, materials and services required for the following designated project:

Magnolia Avenue Improvements.

Murray Avenue to North City Limits.

Each bid shall be made in accordance with the plans, specifications and contract documents prepared therefor, now on file at the office of the City Clerk, where they may be examined, and copies thereof be obtained upon deposit of $10.00 per set, which deposit will be refunded upon return of such copies in good condition, on or before thirty days after opening of bids. Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished by the City Engineer, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check, currency or bid bond, equal to ten per cent of the aggregate amount of the bid, which amount shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the contract, if awarded him, and will file the contract bonds required within fifteen days after notice that his bid has been accepted.

The City Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any irregularity in any bid received.

Bidders are notified that, pursuant to law, the City Council has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages and rates in the locality in which the work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, and the prevailing rate so determined is set forth in Exhibit A of Plans, Specifications and Contract Documents. It shall be mandatory that all persons employed in the execution of the contract be paid not less than said specific wages and rates, and that existing labor agreements relative to overtime, holidays, and other special provisions, be recognized.

Bids received by the City Clerk will be opened and read publicly at the time, date and place above specified, and will thereafter be tabulated and submitted to the City Council for consideration.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
BID No. 282

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education, governing body of the San Rafael City School District, State of California, will receive bids for the construction of a storm water pumping station and related drainage facilities at the site of the Glenwood Middle School near the intersection of Main Drive and San Pedro Road in San Rafael, California. Each bid or proposal to be in accordance with plans, drawings, specifications, and other contract documents now on file in the Office of the Superintendent of Schools, for said school district, in the Administration Building, "E" Street at Third Street, San Rafael, Marin County, California, where they may be examined, and with Whitlow, Hoffman & Albritton, 29 Mary Street, San Rafael, California, and copies of same may be obtained by General Contractors from said engineer upon payment of twenty dollars ($20.00), ten dollars ($10.00) of which will be refunded upon return of the plans and specifications in satisfactory condition within ten (10) days of bid date.

Bidders are hereby further notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California or local laws thereto applicable, it shall be mandatory upon the contractor to whom the contract is awarded to pay not less than the general prevailing hourly wage rate, per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which the work is to be performed.

A schedule of the prevailing rates has been approved by the Board of Education of the said school district, and is filed with the Secretary of said Board in the offices of the San Rafael City Schools District, and said schedule is hereby referred to and by such reference incorporated herein and made a part hereof as fully as though set forth in length.

Each bid shall be made out on a form to be obtained at the office of said engineer at the address hereinabove set forth; shall be accompanied by a certified, or cashier's check or bid bond for not less than ten (10) percent of the amount bid, made payable to the order of the said San Rafael City School District, shall be sealed and filed with the said Superintendent of Schools, at his office on or before 3:00 p.m. June 10, 1968 at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The above mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the contract if awarded to him, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested to do so by the said school board.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Faithful Performance Bond in the amount of one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price, and a Labor and Materials Bond in the amount of fifty percent (50%) of the contract price; said bonds to be secured from a surety company satisfactory to the school board.

The school board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to waive any informality in a bid, or to award a contract on the basis of the proposal which serves the best interest of the school district.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of forty-five (45) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

Date bids will be received: June 10, 1968
Date this 20th day of May, 1968

THE POLITICAL TRAIL

Wild Los Angeles Reception For Bobby

LOS ANGELE S(AP) — People tore off his shoes, ripped at his clothes, and virtually threatened Robert F. Kennedy's physical safety.

In the wildest scene in nine weeks of campaigning, the New York senator rode triumphantly through Los Angeles and its suburbs last night and found thousands awaiting him.

In intensity and size it surpassed any of hundreds of demonstrations that have marked Kennedy's presidential campaign.

At times it had a dream-like quality. A television spotlight illuminated the figure on the back of the open car. Kennedy stood and smiled and waved at those who shouted "Bobby," his blue shirt rumpled and wet, his sleeves rolled above the elbow, his shirt tail flapping outside his wrinkled trousers.

He clutched at the thousands of fluttering hands thrust up at him. His graying, light brown hair was a tangled mop.

At the big intersections where crowds gathered, the people rushed him, mindless of others about them or the aides and newsmen perched on his car.

They screamed and clawed and climbed over one another to be near him. Wide-eyed women raked with their nails at anyone in their way. Strong young men waded in, elbows flailing.

They hung onto his hands or arms and wouldn't let go, and at times Kennedy was doubled over with his head pulled nearly down to the trunk of the car.

Kneeling doggedly at his side for three hours was his security man, 225-pound Bill Barry, whose arm was locked securely above Kennedy's waist to keep him from being pulled to the street.

McCarthy Debates A Kennedy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who has been pressing for a presidential campaign debate with rival Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, has come within one brother of his target. He matched words with a Kennedy, but the wrong Kennedy.

The Minnesota Democrat headed his campaign back into Oregon today after his inconclusive encounter with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, a stand-in for Robert at a San Francisco labor dinner.

The printed program for the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education fund-raising dinner listed Robert Kennedy as the man who would share the platform with McCarthy. And McCarthy himself originally accepted the invitation with the idea he would be face to face with Kennedy.

It didn't work out that way.

"I came prepared to offer the vice presidency to Sen. Kennedy," McCarthy told more than 400 people at the dinner last night—"of Massachusetts."

McCarthy and Kennedy of New York meet June 4 in California's crucial, final presidential primary.

Reagan Talks To Florida Voters

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan arrived in Florida last night and told an airport crowd he sees "no useful purpose" in announcing his presidential candidacy, noting "it will be up to the convention."

The California governor flew in a few hours after New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller ended a search for votes and went home.

While in Florida, Rockefeller said it is too early to decide who his running mate might be if he gets the Republican presidential nomination.

Reagan began a fund raising drive for the Florida GOP in heavily Republican Broward County. After a $50 per plate breakfast in Fort Lauderdale today, he was to motors to Miami for a news conference and fund-raising luncheon.

A crowd of about 400 was at the airport when Reagan arrived near midnight, over an hour behind schedule. They chanted "We want Reagan!" and waved placards boosting him for president.

He said he first thought "Oh Lord, I'm being picketed again." But there were no pickets, just Florida Gov. Claude Kirk, GOP Senate nominee Edward Gurney and six pretty girls in spangled tights who escorted the governor.

Reagan hopped up on a flatbed truck for an impromptu speech when a man shouted from the crowd to ask whether he will announce his presidential candidacy.

"No, I don't think any useful purpose would be served by saying so," Reagan responded. "But when the convention opens in Miami Beach next August I will be nominated as a favorite son and very briefly will be a candidate. Then it will be up to the convention which way they will go."

Beilenson Charges 'No Debate'

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

State Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson says his major contender for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination "refuses" to debate with him on major issues of the campaign.

Beilenson last night singled out one particular issue on which he would like to have a confrontation with Alan Cranston: the draft.

The 35-year-old senator told students at the University of California at Davis that Cranston and Republican candidate Max Rafferty both favor abolition of the present selective service system and initiation of a volunteer army.

"The draft needs substantial reform, and it must provide alternatives for military service," Beilenson said, "but a wholly professional army is totally inconsistent with a democratic government."

Cranston, former state controller, has called for a volunteer army while Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, has said "I'm for a volunteer army of paid professionals."

Beilenson said, "Citizens must be responsible for what the nation is doing in their name, and a citizen army acts as a proper and useful restraint on foreign policy."

The incumbent, Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, has backed the lottery system.

On the debate matter, Beilenson said, "Cranston was scheduled to debate me on Los Angeles radio last Sunday, but at the last minute his staff called and said he couldn't make it."

Meanwhile, in Redondo Beach, Cranston yesterday called for "a new bill of rights" aimed at protecting Americans from "the more sophisticated devices now being employed by government and private industry."

Cranston told workers at the TRW Co., a highly diversified aerospace - electronics firm, that "one such device is the proposed national data bank."

"The data bank, which is under current study, would house information on all mericans in one gigantic computer complex."

He said he favors such a system because it would greatly improve record keeping, but he added that the dangers of invasion of privacy could outweigh these benefits.

Lecture Thursday

Donovan J. Fandre of Sausalito, a space science lecturer, will speak at a meeting of the Star Observers of Marin, an astronomy study group, at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association building, 305 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo.

Novato Beauty Committeemen Elect Leaders

Richard Burgi was elected chairman and Mrs Gail Wilhelm chairman pro tem of the Novato City Beautification Committee at its meeting last night at the Novato City Hall, according to City Mgr. J. Julien Baget.

Mrs. Wilhelm, chairman of a cleanup campaign set for Sept. 16-29, was authorized by the committee to present her plans to the city council, Baget said. She will also seek the aid of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, the Downtown Merchants Association, the shopping centers and civic organizations in painting buildings and beautifying their areas, Baget said.

The board agreed to meet the first and third Mondays at 8 p.m. in the city hall instead of every Monday as it has been meeting, Baget said.

Assault Case Hearing Held

Jerry Don Forkner, 26, was arraigned in Marin Superior Court yesterday on two felony counts of assaulting San Rafael police officers.

Judge Harold J. Haley scheduled plea entry for 9:30 a.m. June 10.

Forkner, of Glen Ellen, is accused of assaulting patrolman Barxdal W. Stinson after the officer arrested him for investigation of drunken driving on Fourth Street March 22, and assaulting Patrloman Donal A. Merkley at the county jail when he was being booked.

Cat Burglar Steals Paintings From Home

A cat burglar scaled the wall of a two-story Inverness weekend home, jimmied the window and stole four paintings during the period May 12 through Saturday, sheriff's deputies reported today.

The agile thief carried his loot through the front door of Fred W. Walker's home on Edgemont Avenue, walked down a path to a cliff and dropped the paintings to a car waiting below, officers reported.

Deputies said it was the second recent burglary of the Walker home and one of the paintings depicted a wild life scene which matched the scene of another painting stolen from the house during the earlier burglary.

Officers said they have no description of the other stolen paintings and no clue as to their value.

Other burglaries reported by sheriff's deputies today included:

The theft of four gallons of wine and a case of gin from William J. Filante's house at 33 Wolfe Grade, Kentfield, sometime between May 11 and Friday. The thief forced a garage door, officers said.

The theft of tools, jewelry and liquor, valued at $100, from the home of Albert Thomas Tyree at 2640 Center Road, near Novato, on various days during the period April 28 to Saturday. Deputies said the thieves probably entered through an unlocked garage door.

The theft of tools, valued at $265, from the tool shed behind Owen K. Porter's home at Point Reyes Station.

The theft of kitchen appliances, liquor and canned food from the weekend home of Lucille Elmore of Petaluma at Marshall sometime last week. Someone kicked down the front door of the house, deputies said.

Clothing, a clock and three cigarette boxes stolen from Jean W. Thayer's home at 8 Perthway, Inverness, sometime from May 15 through Saturday.

Tools worth $49 stolen from the unlocked garage of Cecil W. Sullens at 1150 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, May 12. Sullens reported the theft on Thursday.

Legislature Votes Campaign Recess

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The legislature has finally decided on a six-day recess to give legislators some time to campaign in their districts in the final days of the primary campaign.

The Senate yesterday voted 21-10 to back an Assembly-passed resolution calling the recess for May 30 through June 4, election day.

Assemblymen proposed first a month-long break, then a two-week one. Senators opposed both. All 80 Assembly seats are up for election this year while only half of the 40 Senate jobs are.

Opposing the recess resolution was Republican Sen. John Schmitz of Tustin, who said approving it would show the Assemblymen they can get their way by just keeping the pressure on.

Robert di Grazia is police chief of Novato.

Alioto Suggests Union Housing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph Alioto wants labor unions to build residential labor complexes on redevelopment sites made available at relatively low cost.

He described the plan, which appeared similar to labor-financed projects in New York City, to major union and contractor representatives yesterday.

"These unions are willing to put pension money into these projects," Alioto said.

"The idea is to return union members from the suburbs, especially the retired members, to keep them from going upcountry after they stop work."

Fort Funston, the mayor said, is expected to be declared surplus soon and made available.

Story Reverses Car Direction

In reporting an accident in last Friday's issue, the Independent-Journal reversed the driection of a car and motorcycle.

The motorcycle driven by Robert Harrison McEachern, 28, of 211 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, was southbound on South Novato Boulevard, Novato, when it collided with a northbound car driven by Marco Antonio Pena, 24, of 807 Fourth Street, San Rafael, which was making a left turn on Rowland Boulevard, according to Novato police reports.

The Independent-Journal regrets any inconvenience which its reversal of directions may have caused the two drivers.

Novato Chamber of Commerce president is Jack Kinney.

Authorities Hunt For Arson Suspect

BOSTON (AP) — Suffolk Downs bolstered its security today while authorities hunted an arsonist suspected of starting a fire which killed 15 thoroughbreds and a stable pony Sunday evening.

Additional security was ordered yesterday after Tom Beedem, track general manager, reported two fires had been spotted and extinguished shortly before a blaze in Barn EE. Beedem estimated damage to the barn at $60,000. The horses lost were valued at about $150,000.

Sure, you knew Olds is a step-up car.

But we'll bet you didn't know Olds step-ups start down where most of the so-called low-priced cars are found.

That's our problem. Too few people know how modest Olds prices are. Fact is, they start at $2512—and we have 16 Olds models under $3000. (There are at least that many so-called low-priced cars priced over $3000.)

So, if you'd like to step up a little from what you're driving now—we've got an Olds for what you are willing to spend.

Double-No-Hit-Header: Possible Radio First

DOUBLE NO-NO — Listeners of KTIM last Friday may have heard radio history.

That afternoon, Verle Sorgen broadcast the Marin County Athletic League baseball game in which San Rafael's Chris Rowland pitched a no-hitter against Marin Catholic.

And, for the second half of the radio doubleheader, Bob Dinsmore announced the Novato Little League game in which Ed Conway of the White Sox pitched a no-hitter over the Red Sox.

Asked Dinsmore: "How many radio stations have ever broadcast a double-no-hit-header? I think this must have been the first time in history."

To compound this Believe-It-Or-Not parlay, on the previous Friday young Conway pitched a perfect game which was broadcast by KTIM's Dinsmore. Conway now has three no-hitters this season and Dinsmore is beginning to believe that baseball, indeed, is a pitcher's game.

Tovani Keeps 'Em Laughing

THE FLIP — Dick Hart of Redwood High's athletic department officiated at the University of Pacific's annual Varsity vs. Alumni football game last Saturday and asked the Pacific coaching staff for a coin to flip to determine the kicking and receiving teams.

Gordon Tovani of San Rafael, who coaches Pacific's kickers, produced a coin which Hart promptly flipped, only to discover it was one of those novelties that reads? "Heads I Win" on one side and "Tails You Lose" on the other.

That Tovani is quite a card. Everyone got quite a kick out of it, to coin a phrase.

Incidentally, Tovani, famous hereabouts several years ago as the bare-footed place-kicker, brings back word that former Drake High and College of Marin flash Dean Lazzarini had a great spring training with the Pacific varsity.

Lazzarini To Be A Flanker

Said Tovani? "Boy, that kid's got wings on his feet — he can really fly and he really showed the coaching staff some great moves. He'll play flanker at Pacific. He made the best play of Saturday's game against the Alumnae — about a 38-yard gainer on a look-in pass."

THE POLITICIAN — Ken Meade, Tamalpais High's All-League quarterback of 1956, has tossed his helmet — I mean hat — into the political ring.

Now an attorney in Oakland, Meade is running for Assemblyman in the 16th District.

Rod Duncan, another former Marin resident who did some sportscribing for the I-J, is a member of the Meade Campaign Committee's executive committee.

LOCAL BOY makes good, dept.: Pat Paulsen, who played Class B basketball for Tam High in the early 1940's, received a special Emmy in the Television Academy Awards the other night for individual achievement. Pat's a star on the Smothers Brothers Show.

Boyer Questions 'Control'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) —"Why should he throw at me? When I'm having a bad night, I don't go up there and throw the bat at him."

So said the Atlanta Braves' Clete Boyer last night after being hit on the right wrist by a stinging fast ball hurled by Juan Marichal, of the San Francisco Giants.

TAKE SECOND

Boyer suffered no permanent damage, and the Braves went on to win it 6-5 and claim sole title to second place in the National League. But the third baseman made it clear he was not happy about the incident.

Marichal had retired 14 straight Braves going into the sixth inning before Joe Torre poled a home run over the left field fence to give the Braves a 4-2 lead

Then Boyer stepped to the plate and, with an 0-1 count, was hit by the fast ball. He said Marichal's control was so good that it would not justify what happened.

INTENT

"He can throw a ball in a tin cup," Boyer said, "He can break a curve off on the outside corner on a 3-0 count. Anybody with that kind of control isn't going to let a pitch get away from him unless he wants to.

Marichal, who was roundly booed by many of the 27,160 Braves fans at the game, said he wasn't trying to hit Boyer.

Boyer disagreed. And so did Torre.

"He threw at me in the eighth and after I flied out, I came back by the mound and told Marichal, 'I almost got it out,'" Torre said.

"Why should he throw at me?" Boyer said. "I've never hit him real good. Those other guys are hitting his mistakes. When he's having a bad night, why should he throw at me?"

NO FRACTURES

X rays disclosed no fractures of Boyer's wrist. "I'll be out a couple of days," he said, "but there were no fractures."

Despite being hit, Boyer was happy with the game's outcome.

"The Braves are going good," he said. "That's what happens when you're going good. You win."

A man not so happy with the results, Giants Manager Herman Franks, agreed with Boyer on at least one point.

"We gave it away," he said. "It was a good game for the fans, not for us. But the Braves are going good and you win 'em like that when you're going good."

GIANTS TIE

The Braves blew a 5-2 lead when the Giants scored three runs in the ninth, but loaded the bases off reliever Frank Linzy in the bottom of the ninth and Felipe Alou singled in the winning run

Braves Manager Luman Harris was less equivocal. "It was a great game," he said, "the kind of game you've got to have."

The Braves and Giants clash again tonight in the second contest of the four-game series. The Braves' Jim Britton, who is 2-0, will face Ray Sadecki, 5-3.

More School Days On Tap For 49er Quarterbacks

REDWOOD CITY (AP) —The San Francisco 49ers open a quarterback's school tomorrow at the National Football League team's regular season training camp.

The students will be John Brodie, George Mira and Steve Spurrier, and the faculty will be larger than the student body.

Teaching the 49er quarterbacks from four to five hours a day for nine days will be head coach Dick Nolan, offensive backfield coach Ken Meyer, receiver coach Ed Hughes, offensive line coach Ernie Zwahlen and offensive consultant Y. A. Tittle.

Nolan says he will try anything to improve the 49ers, who finished at 7-7 last season after exploiting to a 5-1 start. Nolan, former assistant at Dallas, replaced Jack Christiansen.

He has declared the 49er quarterbacking job "wide open" and this assurance helped him sign Mira, a four-year veteran at 25, to a contract.

However, said Nolan, the sessions will be primarily for learning, not evaluation.

Classes will be called to order each day at 10 a.m. and a two-hour lecture will be followed by afternoon drills on drop-backs and passing for accuracy.

"We hope to get the quarterbacks in position in a maximum of 1.9 seconds," said Nolan.

The quarterbacks will throw at a large, padded board, trying to hit the board with the nose of the football.

Stanford Freshman Tops The Golf Field

NAPA (AP) — Tom Watson, an 18-year-old Stanford freshman from Kansas City, will lead 22 golfers into another sectional qualifying round for the U.S. Open June 13-16 at Rochester, N.Y.

Watson came out on top in a field of 123 at Silverado Country Club yesterday with a 75-66—141, three under par.

Pro Buddy Sullivan of Marysville was four strokes back with a 75-70—145.

San Francisco 49er quarterback John Brodie qualified with a 74-75—149.

The cutoff was 151, and a playoff was held to eliminate one golfer among the eight who finished with 151.

Maury Ver Brugge of Hillsborough eliminated himself with a triple bogey and was named first alternate.

Ray Leach and George Greenwood of Novato were among those who didn't qualify. Leach, 17, shot 77-76—153, and Greenwood went 78-91—169.

Pacific-8 Addition: Steeplechase

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Pacific Eight officials have added the 3,000-meter steeplechase to all conference dual track and field meets and awarded the 1969 league meet to Oregon State.

The conference yesterday became the first in the nation to include the Olympic steeplechase event in dual meet competition. It will be the first event on the program at meets. Squad limits were raised from 28 men to 30 men.

In other action at their meeting here, conference officials adopted a playoff procedure in the event of a percentage tie for the baseball championship, set up a cross-country championship in the fall of 1969 at Stanford and eliminated the trampoline from gymnastics competition in accordance with a NCAA move.

Ray Ellickson, faculty representative from Oregon, was named president of the conference council for 1968-69.

Several athletes were granted an additional year of eligibility because of injuries but Oregon State pitcher Ken Forsch was denied his request because he had been hurt as a freshman and two years of freshman eligibility are not permitted.

Smith, Lutz In Top Form

BERKELEY (UPI) — Stan Smith and Bob Lutz, who may represent the U.S. in doubles against Mexico in Davis Cup competition this weekend, today appeared ready to play in top form.

They went through an extensive workout yesterday against the tandem of team coach Dennis Ralston and Australia's John Newcombe.

Ralston and Newcombe said that the USC tennis pair showed no weakness.

Smith and Lutz are considered lesser-known members of the team which will face Mexico Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Berkeley Tennis Club in the North American Zone eliminations.

Drag Winners

Athletics Must Face Indian Hurling Staff

Put injuries and inexperience together and you get five straight losses, says Oakland A's manager Bob Kennedy.

The A's, tied for fourth 7½ games behind, meet the Cleveland Indians in a twi-night double header at 6 o'clock in Oakland Coliseum, with outfielders Rick Monday and Joe Rudi doubtful starters.

Monday, returning after being sidelined with an ankle injury, hit a pinch homer in Sunday's doubleheader loss at Chicago.

Rudi has been bothered with a sore foot after stubbing his toe Friday night.

Monday, at .305, has been the only consistent hitter in a batting order that has failed to support its pitching in the past two weeks.

Kennedy ordered extra hitting practice for Reggie Jackson, Ramon Webster and John Donaldson. The skipper also promised a good performance tonight "or we'll leave the lights on and work out afterwards."

"Youth and inexperience is a problem on this club," Kennedy said yesterday as the A's had a day off.

Sometimes, he said, "They don't even know how to put on their uniforms. But we still should have won three of those four games (in the Chicago series)."

Chuck Dobson, 2-3, is scheduled to face the Indians' Sam McDowell, 4-2, in the first game, and John Odom, 2-3, goes against Luis Tiant, 5-3, in the second.

In the only other game this year between the teams, McDowell threw a three-hitter as the Indians won, 3-1.

Tight pitching has boosted the Indians to second in the American League, two games behind Detroit.

USC Nine Wins Pac-8 Crown

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Southern California, rained out of its scheduled doubleheader yesterday at Oregon State, has been declared Pacific-8 baseball champion.

The Trojans, the Pacific-8 Council announced yesterday, will meet the winner of the Santa Clara-Los Angeles State series to determine the District-8 representative to the NCAA college world series.

USC has clinched the Pacific-8 title with a 14-2 record.

The council, winding up five days of meetings in San Francisco, relayed the decision made by District-8 chairman Don Kirsch of the University of Oregon.

Track Writers Vote Award To McCullouch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Southern California track and field writers have made a special award to Earl McCullouch of the University of Southern California. The award was suggested by Coach Jim Bush of cross-town rival UCLA.

The writers yesterday voted unanimously an award for McCullouch's superb, all-around performance last weekend at Berkeley in the Pacific-8 Track Championships.

Earl won the 120-yard high hurdles in 13.4, took the long jump at 24-10¾ and ran a blazing first leg on a 440-relay team that ran 39.3. Then, as a last minute substitute, he ran a 49.1 quarter mile relay leg on a Trojan mile relay team that finished third.

PARIS TENNIS TOURNAMENT CAN'T START

PARIS (AP) — The Federation Tennis Cup has been postponed for at least 24 hours while strikebound women stars tried to reach Paris.

The tournament, for national women's teams, was scheduled to start today. But with French airports closed and trains immobilized by the strikes, many key players were still in Rome after playing in the Italian championships.

An official of the French Tennis Federation said: "We have waited hopefully for the teams to arrive. Now we have abandoned all hope of starting Tuesday.

"We understand the British, Australian and Italian teams are flying to Brussels from Rome and then hoping to reach Paris by car. We shall go on hoping that they will get here, so that we can make a start Wednesday."

The tournament is scheduled to last six days in Paris' Roland Garros Stadium. Twenty-two teams are entered. The United States, winner the last two years, will be defending the cup without two of its top stars, Mrs. Billie Jean King and Rosemary Casals, both now professionals.

Billy Casper Vaults Into Money Lead

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Billy Casper, with another $25,000 in his pocket for his first place finish at the Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament at Fort Worth, Tex., moved to the top of the PGA's list of money winners released yesterday.

Casper's total winnings this season were put at $103,868 — a lead of $18,316 over Tom Weiskopf, tho had been in the top spot — to make Casper the first professional golfer ever to win more than $100,000 so early in the year.

Weiskopf was credited by the Professional Golfers Association headquarters at Palm Beach Gardens with $85,552 in winnings.

Other golfers and their winnings listed by the PGA as the top 10 on the tour were George Archer, $79,857; Miller Barber, $64,055; George Knudson, $60,230; Don January, $52,138; Kermit Zarley, $51,106; Arnold Palmer, $50,752; Tony Jacklin, $50,720, and Gardner Dickinson, $50,563.

Marin 'Cats Win And Lose

Redwood High School pushed its Marin County Athletic League gold record to 6-4, one game behind third-place San Rafael with a 205-216 win over Marin Catholic while the Wildcats nicked Terra Linda, 216-217 in a three-way meet at Fairfax Meadow Club yesterday.

The results:

Redwood Scoring — Wayne Duerson 38, Nip Grey 39, George Carewe 41, Ed Carewe 43, Steve Hartman 43.

Marin Catholic Scoring 8 Jeff O'Donnell 39, Paul Culver 43, Steve Vail 40, Dave Huber 47, Kevin Miller 47. Terra Linda Scoring — Les Bysom 40, Tony Dahl, 40, Terry Davis 45, Art Cudworth 45, David Crawford 47.

A Frantic Fortnight Awaits Oakland A's

OAKLAND — One hates to be pessimistic about a baseball race before Memorial Day flowers are picked, but the Oakland athletics are even at this early date perilously close to being shoved into a crypt and forgotten.

A week agot they began a brief road trip on a fairly congenial note — clawing at the fringes of the first division and resting only one game under the .500 mark. They had, after all, been playing well on the road, with a nine and five mark.

Now, five games later and ready tonight to open a two-week home stand, the A's are hovering just above the cellar and five games under .500. They're also burdened with a four-game losing streak.

THE TURMOIL of the week just concluded would not of itself be traumatic if it weren't for the pending tortures. In the next 10 games at the not-so-friendly (for them) Oakland Coliseum, the A's must face probably the three best clubs in the league, Cleveland, Detroit and Boston.

Oakland starts tonight with a pair against the Indians, whose surging success is built around a suddenly maturing pitching staff and an artistic manager named Alvin Dark.

ONE YEAR ago at the 35-game mark, Alvin was managing the A's. His club, then in Kansas City, was only a game under .500 and in fifth. Alvin kept them that high through June 18 in 1967. When he was fired after the so-called booze in the sky incident, the A's were 10th — where they finished.

This may be a new year and a new club for Alvin, but for the A's it looks like a Summer rerun.

ONE HESITATES to think what Oakland's record might resemble when the Bosox leave town on May 30th. This is not to predict 10 straight Athletic defeats at the hands of the Indians, Tigers and Boston. But then again, why not?

After all, the A's have won only 5 of 15 at home against the league's lesser lights. And in Cleveland the A's will be facing the A.L.'s mightiest pitching staff at present. Rotation will spare them the sight of Sonny Seibert and Steve Hargan, but Oakland still must face Luis Tiant, Stan Williams and Sudden Sam McDowell.

AGAINST THE latter in Cleveland on May 1, 16 Oaklanders struck out. Tiant doesn't whiff you as much, but he shuts you out. And Williams, who has risen, Phoenix-like, from the ashes of his 1962 N.L. pennant playoff wildness with the Dodgers, has straightened out to become a steady, smart hurler. It is ironic that the man who handed the Giants a pennant in '62 is now pitching for that pennant-winning manager, Mr. Dark. Alvin is entitled to a pair of smiles, one of nostalgia the other of optimism.

DARK'S INDIANS could be the Red Sox of '68. The Tribe is showing more speed than ever; they've got defense and, if it holds up, marvelous pitching. All Alvin needs is consistent hitting, which nobody else seems to have in abundance anyway.

If nothing else, the arrival of the Indians and Dark and McDowell should help the A's gate. Home crowds — comparatively — have not been that disastrous. But a new club should be expected to do a bit better.

THAT'S WHY the A's must keep flirting with .500. Should they collapse this early, Brother Finley would have trouble cracking 800,000.

Jim Hunter, after all, can't pitch a perfect game every night — a fact proven quite convincingly in his two recent shellings in Minnesota and Chicago.

A frantic fortnight thus awaits the green and gold heroes of the East Bay; for when Sudden Sam arrives, can Al Kaline and Carl Yastrzemski be far behind?

Red Sox Learn Lesson Hard Way

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It isn't as if the Boston Red Sox didn't know any better; they can tell when a guy is on a hitting streak as well as anybody. It was just that they couldn't push the winning run across before Jim Fregosi got up to bat again.

Fregosi was murdering the Red Sox all night yesterday—a homer in the first inning, a triple in the third, a double in the eighth — and when Rico Petrocelli's ninth-inning homer tied the score for Boston, the Sox desperately had to find a way to stop Fregosi.

In the bottom of the ninth, they came up with an acceptable method, giving him an intentional walk with two out and a man on second.

Neither team could score into the 11th and with two out and a runner at second again, the Sox took an awful chance. They pitched to Fregosi.

Moments later, the ball was bouncing off the left field wall, Fregosi had his cycle, the Angels had their 5-4 victory and the Red Sox had their lesson for the evening.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit beat Minnesota 4-3 in 10 innings, Baltimore edged Chicago 2-1 and New York beat Washington 6-1.

Fregosi scored three runs and drove in two as the Angels took a 3-0 lead that was shortened by solo homers from George Scott and Elston Howard. Petrocelli's shot came with two out in the ninth.

The Tigers took full advantage of four Minnesota errors, scoring three unearned runs. Two of those came in the 10th when Jackie Hernandez and Ron Clark, both put in the lineup late in the game for defensive purposes, made errors, letting the winning run score.

Jim Hardin stopped the White Sox on six hits and Boog Powell hit a two-run homer for the Orioles, who ended a three-game losing streak. Hardin pitched his way out of several jams.

Jim Bouton won his first start for the Yankees since 1966, scattering eight hits and fanning Washington slugger Frank Howard three times. Joe Pepitone hit his first home run of the season for the Yanks.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Reds' Alex Johnson Coming Through

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alex Johnson, given another chance to prove himself, still doesn't feel comfortable at the plate. But he is making believers of National League pitchers, who also are feeling uneasy when he is hitting.

"I don't feel natural at the plate for the long ball," moaned the 25-year-old Cincinnati outfielder. "I'm just blooping them."

Despite his troubles, Johnson managed a run-scoring single and later a game-winning double in the ninth inning last night, giving the Reds a 3-2 uphill victory over the Houston Astros.

Johnson's three hits raised his batting average to .333 and gave him 15 runs batted in as a bonafide regular for the first time in five major league tries.

Ed Charles, a 35-year-old veteran given another chance, clouted his second home run of the game in the ninth inning, lifting the New York Mets over Pittsburgh 2-1.

Larry Jaster continued what he does best — beat Los Angles — by hurling St. Louis past the Dodgers 2-1 with a two-hitter. In the only other N.L. game, Felipe Alou singled in a ninth inning run, boosting Atlanta to a 6-5 triumph over San Francisco and into sole possession of second place.

Johnson, traded to St. Louis in the Bill White deal after failing to win a starting job in two seasons at Philadelphia, flopped in two seasons with the Cardinals before the Reds got him for Johnny Edwards last winter. He quickly won the left field position.

He singled in a run in the seventh inning against the Astros, but Jim Wynn's two-run triple in the third still left Cincinnati behind 2-1 entering the ninth.

After Mack Jones walked as a pinch hitter and moved to second on a sacrifice, Pete Rose singled in the tying run against loser Don Wilson and Johnson followed with his double off the left field wall against reliever Jim Ray.

"I'm gripping the bat too hard," Johnson still insisted. "I'm not comfortable and I'm not getting good follow through."

But still, as Cincinnati Manager Dave Bristol said, "Johnson comes to the ball park, puts on his uniform and produces."

Charles, a seven-year veteran still trying to win a job after signing with the Mets as a free agent this spring, led off the ninth with his fifth homer of the season as a part-time performer. The third-baseman, second on the Mets in homers and runs batted in, homered with two out in the fourth off loser Bob Veale.

His clouts gave the victory to rookie Jerry Koosman, who pitched a five-hitter for his sixth triumph against two losses.

Jaster, who blanked the Dodgers five straight times in his rookie year in 1964, gave up a run without a hit in the first inning, and the only hits off him were singles by Paul Popovich in the fifth and Wes Parker in the ninth.

Bobby Tolan singled and scored on Orlando Cepeda's double in the first for St. Louis and Tolan won it in the eighth with a two-out single after Lou Brock doubled off loser Don Sutton.

Latest Thing In Golf: Indestructable Ball

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI)—Sports equipment is big business and growing bigger with introduction of new products based on advanced technology. Golf club "woods" that are actually hollow metal, aluminum tennis rackets, new style baseball bats and gloves, and now a practically indestructible golf ball.

The ball PCR-Bartsch is the only patented, solid, molded, 1-piece golf ball that can't be nicked, cut or "go out of round." It is guaranteed to be perfectly playable for 180 holes.

Grid Scholarships At Santa Clara

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

SANTA CLARA—Six Football scholarships are being established at the University of Santa Clara, the first since the sport was reestablished at the school in 1959.

The Very Rev. Thomas D. Terry, S. J., president of Santa Clara, announced yesterday that beginning next fall, the Bronco Bench Foundation Inc. will provide funds for the scholarships.

Also, a long distance trip has been scheduled each season for the next three years. The Broncos play at Hawaii this year, at Villanova in 1969 and at the University of British Coloumbia in 1970.

Once a major football power, Santa Clara dropped the sport in the early 1950s, and has not offered scholarships to football players since it resumed the sport.

Father Terry said neither the scholarships or the long distance trips indicate Santa Clara heads for "big-time" football status again.

HOCKEY

LOS ANGELES — The Los Angeles Kings acquired center Skip Krake from the Boston Bruins for a player to be selected later in a National Hockey League trade.

AUTO RACING

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Art Pollard of Medford, Ore., posted the day's best time, 168.099, as 28 cars made practice runs at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in preparation for next weekend's final time trials for the May 30th race.

HORSE RACING

ALBANY, Calif. — Admiral Skipper, $21.40, closed fast and won the Burlingame Purse at Golden Gate Fields over Snips and Snails.

First Instant Replay

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Tech's 26-7 football victory over Kansas in 1965 was the first intercollegiate grid contest in which instant video replay was used by coaches on the sideline. The game, called in the opening minute of the fourth quarter by a tornado alert, also is believed the first terminated by weather.

Trout Planting Crews At Work; Soap Is Good Bait For Catfish

STEVENS

A late release from the Department of Fish and Game states that the trout planting crews will visit 12 counties in central coast regions this week. Barring last minute changes in the weather, the waters to be stocked are, by counties: San Luis Obispo — Lopez Creek, Lower Nacimiento River, Atascadero Lake, Chorro Reservoir and Laguna Lake; Santa Cruz — San Vicente Creek, Loch Lomond Reservoir, Fall and Corralitos Creek; Monterey — Los Padres Reservoir, Carmel River and Lower Arroya Seco; Santa Clara — Stevens Creek Reservoir; San Mateo — Pescarero Creek; Alameda — Alameda Creek; San Francisco Lake Merced; Marin — Bon Tempe Reservoir and Lagunitas Reservoir; Sonoma — Lake Ralphine; Napa — Hennessey Lake impoundment; Lakes — Upper Blue Lake and Pillsbury Lake; Mendocino — East Branch of the Russian River and Cleone Lake.

A MARIN angler asks: "Is it true that common soap is considered good bait for catfish?"

The answer: It is quite true. It is often used by anglers after catfish. White laundry soap is probably the best. Cut the soap into small cubes and place on small hooks, say, No. 6 or smaller hooks. Fish the soap bait deep usually. The soap slowly melts in the water and a stream of suds goes out in search of a fish.

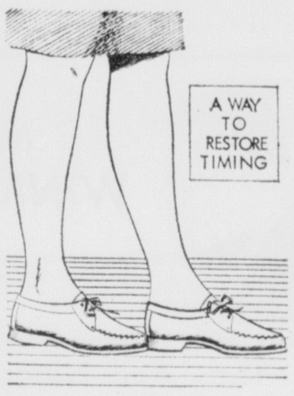
BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



If you suddenly find that your timing is off, move your starting point a full shoe length closer to the foul line. This will require ayou to take shorter steps — for fear of committing a foul — and will often restore your timing. If this shortening of your approach does work, you may gradually inch back toward your favorite starting point as the game progresses.

Yacht Winners Trade Places

The first two winners in the Bel Marin Keys Yacht Club race to Vallejo and back changed places on each race with the third place winner remaining the same.

In the race which began at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, Robert Boyd of 200 Caribe Isle, Novato, won first place, and Wallace M. Evans of 1087 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, Novato, won second. Colin M. Kosack of 92 Montego Key, Novato, won third.

On the return race at 11 a.m. Sunday, after spending the night at the Vallejo Yacht Club, Evans won first and Boyd second, with Kosack taking third.

Ruling Bars Some Top Track Stars

OAKLAND (AP)—Mexican officials would like to see South African athletes compete in the 1968 Olympics, says one of the coaches of the Mexican national track team, but under either the Olympics or United Nations flag.

Bert Bonanno, former San Jose State frosh coach who was hired two years ago to help train Mexican sprinters, told the Northern California track writers yesterday that the Mexican Olympic Committee had suggested the idea to Avery Brundage, chairman of the International Olympic Committee.

"I don't know how far it has been discussed," said Bonanno, "but it's a shame to keep athletes like sprinter Paul Nash and weightman John Van Reenen from competing." Van Reenen attends Washington State.

South Africa was recently barred from the Olympics.

Another speaker, Tom Moore, director of the Modesto Relays, said the field for this weekend's meet is so crowded that he may have to turn down a Kentucky State sprinter who ran 9.2 in 100 yards last weekend.

He is Craig Wallace, whose coach telephoned Moore yesterday and requested Wallace be entered in a 100 meters field that already includes Jim Hines, Charlie Greene, Mel Pender, Willie Turner, Billy Gaines, Paul Drayton, Lennox Miller and Jerry Bright.

A 100-yard dash also will be held, and it will catch the overflow from the 100 meters.

The California junior college championship meet will be held in conjunction with the relays.

Northwest Trout Season To Open

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Fish and Game Department offered a few tips today on the best fishing areas when the northwestern California trout season opens next Saturday.

The season in Del Norte, Mendocino and parts of Trinity, Humboldt and parts of Trinity, Mendocino and Lake counties continues until Nov. 15, with a limit of 10 trout or salmon in combination. The general trout season opened April 27 in Northern Catlifornia, with Southern California open all year.

The department said the Mad River below Ruth Dam is a top trout prospect for the North Coast. Other recommended areas are Fish Lake in northern Humboldt County and Dry Lake in Del Norte County.

CALUMET FIRSTS

New Belmont Track Opens

NEW YORK (AP) — Calumet Farm, whose Forward Pass won the Preakness by six lengths and the Kentucky Derby on the disqualification of Dancer's Image, figured in two firsts at the opening of the new Belmont Park race track yesterday.

The very first race run before the new $30.7 million stand went to Calumet's Ever On, a full brother to Forward Pass.

In the fifth race, Calumet's Hilario became the first horse to be disqualified at the new track, which had been closed since Oct. 27, 1962. Hilario finished second to Wise Road, but his number was taken down by the stewards for interference at the head of the stretch. In Reality won the first stake race. The 4-year-old Florida-bred colt, owned by Frances Genter of Minneapolis, Minn., and ridden by Jorge Velasquez, drew out in the stretch to win the $55,800 Carter Handicap by 1½ lengths over Tumiga.

In Reality paid $6.40 after running the seven furlongs in 1:21 4-5 under top weight of 124 pounds.

The opening day turnout of 42,080 battled a mammoth traffic jam to see the races.

Marin Swim Club Smashes 5-Year-Old Pacific Mark

Triple winners Maura Campion, Rick DeMont and Robin Bachrach paced the powerful Marin Swim Club to a 321-251 dual meet victory over the San Rafael Swim Club Saturday at Drake High School.

Marin's 13-14-year-old girls 200-yard medley relay team also smashed a five-year-old Pacific Association record in the time of 1 minute, 59.9 seconds. The old record of 2:01.1, held since 1963 by the Santa Clara Swim Club, was broken by Miss Bachrach, Denise Ham, Ann Engle and Sue Secondo.

Double first place winners for Marin Saturday were Janet Scoutten, Cheryl Cattan, Linda Locati and Dennis Glass.

Other Marin winners were: Denise Cattan, Ken DeMont, Mike McGee, Spencer Eldred, Caroline Hill, Paul Cane, Raymond Gray, Diane Johnston and Deirdre Bullis.

Triple winner for San Rafael was Clint McDuffy while double winners were Amy Pec, Peter Kamler, Dan Stewart and Jeff Kamler. Other winners were Peter Behn, Liza Moore, Kimi Fox, Tami McDuffy, Roger Rechsteiner, Cookie Arrighi, Bill Carter, Tom Panages and Gussie Curran.

Rafer Johnson Kennedy Worker

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI) — Former Olympic track star Rafer Johnson has been released from his contract as a sports reporter for KNBC-TV to work in the presidential campaign of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Johnson, winner of the decathlon in the 1960 Olympics, joined the news staff of the local NBC outlet in 1966. He has been a supporter of Kennedy since the senator announced his candidacy.

In teh announcement yesterday, the station did not say whether Johnson would return after the end of the campaign.

Marin Drivers Place In Petaluma Races

Jerry Hoover of Mill Valley was runnerup in the second stock car heat and took third in the stockers dash at Petaluma Auto Races last Friday at the Petaluma Fairgrounds.

Ron Ames of Novato finished third in the second sportsmen heat.

Today is Tuesday, May 21, the 142nd day of 1968 with 224 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1832 what is considered the first Democratic National Convention got underway in Baltimore.

In 1881 Clara Barton organized the first American Red Cross in Washington.

In 1941 President Roosevelt proclaimed "an unlimited state of national emergency."

In 1962 the American Medical Association labeled President Kennedy's proposed Medicare legislation a "cruel hoax."

A thought for the day — British writer Richard Garnett said—"The three eldest children of necessity; God, the world and love."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Tens And Nines Must Be Valued When Considering A Game Bid

During the bidding you cannot count anything definite for such intermediate cards as tens and nines, but you should be aware of them. Bid a little more when you have them; a little less when you don't.

POOR VALUES?

In today's hand South's invitational bid of three spades asks North: "Do you have good or poor values for what you have already bid? Go on to game if you have a better hand than I could reasonably expect."

In accepting the invitation, North is chiefly influenced by his two aces because an ace is worth slightly more than the 4 points you count for it when you value your hand according to the 4-3-2-1 point count. North is also influenced by the ten and nine of spades. Since North has no short suit, there is no real trump value in the North hand, but conceivably 10-9-3 of trumps is worth more than 4-3-2.

SOUTH RUFFS

So it turns out in the play of this hand. South ruffs the third round of clubs with the jack of spades and immediately plays a low diamond from both hands, ducking the trick to East's nine of diamonds. East returns a trump to declarer's queen, and South takes the ace of diamonds and ruffs a diamond with the king of trumps.

The point of the high ruffs is that South can now lead the eight of trumps to dummy's nine, and this enables him to ruff dummy's last diamond with the ace of trumps. South is out of trumps by this time, since he has ruffed three times and has led trumps twice.

ENTRY TO DUMMY

Declarer leads a heart to dummy's ace and draws West's last trump with dummy's ten of trumps. Since declarer is out of trumps he discards a heart on dummy's ten of trumps and wins the last two tricks with the king and queen of hearts.

It takes this fine line of play to make the contract, but the play would be impossible if dummy had three low trumps instead of the 10-9-3.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner bids one spade, you respond 1-no trump, and partner next bids two hearts.

You hold:
♥—J 9 7 4
♦—K J 9
♣—Q 10 9 4

What do you say?

Answer: Bid three hearts.

This is an overbid, but it is a poor idea to pass when you have 4-card trump support for partner's major suit. Your partner must be careful to pass at three hearts if he has a minimum opening bid since you would jump to four hearts if you had any real strength.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Small Firm Too Hard To Follow

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. From my first venture into the stock market I own Dynamics Corp. of America, Vendo Co. and U.S. Surgical. Am I holding good stocks for near-future growth?—A.R.

A. A possible upturn in the price of your stocks could appear from a broad market rise. Each has characteristics which persuade me to say hold for the present and watch closely. For near-future growth Vendo is probably the best one.

U.S. Surgical will be more difficult to follow than the other two as it is a small, relatively new enterprise trading over-the-counter. Few progress reports available. It was first offered in units of one $500 subordinated convertible 6 and one-half debenture plus 100 shares of common. 1st offering value of $3 a share has meanwhile moved up to a 1968 trading range of 15-22½ bid.

Current bids are reported around 15. Earnings comparisons on U.S. Surgical are not readily available and my judgment is to move that portion of your capital into a listed security in the hospital supply industry — American Hospital Supply after it splits.

Your other two stocks have slowed down this year because of Dynamics Corp's rather heavy dependance on military contracts and Vendo's lowered earnings due to softness in the economy and lessened demand for its machines.

Q. I own some Ohio Edison $4.40 pfd. stock. After reading about expansion plans in the annual report I'd like to change over to the common. Would you advise this and do you think it will split again?—C.B.

A. our participation as a common stockholder in Ohio Edison's future growth should prove rewarding and I'd go ahead with your proposed switch if you don't need the security of a high-quality preferred. The company has more than doubled cash payouts on the common over the past decade and current yield is over 5 per cent. I would not look for a split, however, until common shares trade much higher.

Federal, State Gas Taxes Up

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—The average federal and state gasoline tax rate rose from 8.8 cents to 10.6 cents per gallon between 1957 and 1967, according to the American Petroleum Institute.

Meanwhile, the API said, the number of vehicles in use increased 45 per cent and fuel consumption was up 50 per cent. The result was a 78 per cent increase in fuel tax collections.

TOAST ON A STICK

If your next hostess toasts you with what appears to be an iced confection on a stick, don't be surprised. It may have just as much alcoholic wallop as the traditional cocktail. The frozen drink is called "blizzard on a stick." It is a new drink introduced for summer by a vodka manufacturer. Composed of a soft drink, lime and vodka, the secret of freezing the drink is use of a beaten egg white in the mix. (UPI Telephoto)

Profit Sharing Set

PALTO ALTO (BW) — Hewlett-Packard Co. has announced that it will distribute a semi annual sharing of $2,325,000 this week to more than 10,000 eligible employees under the company's cash profit sharing plan.

Market On High Side At Closing

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher today in active trading.

Gold-mining shares encountered some selling and were generally lower. The rest of the list was well into plus territory.

Prices near the close included:

Dresser Industries, off ¼ at 35⅛; Western Union, up 2 at 48½; Aurora Plastics, up 2¾ at 25⅞; McIntyre Porcupine, off 1¾ at 80; Homestake, up ½ at 79; IBM, up 9¼ at 659; Southern Pacific, up 1⅞ at 33½; and Collins Radio, off 3¼ at 74½.

Gains outnumbered losers by more than 200 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

After three straight daily losses, the market was technically ready for some kind of recovery, brokers said.

Despite the advance in gold bullion, gold-mining shares weakened under profit taking. McIntyre Porcupine lost 3, Homestake a fraction, and Campbell Red Lake nearly a point.

Dresser Industries paced the list on volume as it eased pricewise.

Some big blocks boosted volume and put some stocks into the spotlight, but over-all trading was about the same as on Monday.

IBM recouped 9 points. Up about 2 were Western Union, Aurora Plastics and Polaroid.

Gains of a point or more were made by Thrifty Drug Stores, Penn Central, Occidental Petroleum, Ford, Goodrich, Zenith, High Voltage Engineering, Owens-Illinois, Penn-Central, Xerox and Southern Pacific.

Brown's Red Hill Service In San Anselmo Changes Hands

There has been a change in proprietorship at Brown's Red Hill Service, the dealer-operated Shell station at 805 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo.

The sation, now Minto and Sons' Red Hill Service, has been taken over by Donald, Raymond and Robert Minto, who also operate Minto and Sons' Shell Service near Kent Woodlands established by their father, the late Austin B. Minto, a score of years ago.

Former owner Ed V. Brown is expected to take a vacation breather before going into a new venture.

THERE WILL BE a new home on June 1 for Ye Olde Music Shoppe, now at 942 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield.

Highway widening at this point has forced Harris Elveback to seek new quarters and he is moving to 2 Tunstead Avenue, San Anselmo, next to Patrick Bros. Art Supplies. He will gain about 25 per cent more space in the removal and intends to fill it with additional lines.

The store was opened in Kentfield about two years ago and handles sheet music and instrument rentals and sales.

JUILLARD AUPHA DISTRIBUTING CO. will have a new San Rafael district office on June 1, with a move from 24 Tiburon Street to 175 Belvedere Street. Some office procedures have been consolidated into the data processing system in San Francisco. There will be no reduction or change in local personnel.

HOWARD SILVA of Corte Madera has been promoted to assistant manager of Bank of America's Novato branch, succeeding W. F. Astle, who is entering military service. For the past two years Silva has been a lending officer at the Fairfax branch. He joined the bank in 1941 at Brentwood and has also served at Alamo and Mill Valley offices.

San Rafael Principals, Aides Win Pay Hikes

The San Rafael Board of Education last night approved pay increases for administrative and special services personnel that will cost $36,503 for the fiscal years 1968 through 1970.

Salary scales of elementary school principals will range from $15,101 to $17,149; high school principals, $18,221 to $19,021; psychologists, $12,979 to $14,840; high counselors, $12,980 to $13,580; speech therapists, $10,234 to $13,104, and high school administrative assistants, $13,104 to $15,250.

The board members held a lengthy discussion with some teachers on their salary dissatisfactions, and debated the merits of a medical plan proposed by Supt. John F. Plank as opposed to more liberal medical plans proposed by the teachers.

The main teacher complaints were over small pay increases for teachers at the lower end of the school system's step scale pay schedule.

In some instances, complained the teachers, pay increases this year amounted to less than 1 per cent. Board Chariman Lawrence L. Kramer pointed out that the new step plan was adopted to furnish teachers with incentive to stay with the school system and to get more training.

He admitted there are some inequities at the lower end of the scale, but said it was the best plan the board could come up with this year. "Maybe at some future time we'll be able to talk about alternatives other than step and scale," he said.

The teachers pushed hard for a medical plan even more liberal than the one proposed by Superintendent Plank. His would pay all dental premiums, hold the employee-paid straight medical premiums for dependents to the present level and cost an additional $117,981 over the present plan, which costs $71,965.

The board took no action on Plank's proposal. One teacher, Candido Santogrossi said a maximum medical and dental plan, in which the school system would pay all premiums, would be one method of beefing up the pay.

The board heard a report on a planned follow up "success study" of high school graduates from Morse Byer and Dr. Thomas Soldahl, who will question graduates of the city's schools over a five-year period.

The questionaire, through more than 70 questions, seeks to profile the socio-economic status of high school students, and learn their progress in later years.

The study will try to answer such questions as what high school did for the respondents, how well the high school program worked, and what the high school program might have done that it didn't.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

PUMP — Authorized installation of a pump station at the Glenwood Middle School site and approved fill work completed at the school site. The pump will cost an estimated $127,150.

BIG SCHOOLS — Discussed the merits of smaller high schools, the present philosophy in San Rafael, as opposed to big high schools, which number as many as 6,000 students in some U.S. cities. Board member Paul Jones said population pressures might eventually force high school student bodies of that size here, and methods of "bigness within littleness."

'Panic Clinics' To Aid Students

SACRAMENTO (AP — At least two California state colleges will operate "panic clincs" to help students cope with the emotional pressures of final examination week starting May 31.

"If we can prevent one attempted suicide, the entire project will be worth the effort," said Dr. Suzanna A. Snivley of the Sacramento State College health clinic.

The college will provide special therapy with faculty, doctors and other students. A similar program is planned at San Fernando State College.

"This is an experiment designed to help our students meet their emotional pressures at a time when they are most fatigued and upset after a busy year at school," Dr. Snivley said.

San Franciscan Injured In Crash

A San Francisco woman was injured Sunday in a two-car crash on Panoramic Highway, above Boot Jack Camp.

Mrs. Louise Levy, 42, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a sprained left knee and left ankle.

A westbound car, driven by Apprentice Seaman Michael L. Pruitt, 18, stationed at Treasure Island, drifted across the center line at 6:15 p.m. and hit head-on an eastbound car driven by William C. Levy, 38, of San Francisco, according to California Highway Patrolmen.

Battleship Due Concrete Deck

SAN JACINTO BATTLEGROUND, Tex. (AP) — A concrete deck will replace the teakwood on the battleship Texas, which is permanentely moored here.

"It was the only way we could save the ship from rusting away," said Lloyd Gregory of Houston, chairman of the Battleship Texas Commission.

The teakwood was rotting, allowing water to seep through.

The bow of the battleship is getting the first concrete deck at a cost of $23,000. The stern deck will be covered next year if funds are available.

"It would have cost a million dollars to replace the deck with teakwood—if we could find the teakwood," Gregory said.

Curfew Holds Down Rioting

SALISBURY, Md. (UPI)—Police and national guardsmen enforced a third straight overnight curfew on this racially troubled town to prevent renewal of weekend violence over the fatal shooting of a Negro burglary suspect by a white policeman.

Fifteen persons were arrested for curfew violations between 7 p.m. and midnight yesterday but the town was quiet.

At the nearby town of Princess Anne, business leaders met for three hours last night with students from predominantly Negro Maryland State College to discuss demands for "complete equality with the white race." Newsmen were not admitted.

M'Namara Denies Jackie Trip Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today he had "absolutely nothing to do" with Mrs. John F. Kennedy's trip to Cambodia last fall.

McCall's magazine said yesterday Mrs. Kennedy was on a secret mission for the federal government when she visited that country and the idea for the mission came from McNamara.

McNamara is now president of the World Bank.

Marina Loan Voted

MARTINEZ (AP)—The State Harbors and Watercraft Commission has approved a $75,000 loan to finance berth construction at Pittsburg Marina.

THE PENNEY STORY

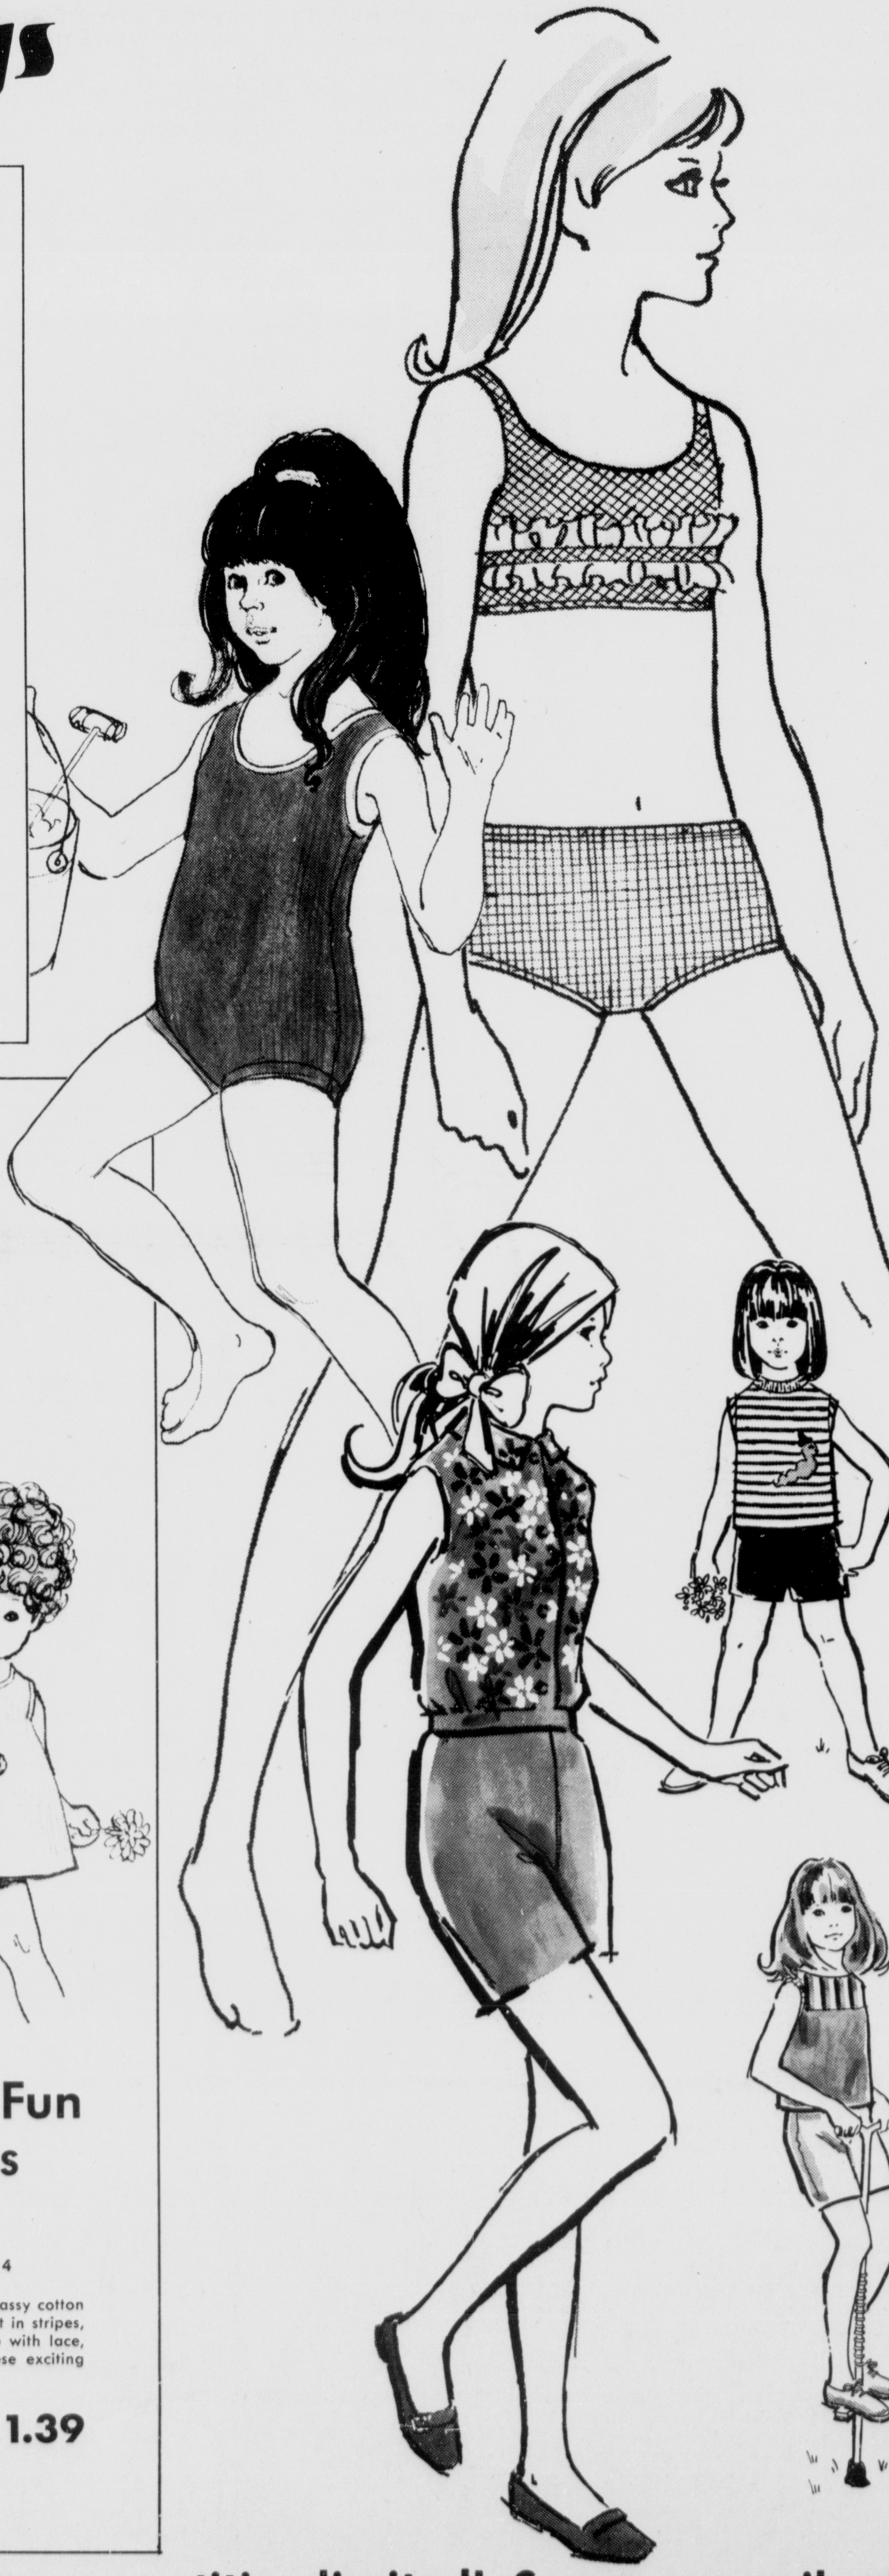
Bring your confidence to Penney's

By ROBERTA NASH

"We strive constantly to see that a customer does better day in and day out by buying Penney merchandise," said one of our vice presidents. "And that doesn't just mean better prices, it all has to start with better merchandise."

Later, I asked a man in Penney's Testing Center how we are sure what's best. "Often we're not sure," he said, "so we have to find out. That's what all these people and machines are for."

I looked at the tests in progress and I felt very confident of Penney quality. You would have, too.



Girls' swimwear values...all their favorite styles!

2.44 Sizes 3 to 6X 2.99 Sizes 7 to 16

We dived in and brought up all the favorite seaside styles . . . at our lowest prices. Girls go for our one-and two-piecers in quick drying stretch nylon . . . or ruffled bikinis in checked or pin dotted cotton. You'll find the same high standard of quality that Penneys has always been proud to maintain. Come in and see for yourself!

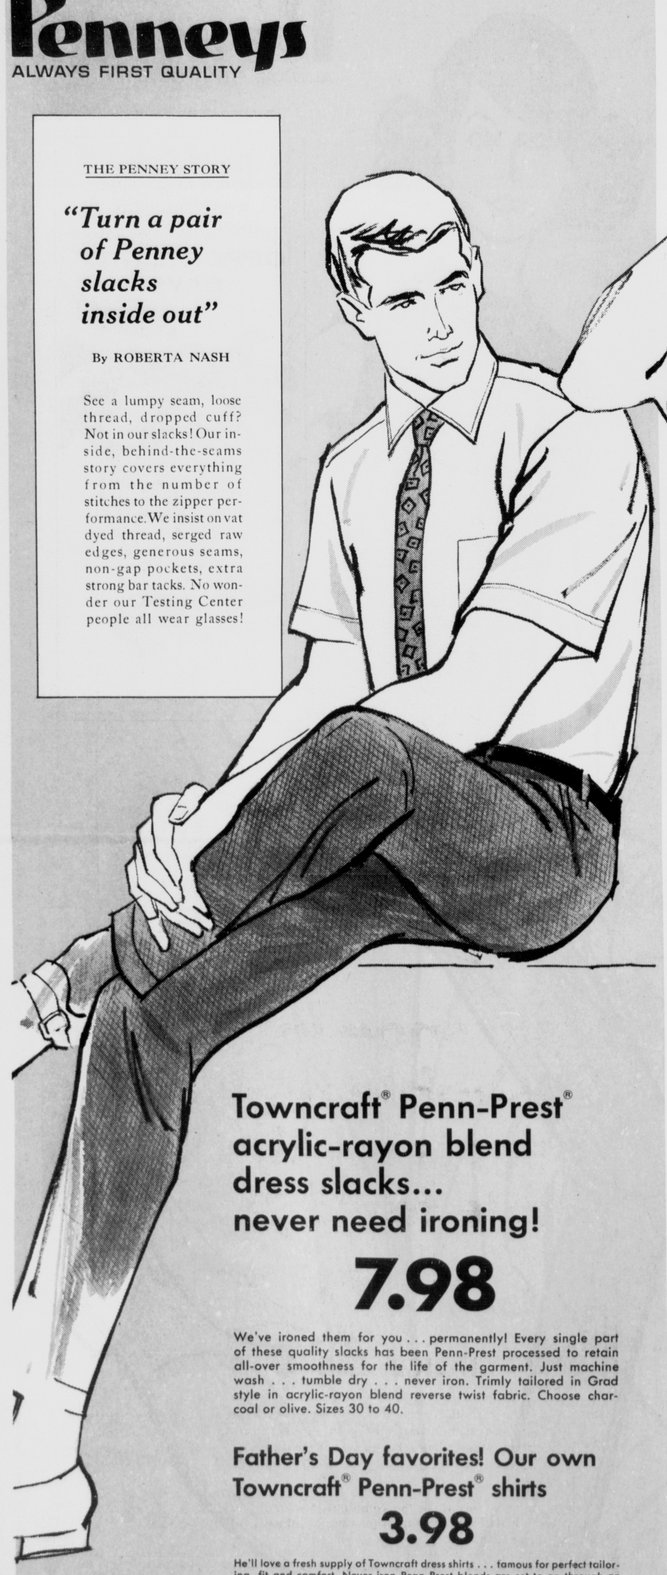
THE PENNEY STORY

"Turn a pair of Penney slacks inside out"

By ROBERTA NASH

See a lumpy seam, loose thread, dropped cuff? Not in our slacks! Our inside, behind-the-seams story covers everything from the number of stitches to the zipper performance. We insist on vat dyed thread, serged raw edges, generous seams, non-gap pockets, extra strong bar tacks. No wonder our Testing Center people all wear glasses!



Towncraft® Penn-Prest® acrylic-rayon blend dress slacks... never need ironing!

We've ironed them for you . . . permanently! Every single part of these quality slacks has been Penn-Prest processed to retain all-over smoothness for the life of the garment. Just machine wash . . . tumble dry . . . never iron. Trimly tailored in Grad style in acrylic-rayon blend reverse twist fabric. Choose charcoal or olive. Sizes 30 to 40.

Father's Day favorites! Our own Towncraft® Penn-Prest® shirts

THE PENNEY STORY

How to design clothes for kids

By ROBERTA NASH

Children's clothes don't stand still much. They run. And jump. And climb, and twist, and wiggle. Penney's clothes are designed with all these things very much in mind.

First, Penney's things are comfortable. The fit is loose where it's supposed to be loose and snug where it's supposed to be snug. And second, Penney's clothes are very rugged.

Penney's knows what a fourth-grade teacher told me once. "There's a great difference between casual dress and sloppy dress," she said. "Every child can look neat."

SPECIAL BUYS FOR INFANTS!

NEW SIZING and YOU

The new sizing in patterns adopted by the pattern industry has been developed to help you select your best pattern size. The most important difference between new and former sizing is that pattern sizes will now correspond more closely to standard ready-to-wear sizes than they have in the past. And most people will now take a pattern one size smaller than they did before. Compare the new sizing chart with the one you used formerly on the opposite page. You'll see, for example, that a 34-inch bust measurement formerly required a Size 14 pattern. Now, under new sizing, a 34-inch bust measurement indicates a Size 12 pattern. Notice also that the new sizing waist measurement is slightly smaller in proportion to the bust and hip measurements than it was previously.

All new patterns issued from now on will be marked with the red new sizing symbol. Use the new sizing chart if the pattern you select bears this symbol.

NEW Sizing

To find your best pattern size on the new sizing chart, proceed as before. Height and back waist length are the best indications of your correct figure type. To find your best-fitting pattern size within your particular figure type, compare your bust, waist and hip measurements with those on the chart. Remember that all measurements given are for actual body measurements; all necessary ease is included in the pattern.

Some patterns shown in this issue, and many shown in the large counter catalog displayed in stores, still use former sizing. To find your correct pattern size for any of this large selection, consult the chart labeled "Former Sizing" which is printed in blue in the counter catalogs.

COMPARISON OF BODY MEASUREMENT CHARTS

FABRIC and COLOR NEWS — FALL / WINTER 1968

The softened hues show up for the Holiday season. Gentle shadings, but not pale pastels! They are delicate, sophisticated tones. They look great for "after five," and very elegant in moire, satin, silk and worsted, brocade and crepe.

Fall '68 brings a quieting influence to color . . . introducing strong, clear Winter tones with only an underlying brilliance. These are richer, warmer tones, and tweeded, plaided, or printed with this season's all-important neutrals have a more subtle appearance. The greens, blues, and reds promise the news in color promotion.

This season will still be under the influence of brown and all its relatives. The lighter neutrals (Stone, Mushroom) are important as ground colors: the stronger ones (Chameleon, Hazelnut, Bittersweet) in more prominent positions. Grey, not just talked about, but now belived in, returns in the well-known grey flannel shade.

these are the volume colors

Green – billiard and loden (yellowed)
Blue – electric and dark navy
Red – just plain red, blue hued
Pink – cherry
Orange – with a burnt tinge
Gold – more curried
Mushroom – creamy winter white
Grain – whitened camel
Hazelnut – softened rust
Chameleon – olive/brown
Bittersweet – blackened brown
Grey – like steel
Stone – group of pale greyed tones

fabric trends

The single, most evident factor affecting fabrics for Fall '68 is silhouette . . . and the return of it! The emphasis is on waistline . . . gather . . . pleat . . . ruffle . . . drape . . . flare . . . tapered sleeve and on and on . . . but it all all adds up to softness and femininity. It means that fabrics must and will be selected for their ability to achieve these new shapings.

The Romantic (Victorian, Peasant, Wall-paper) looks strengthen the trend, and even the classic menswear patterns are recolored and adapted for the ladies! Fur fiber or the effects thereof add their mellowing influence. Even surface interests have become incidental with the exception of knits.

Of course, there will always be a place for the firm faced fabrics (sportswear) however, the subtle, soft face is new, important, and very necessary to 1968 fashions.

The brights from last season now appear (here and there) to spark and accent prints, plaids, etc.

fabric types

Wool . . . always basic, as are the silk and worsted looks. Note, the synthetic blend "wool-look-alikes" . . . improving and multiplying . . . providing more versatile looks and colors.

Corduroy . . . many wale variations, but, watch the mini-wale or pinwale take the lead in prints and plains.

Knits . . . a stand-out category . . . tweeded and plaided, crocheted and "hand made" types . . . they have up to the season styling. Polyester double knits are in increasing demand closely followed by wool and cotton blends.

Gabardine . . . printed for sportswear.

Crepe . . . a #1 Fall fabric, bonded or not.

Moire . . . fashion, that should sell.

Velveteen . . . and velvet experiencing a definite resurgence.

Brocade . . . still glittering and more luxurious than ever. Silver and Gold of equal importance.

fabric patterns

There are two clearly defined directions for this season — Classic and Romantic — but even the recolored Classics go feminine for Fall '68.

Plaid . . . Tartans, Argyles, Block, all types . . . medium to large size . . . weathered, or with bright color accents.

Menswear . . . classic looks of glen plaid, herringbone, tattersall and checks . . . an outstanding group sure to be a significent seller.

Stripes . . . the noticeable lack of them.

Prints . . . are the Romantics. Old fashioned and fragile, they are delicately etched and much smaller in size. The smallest and most intricate looks are the newest. Victorian wallpaper, tapestry, peasant, Early American calico and sampler are all in this group.

Crafted . . . companion to the rustic peasant or country look . . . found in any cloth with hand loomed appearance.
